

Amatite ROOFING

About all you need is a hammer

IN making Amatite our endeavor has been to produce a ready roofing that would not require painting or repairs and that anyone could lay without special tools.

We have succeeded beyond our expectations.

Send for a Free Sample of Amatite and examine it carefully. Note the kind and quality of materials used—how they are put together, and, lastly, the top surface of real mineral matter which does away entirely with the need of painting.

It is a complete roofing when it reaches you.

All the labor required you can do yourself and nails and liquid cement are furnished free. There are no extras required and no special tools. About all you need is a hammer.

Once Amatite is on your roof it requires no further attention.

If you are building or contemplating a new roof it will pay you to send for a sample of Amatite. We will send same free with descriptive Booklet on request to our nearest office.

Electricity in Peach Culture.

In view of the announcement of Sir Oliver Lodge, that in some English experiments a marked increase in the yield of wheat, tomatoes and strawberries had been accomplished by treatment with electricity given off by overhead wires, the following item from the Saturday Sunset, of Vancouver, B. C., possesses a very timely interest; at least pending disillusionment by the ever-agnostic scientist. Who knows but it may yet turn out that farmers who have sold or leased right of way for electric transmission lines may receive a double remuneration by virtue of the extra yield and earlier maturity of the crops promoted by waste energy sizzling off from the high-tension lines?

"In the orchard of Mr. R. C. Hodgson at Cedar Cottage there is a fine early Crawford peach tree growing against the southern end of a building, down the wall of which passes an electric wire.

"The peaches on this tree are now ripening in good style, and are nearly uniform all over the tree, but two weeks ago Mr. Hodgson picked a fully-developed, ripe, highly-flavored specimen before there was any sign of any of the other specimens even changing color, although many of them are growing close up against the wall.

"The phenomenon was of sufficient interest to warrant some investigation, and the only peculiar fact that was discovered was that the peach that ripened two weeks earlier than any of the others on the same tree had rested against the electric wire. This may or may not be the cause, but Mr. Hodgson is convinced that the electric wire had something to do with the early development of that particular specimen and proposes to conduct experiments next year that will determine whether the ripening of fruit can be hastened and the flavor improved by the use of electricity."

GOSSIP.

A splendid 7½ x 11-inch photo-engraving of that prince of Clydesdale stallions, Baron's Pride, may be purchased through this office for 50 cents in cash, or it will be given as a premium to any present subscriber of "The Farmer's Advocate" who will send us the name of one new yearly subscriber, accompanied by $1.50.

Mr. John Miller, Brougham, Ont., writes: "We have had a very good trade for young Shorthorn bulls this last spring and summer, but still have two very good red yearlings to sell. The Shropshire rams I am now offering are nearly all my own breeding, from the best imported Minton & Buttar ewes I could buy. To any one wanting a ram to show at the fairs this fall, or to head a flock, I will be pleased to quote prices."

Among the congratulatory messages received by John D. Rockefeller on the recent occasion of his sixty-ninth birthday were the following lines from the pen of the Rev. George Thomas Dowling, D.D., rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Brooklyn:

Cling to the habit of still being young; Cultivate leisure without being lazy; Garner all joys that the poets have sung; And prove every year Dr. Osler is crazy.

The English Winston Churchill's reputation for wit is well known, and on the occasion he made a neat little joke at the expense of a self-opinionated army officer. The incident occurred during a dinner in South Africa, and Mr. Churchill and the officer were seated side by side. Throughout the meal the latter was airing his views, until at last Churchill could stand it no longer. "Do you know," he said quietly, "I met a man to-day who would gladly forfeit £50 for the pleasure of being able to kick you?" "To kick me, sir!" exclaimed the astonished soldier. "I must ask you to tell me his name at once!" "Oh," replied Winston, "I'm not quite sure that I ought to do that." "But I insist on knowing," demanded the other, angrily. "Well, then, I suppose I am a bad man. It was a poor young fellow, a clerk in a tal who has lost both his legs, and is bursting of a shell."

JOHN MILLER, BROUGHAM, ONT.

Claremont station, C. P. R.

A Mormon's wife, coming downstairs one morning, met the physician who was attending her husband.

"Is he very ill?" she asked anxiously. "He is," replied the physician. "I fear that the end is not far off."

"Do you think," she asked, hesitatingly, "do you think it proper that I should be at his bedside during his last moments?"

"Yes. But I advise you to hurry, madam. The best places are already being taken."
