of types and breeds. This is the one great contest where breeds meet in competition after individual excellence has been measured within the breeds.

"A feature of marked interest in this battle royal is the work of the foreign judge, who annually passes on the championship classes. For this exacting task the most competent judges of Great Britain have been selected. Sheep and swine measure strength for supremacy in the show ring and on the block. In the carload classes, the competition is equally as sharp, and here again animal excellence is measured by the practical standard of market demands.

"Probably the keenest and most inspiring battle of the show is seen when the great draft horses in harness, of all breeds and all countries, meet on the tan bark, clad in the armor of peaceful though mighty warfare. It is this final challenge of the best of each breed, and of breed to breed, in the form of an ultimatum following the scrimmages down the state fair circuits, that gives an intense interest to international rings. The 1909 International promises to be, in every way, a fitting climax to a show season of unparalleled records."

WILL SELL CLYDESDALES

Thos. Lawrie, of Roland, will offer for sale his fine string of Clydesdales and other stock on the eighth of December. The string of sixteen includes five pure-bred mares or fillies and heavy, strong work horses, the kind that Western Canada needs. One of the pure-breds, Baroness, was first at Toronto as a two-year-old and also won a first and a second at Winnipeg shows, in addition to red ribbons at Roland and Carman as brood mare. Baroness and another mare of size and quality are in foal to Vigorous, the fine stallion that won at Portage show. There are also two 2-year-old fillies, from Baron Brendan, and one yearling filly from Bulwark, both of which sires are got by Baron's Pride. Of the work horses one team was held after an offer of $500. Watch these columns for date of sale and further particulars.

THE FIRELESS COOKER

If you were to ask the average woman to describe her ideal cooking apparatus she would, in nine cases out of ten, answer: "Something that would not make heat, muss or odor, that would require no watching of the fire nor stirring of food to prevent scorching or boiling over and which she could leave with the certainty that a stray draft would not cause a conflagration." A few years ago this would have been termed a "foolish dream," but to-day anyone who is familiar with the fireless cooker knows where she can turn to find its realization.

In the minds of many there is a prejudice against the term "fireless cooker," and in reality it is not a fireless cooker, but merely one so constructed as to retain the heat and continue the process of cooking after the food has been brought to the boiling point or heat been applied in some other way. The principle of cooking by insulation is not a new one and was known and used in Europe before it became common in this country.

A farmer's wife, writing in The Journal of Agriculture, says of the fireless cooker: "It is the greatest help to women of the age and the greatest saver of fuel, time and labor. My dinner is all in the cooker now, and it has been for three hours. My kitchen is nice and cool and I have taken a good rest. No running to see about fires, just leave it alone and when wanted all will be 'piping hot.'"

It cooks such foods as meats, soups, cereals and many vegetables more perfectly than could possibly be done on an ordinary stove, and, with the Rapid, one can also have delightful roasts, bread and puddings.

ADVANTAGE OF SOIL ANALYSIS

Soils and the plant foods contained are given due consideration by the New Mexico College of Agriculture. In a press bulletin sent out by R. F. Hare, soil analysis is discussed intelligently from a practical standpoint.
