Frederick Burkhardt, a boy 9 years of age, who lives in Toronto, was instantly killed while Forepaugh's circus procession was passing.

Harrison, the notorious American counterfeit, has been arrested and confined in Toronto jail. He has made a full confession, and delivered up the plates from which he made the counterfeit bills.

The stables of the Penwarden House, St. Thomas, were destroyed by fire on the 13th. Several very valuable horses were burned, one valued at $900, and also a team of Sheldahl ponies.

A young man named Duncan Dawson, 30 years of age, living in Fullarton township, while harnessing horses Thursday morning, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Duncan Melnes, a farmer living three miles west of Rodney, hung himself to a ladder in his barn about four o'clock Thursday evening. He was quite dead when found. Insanity is supposed to be the cause of the suicide.

Bennett, alias Dixon, who assassinated Hon. George Brown, will come up for trial on the 18th inst., and all the witnesses have been subpoenaed for that day. Mr. Davin, who appears for the defence, will make a strong plea for the accused.

During the thunder storm Thursday morning the house of John Kerr, at Dutton, was considerably damaged by lightning, and a young lady, sister of Mrs. Kerr, nearly lost her life. The fluid struck her on the head and traversed the whole length of her body, leaving a continuous mark and tearing off one shoe. She is still ill, but there are hopes of recovery.

During the storm of Friday morning the lightning struck the house of Mr. Alex. Colquhoun, 9th concession of Hibbert, instantly killing the hired servant, Mary Bunting, who had just left her own room and entered Mrs. Colquhoun's. She had hardly got into the room before she was killed. Mrs. Colquhoun and one of the children, who were in bed at the time, were also severely scorched.

The Montreal harbor was illuminated Friday night for the first time by the electric light on the Bush principle. For all practical purposes loading and unloading of vessels could be carried on by its aid as well as at midday. The lamps are erected on the top of the telegraph poles at a distance of three or four hundred yards apart. The experiment is a decided success.

Rev. S. W. Folger, Baptist minister of Delhi, hung himself on Wednesday from a beam in his barn. The position in which he was found by his son and housekeeper showed a strong determination on his part to put an end to his life, as he could have saved himself at any time before death had he repented. He must have lowered himself gradually by the side of a stationary ladder, and died of strangulation. No cause for the act is known. There will be no inquest. Deceased was about sixty years old, and was a resident of Delhi for a long time, and was much respected.

East Saginaw, June 9.—A horrible tragedy occurred last night in the town of Lakeland, 20 miles from this city. Patrick Clark and wife were found murdered and their dwelling burned to the ground. Both bodies had the heads, arms and legs burned off. Traces of blood and a knife, found 20 rods from the house, point to a terrible tragedy. Clark had lived there most of the time for 14 years. He was regarded as a quarrelsome man. His wife had left him several times. He also had a difficulty with a brother on the adjoining farm. A constable went to Clark's house Monday to replace a pair of cattle Patrick had taken from his brother Peter Clark a few days before, and was driven off by the former and his wife. He returned this morning and found the house as above stated. The sheriff and coroner have gone to investigate.

UNION IS STRENGTH.

To the Editor of the Morning Chronicle. Sir.—The following piece of news, which appears in the telegraphic despatch from Ottawa in your paper of this morning, deserves to be laid to heart by the Irish societies in this city and of the entire Province; more, it ought to be printed in letters of gold and placed in the most prominent position possible in their several meeting rooms; it ought to be well considered and finally acted upon. Will you be so kind as to reprint it? "A short time ago the St. Patrick's Literary Association appointed a committee composed of Messrs. M. Starrs, P. A. Egleson and E. O'Leary, to meet Messrs. J. R. Emmonde, D. Smith, and E. T. Smith, representing the St. Patrick's Society, to bring about the amalgamation of the above-named societies. The joint committee presented a report which was adopted at a meeting of the Literary Association held recently. At a meeting of the St. Patrick's Society, held yesterday afternoon, the report was also adopted, thus bringing about a union of the two Irish Catholic societies of the city."

It is the order of the day, and I cannot see why the Irish societies should not at once realize the fact, that Since the following was written, Mr. Bott reports himself as perfectly cured. It was a disease of nearly 20 years' standing:— Rev. Thos. Atkinson.—

DEAR SIR.—I suppose you will be expecting me from my confinement, my leg, I must say everything has gone far beyond my expectations, although the sore has not altogether healed, and as I am about out of the precious salve, I want you to send me some more. Do you think that I should wear a tight bandage over the place when it is entirely healed, or leave bare. Please let me know and give me your advice and may God bless and prosper you that you may long be spared to aid and comfort suffering humanity, is the wish of yours gratefully, GEORGE BOTT, Ingersoll.

THE BIDDULPH TRAGEDY.

SOME NEW POINTS COMING TO LIGHT.

From the Hamilton Times.

