A BIT OF BLUE ENAMEL

TRADED BY A VALENTINE

Time seems most untimely when he brings a woman to the turn of life. Life is or should be at its ripest and best for her, and she approaches this change with a dread of its effect born of her knowledge of the sufferings of other women at this season.

There is not the slightest cause for fear or anxiety at this period if Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is used. It gives health of body and cheerfulness of mind, and by its aid the pains and pangs of this critical period are prevented or cured.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is woman's medicine with a wonderful record of cures of womanly diseases. Diseases that all other medicines had failed to cure, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of "Favorite Prescription."

"I feel it my duty to write you as I have received so much benefit from the use of your medicine," says Mrs. Lizzie A. Bowman, of New Macumoras, Washington Co., Ohio. "I have taken four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' for female weakness and change of life. Before I began taking it I could not do anything. I had such pains in my head and in the back of my neck that I thought I would lose my mind. Now I can work every day. I recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all females suffering in the period of change of life. It is the best medicine I have found."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Keep the bowels healthy by the timely use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

real name—met the young baronet's angry glance with one of calm, smiling confidence.

"Yes, Sir Edward," he said. "Allow me to thank you for the kindness you have shown Miss St. Clair. She has been telling me of your visit to her this morning."

Sir Edward turned from him to Marjorie, who stood in soft confusion, a pink flush on her pale cheek, her eyes timidly dropped to the floor.

"Miss St. Clair, will you tell me what this means?" he exclaimed, impetuously.

"Nay, let me tell you," interposed Trevor, stepping forward, and speaking with a frankness which must needs have dispelled all mistrust. "I am not what I seem, Sir Edward. I am not one of that gang of rascals, or I should scarcely be here now. Instead, I am the detective who has brought them to their reward at last."

"The detective?" exclaimed Sir Edward, in still deeper bewilderment.

"The detective and no other," said Trevor, laughing. "Marjorie, tell him that what I say is true."

"It is—indeed it is!" said Marjorie, clasping her hands together in her eagerness.

"I need no further assurance, Miss St. Clair," said Sir Edward, quietly; and he turned and gave his hand to Trevor.

"Forgive me for having misjudged you," he said, with the frankness of a gentleman. "And may I know your name?"

"Trevor—Fred Trevor, at your service."

"Trevor!—and Fred. Can it be—; but it's impossible!"

"What's impossible, Sir Edward?"

"That you should be the Fred Trevor of whom I heard a good deal a little while ago."

"Do you mind telling me who he was?"

"Well, he was, or rather he is, the nephew of Sir Edward Trevor of Detenham Park, Sussex. He had a quarrel with his uncle a year or two ago; and I fancy, disappeared mysteriously."

"I didn't know him at all, but one of my sisters did; and that's how I came to hear a good bit about him. Of course, you're not he?"

"If I'm not, no one is," retorted the young detective, coolly, with an amused twinkle in his eye.

"Oh!" exclaimed Marjorie. "You didn't tell me that."

And she looked at him with something like reproach.

"Didn't I, dearest? Well, I didn't like to seem to boast about myself, you see," said Trevor, turning to her with such a tender smile that Sir Edward, even if he had not heard the term of endearment must have guessed how matters stood between them.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

When "You Don't Know It's Safe to Blame the Stomach—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Cure—A. D. Miller's Experience."

"During the summer of 1930 my doctor treated me for Liver Complaint, but instead of getting better I was gradually getting worse. My appetite was very irregular and I would lose my weight after eating. I also had palpitation of the heart and sometimes I could not sleep at all at night on account of my heart beating so hard."

"I was hardly able to get around when I commenced using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After using half a box I felt much better. Continuing their use I was soon entirely well and have had good health ever since."

This statement is made by Mr. A. D. Miller, of Pussey, Haliburton Co., Ont. It needs no comment. It tells run down worn out people to get their stomachs put in working order by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and they will feel like new men and women.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Whitney Brothers Quartet is a new name to the Lyceum Committee, but it is sure to have a multitude of friends. The uniform admiration that has been expressed by the nearly one hundred audiences before which they have appeared during the last season has placed the company safely beyond the experimental limits. A Quartet of such voices is rarely heard, but it is a close approach to the marvellous that four such voices should be found in the same family. In every Quartet it is the first tenor and the second bass that appear most conspicuously, and it is only now and then that you hear voices of such peculiar mellow and musical timbre as those of Alvin Whitney, the first tenor, and Yale Whitney, the second bass, while the second tenor and first bass are admirably adapted to their parts. The voices have all the same quality and produce the most beautiful blending. The ensemble work approaches the ideal. It is a union of nature, method and art. Individually each singer is a soloist of real merit.

Reader and Humorist. Mr. Edwin Whitney contributes largely to the success of the program by his versatility as a Reader. He has taken full course of instruction at the Emerson School of Boston, and delivers his numbers with intelligence and artistic conception and ability. The management of the Bureau has heard this organization in several programs, and are glad to add our endorsement to its excellence, by the fact that we have contracted with the Whitney Brothers for three years.

This is the first number of the C. C. I. Star and People's Popular Course.

SADIE MARTINOT IN "THE SECOND MRS. TANQUERAY."

Sadie Martinot, supported by an excellent company, will appear at the Grand on Tuesday, Oct. 27th, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," by A. W. Pinero.

A. W. Pinero has written "Iris."

SADIE MARTINOT
"THE SECOND MRS. TANQUERAY."

"The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith," and other similar plays, which have been eagerly sought after by the most prominent actresses of Europe and America. The royalties exacted by Mr. Pinero have precluded the possibility of any second-rate actress assuming the part of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," which has only been played in America by Rose Coghlan, Mrs. Kendal, Olga Neherse, Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Eleanor Duse. The reputation of Miss Sadie Martinot, Mr. Pinero, and the established status of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," which is now being presented in five European countries and languages, together with the elaborate production and capable cast of characters provided, are sufficient guarantees of an unusually pleasing dramatic performance.

Miss Martinot's superb costumes, regal stage presence, and knowledge of her art are too well known to need dilating upon. Her performance of Paula is so virile, magnetic and finished that it is hard to determine her place among the famous actresses who have essayed this difficult role, though it is conceded by prominent critics to be in the front rank.

The management has incurred heavy expense in securing this company, and has guaranteed Miss Martinot a substantial sum.

Sudden drops of temperature are impossible in the home heated by hot water. Stove fires die out, hot air furnaces heat unevenly, and the hot air switches to other parts of the house leaving the remaining rooms cold and drafty. But with the heating system of the

Oxford Hot Water Heater

In connection with Oxford Radiators an even, steady circulation of hot water is kept up throughout the house. Each radiator is diffusing the same temperature of heat in sufficient quantities for the size of the room.

The illustration below shows that the distance from the fire to the first surface is less than in any heater made, and the water has a shorter distance to travel, thus a more equal temperature is maintained in the water of the several sections.

Write for our booklets, they are of interest to everyone with a home to heat.
