

The Canadian Annual Review
of Public Affairs

1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912

An Historical, Statistical and Descriptive Record of Events,
Policy, and Progress in Canada from Year to Year

By
J. CASTELL HOPKINS, F.S.S.

Four Newspaper Opinions

London (England) STANDARD

"There is hardly a thing of local, national, or Imperial Canadian interest about which you cannot learn just precisely what you want to know in the ANNUAL REVIEW; and it would be difficult to say the same of any other work of reference dealing with this or any other country."

Washington (U.S.A.) POST

"Its value to anyone at home or abroad who wishes to keep in touch with Canadian development, Canadian politics, or Canadian relations with the Empire and other countries, can hardly be overestimated. It is of personal interest to every one taking part in the public affairs of Canada, and of the greatest value to every one in any country who appreciates historical material, interesting narrative and useful information."

Toronto GLOBE

"A reading of this book recalls the chief incidents of the year, and in after years historians will find it a mine of information on events and movements. Rarely is even an insignificant error detected, and while Mr. Hopkins has most pronounced opinions on political questions, both Canadian and British, his work is as free from partisanship as is possible from a man of individuality and conviction. Mr. Hopkins is doing an important public service in his conduct of this Review."

Melbourne (Australia) ARGUS

"An exhaustive account is given of the progress of the Dominion, material, intellectual, religious and moral. The work is a complete repertoire of information concerning Canada and is eminently fitted to bring the Dominion prominently before the world."