It is to be regretted that no means have been devised for the early disposal of the prisoners charged with the murder of the Donnelly family; the fall assizes in Middlesex are yet several months distant. We advocated the removal of the trial of the case from that locality on the ground, principally, that whatever might be the result of a change of venue, (1) there could be no ground for supposing that the verdict had been obtained by unfair means, and (2) any of all of the prisoners innocent of the crime would have been almost immediately set at liberty. Delay has not been a difficulty in bringing the offence home to the accused, unless there is much stronger evidence than the unsupported testimony of Wm. Donnelly and Johnny Connors, is not now questioned. The friends of the prisoners have indeed been accumulating evidence which may materially alter the aspect of affairs as presented at the preliminary investigation. At the examination little if any evidence in favor of the accused could legally be taken, and even though the case had been otherwise, those who are not averse to come forward and aid in having several of the accused persons acquitted. For example, it is stated a strong point will be made by the defence if the evidence of a reputable farmer in Biddulph, who has just unburied himself, remains unshaken under cross-examination. This man, who cannot be suspected of being friendly to either party, says he is prepared to swear that on the morning of the murder, between 3 and 4 o'clock, he was driving towards Exeter. When in the vicinity of the Biddulph and Blandford township line he overtook two men with whom he was unacquainted. Both carried guns. They asked for a "lift," which was granted. He questioned them about the fire, which he had seen, but they seemed disconcerted, and denied any knowledge of it, which is remarked upon as incredible. One of the men looked and was dressed very much like Carroll, who (according to the boy Connors) took part in the felony, but he knew it was not Carroll, because he was well enough acquainted with that constable to see that the man was a stranger to him. This evidence, which, no doubt, he offered to shake Johnny Connors' identification of one of the prisoners, the contention being that the person he really saw was one of the men who was taken up on the road by the farmer. The defence, it is understood, will attempt to prove an alibi in the case of several of the prisoners. An important witness for Kennedy has also been discovered. Kennedy had a Protestant neighbor, at whose home, up to 12 o'clock on the night of murder, he was playing cards. At that time, under the name of "Tommy," he was shown at the trial that Kennedy returned to his house at 2 o'clock in the morning to obtain medicine for a sick child, and it will be argued that the prisoner could not have shared in the massacre, which took place about the hour. If these statements, which we have learned from a reliable source, are sufficiently supported, it can readily be seen that it is in the interests of the prisoners themselves that a speedy trial should be afforded them, even although it were to take place in another county. As that is now out of the question, it might be advisable to hold a special assize at London, for the purpose of at once disposing of the case. Permitting such an important case to drag along is certainly not the policy to pursue; and a special effort might be made by the court, on Saturday afternoon, and was met by his Grace the Duke of Norfolk, whose guest the great Oratory will be during his stay in the metropolis. Yesterday morning his Eminence celebrated Mass at Norfolk House. The announcement that the Cardinal would preside at the afternoon service of Vespers in the Church of the Oratory drew together a crowded and fashionable congregation in the temporary church. A throne was erected in the sanctuary, and shortly after half-past three o'clock the Cardinal was received at the doors of the church by the priests of the Oratory. His Eminence was clad in the full robes of a cardinal deacon, and as he proceeded up the aisle to the sanctuary gave his blessing to the congregation. Having been conducted to the throne, the Cardinal intoned the vespers of the day, which were joined in by the congregation. On the conclusion of the Vespers his Eminence was robed in a rich cope, and wearing a jeweled mitre, and bearing a crozier, conducted the solemn service of Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. After the services in the church a meeting of the brethren was held in the Oratory as held in their chapel. Among the distinguished brethren present were the Duke of Norfolk, Lord Bury, Lord Denbigh, Lord Emsly, Lord Lovell, the Hon. Mr. North, &c. It was the desire of the Cardinal that the meeting should be conducted with ordinary forms, and the desire was substantially carried out. While the Litany of Loretto was being sung his Eminence, clad again in the Cardinal's crimson robes, entered, and was conducted to a chair behind a table which was covered in figured crimson satin. The only departure from the ordinary nature was that the weekly discourse usually delivered by the Prefect, the Rev. Father Boudon, was given by Cardinal Newman, who took for his subject the lessons of the life of St. Philip, the founder of the Oratorians. On the conclusion of the discourse the Rev. Prefect, addressing the Cardinal, thanked him for his visit, and briefly referred to the arrangements in the position of Catholics in England which had resulted from the series of lectures given by Dr. Newman nearly thirty years ago. The whole audience kneeling, the Cardinal bestowed his benediction, and the proceedings terminated. His Eminence had not visited the Oratory before yesterday for many years.

MISS GARDINER AND HER TENANTS.

The Ballina correspondent of the Daily Express, writing from Ballina, on Monday, May 6th, says:—

At the Ballycastle petty sessions to-day (before W. C. Moroney, R. M., and W. H. Paussett, J. P., Esqrs.), Miss Gardiner proceeded against three of her tenants for going into possession of her holdings in the neighborhood from which they were lately evicted. The National Land League, through Mr. Muffey, brought down Mr. Daly, solicitor, to defend the case, which were all dismissed on points of law, it being proved that the doors were not closed when the people retook possession. After the cases were over, a large crowd of country farmers assembled at the hotel. The deputy of the Land League addressed them as follows:—Patriotic men of this part of the country—I am glad to be amongst you to-day. We have taken the first fall out of the people who retook possession. After the cases were over, a large crowd of country farmers assembled at the hotel. The deputy of the Land League addressed them as follows:—Patriotic men of this part of the country—I am glad to be amongst you to-day.
