Men Who Won't Work.

The claim is made in many Canadian cities that there are a certain class of men out of work who don't really want to get anything to do.

The Hamilton Herald a few days ago had occasion to find what truth there is in that claim so far as the Ambitious City is concerned.

It isn't because he can't get work that a man is idle these days, said the Herald in its issue of September 13. Gore Park and City Hall corner have the usual number of old guard on the job these fall days, and the inference to be drawn from this occupation of outdoor seats in cold weather is that a man goes to such a public place to find work. Yesterday a Herald employee was sent out to get a man to help him in unloading a lot of paper at the Herald warehouse. He went to Gore Park and the City Hall, where he offered 25 cents an hour for a whole day of easy work. There were no takers.

Those who held down the seats didn't even have the grace to cover their refusal to work with a kick about the money offered not being enough.

One man was "waiting for a friend"; another said: "That's not in my line, I'm a machinist." Others had equally poor excuses.

The Power of Compound Interest.

A man may secure an absolutely sure income of $600 a year for his little 5 year old daughter, or granddaughter, from the time she is 55 to the end of her days, if he will pay to the Canadian Government the sum of $964.75. If she should die at any time before reaching the Annuity age the money paid together with 3% compound interest will be refunded to the purchaser, or as he may direct. There are but few parents who, when they understand the matter, will not be anxious to make the investment, if they can spare the money, in order to have the assurance that their daughter, no matter what reverses overtake her after she is 55, would have a comfortable income in her old age—an income that she cannot be deprived of by any person or by any process of law.

Full particulars of this excellent scheme may be had on application to Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters go free of postage.

Rise Above Trouble.

Do not let trouble conquer you. No matter what comes, anxieties or sorrows may vex or sadden you, do not prove yourself a weakling by going down before them, but show yourself noble in rising above them and moulding them to life's purpose. Rather bear an insult than give one; rather dry a tear than cause one to be shed. How many celebrities we would have if men were as anxious to make their own fame as they are to unmake the fame of others!

Legal Question.

W. R. J., Gorrie. —Qu.—A farmer made on assignment and left the province. His farm was mortgaged. Will it be sufficient for the mortgagee to serve the assignee with the proceedings for foreclosure or sale, or must he hunt up the farmer and serve him personally?

Ans.—The "farmer" is no longer interested in the property. He sold it, subject to the mortgage. The purchaser is the person now concerned. If there were no judgments against the mortgagee at the time of the sale, those who have obtained judgments since the sale cannot make a claim upon the property. There can be no foreclosure until default in payment. After the mortgage has become forfeited by default in the payment of principal or interest, the person entitled to the mortgage debt, may demand payment, and in default of payment may proceed to exercise the special and other remedies to which, according to the nature of his security, he may be entitled, either against the debtor or against the incumbered estate, or both. A writ is issued in the usual way. The person who is in possession and the registered owner of the property are the defendants named in the writ. An application is made to the court for a judgment for foreclosure or sale of the mortgaged property.

A Narrow Escape.

Mr. John Cassidy, who some weeks ago was knocked down and badly bitten by a sow on his farm near Chepstow, was the victim of another mishap while coming into Walkerton on Friday that might easily have created sensational reading and made his children fatherless. While nearing the bottom of Bilkie's hill with a load of hay, it seems, a bolt pulled out of the tongue of his wagon, and in descending off the load to adjust it, his horses became frightened at two boys who were making the welkin ring as he drove by, and in the mix-up which followed the horses plunged into the ditch and upset portion of the hay. Mr. Cassidy, who was between the horses' heels and the load at the time of the mishap, saved his name from the obituary column by grabbing the harness and drawing himself onto the back of one of the horses. Had he been less agile the load must necessarily have passed over and crushed him, thus turning a narrow escape into a dark and tragic happening. He who is born to be hanged, it is said, will never be drowned, and Mr. Cassidy is evidently not destined to pass out under a wagon else he would have made his exit on Friday.

A Believer in Poultry Profits.

While waiting for a train at a little station in Hastings Co., Ont., recently, one of the editors of Farm and Dairy dropped into conversation with a farmer of that county, Mr. W. Rodgers, who was putting on a load of wire fencing. "Yes," said the farmer in reply to a remark made by our editor, "this is a fine dairy country. I do not believe that there is a better dairy section anywhere, but when it comes to making money there is nothing in it with poultry. We have 85 hens, and last year sold $117 worth of eggs and $15 worth of poultry. There are eight in our family, and we all eat eggs. In fact I can hardly get along without a couple of eggs a day at least myself. Had we kept track of the eggs consumed in the house I believe those hens would have been worth between $2 and $3 each to us.

"We fed to the poultry last year 75 bushels of barley, oats and peas. They got just ordinary care, and in summer they pick up the most of their food. Dairying is in my line of farming, but I believe there is more money in poultry."

A Bold Fox.

Mr. J. D. Little had a somewhat novel experience with a fox on Monday afternoon. He went down to see his cattle on Mr. John Hill's farm on con. 6 on that day and when he got to the field where the cattle were he saw a fox sitting among the animals. He threw a stone at it and tried to scare it away. It only moved far enough over so that the stone would not strike him. More stones were thrown but move it would not. Mr. Little was only a few yards away from it and when he got up beside it the fox coolly walked over to the fence and went into the swamp. Mr. Little says it was the largest fox he ever saw.—Teeswater News.

Average Production Of Spies.

A Huron County apple-grower asks the following question in Farm and Dairy:—

"Under ordinary conditions in Huron county, at what age do Northern Spys, or other winter apple start to bear? Can you give me a guess as to the quantity they would bear for the first few years after starting bearing?"

To this Prof. J. W. Crow, of the Ontario Agricultural College, replied as follows:—

"Under ordinary conditions, Northern Spys in the Huron district begin to bear at from 12 to 14 years. Baldwins and Kings will begin bearing two or three years sooner than this. There are so many conditions which influence the size of the crop after trees once begin to bear that I hardly feel safe in estimating the probable quantity borne during the first few years. I might of course give you figures covering longer periods of time based on average results. I should say that Northern spys beginning to bear at, say 13 years should bear an average of two barrels of No. 1 apples a tree per year until they are 30 years old. From 30 to 40 years they should bear three barrels per tree. After 50 years they would probably begin to decline, but would still bear profitable crops, if well cared for, longer than this period. Baldwin trees would begin bearing a little earlier and, as a rule, bear more heavily than Northern spys. These figures represent averages of well cared for orchards, and are, I believe, not too high to be used as a basis in calculation cost of production and returns per acre."

Father Morrissey's "No. 11" Cures Stomach Troubles.

Rev. Father Morrissey

When your stomach is working right you never know it is there. But when it feels as heavy as lead—when you have Heartburn, Belching of Wind, Sourness, a gnawing hunger, with distress after eating—when you feel irritable and depressed—then you may know that the digestive fluids in the stomach are not sufficient to digest what you eat.

Father Morrissey's "No. 11" Tablets supply these fluids in concentrated form. Each tablet, dissolved in the stomach, will digest 1 1/4 pounds of food, which is more than an average meal.

Read what Father Morrissey's treatment did for Mr. Gosline, of Salmon Lake. He writes Nov. 30, 1908: "I was troubled with indigestion, so severe that I really thought I had cancer of the stomach. I took much doctors' remedies, till I was forced to seek another resource, and this was the Rev. Father Morrissey. His treatments worked miracles, until I have been entirely cured, so that now I do not look to the quality of the diet but to the quantity."
