

NERVOUSNESS

Or dependency caused by weak unhealthy nerves, are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease. If you have a secret drain from early abuse, later excesses or exposure, you cannot expect healthy nerves while your vitality is being sapped. Do not eat out a miserable existence on account of your illness, you are not safe until cured—suffer never again—no matter how young, old or innocent one may be.

KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Have you pain in the back, a dull feeling in the region of the kidneys? At times your water comes freely, a large quantity light in color, while at other times you do not make it quite so freely. It is dark in color, you make a small quantity, or you may have mucous (green or brick discolored) sediment; give your condition immediate attention or more serious complications will set in. My treatment guaranteed a positive cure for such conditions, and remember you

Marjory's Promise.
Baby Marjory has been having her first experience of rural sights and sounds, of green things growing, of flowers hiding in the grass, of cows in the pasture, of horses in the stable. She was delighted with all but one of them, says a writer in the Philadelphia Telegraph.

The one exception was the big, surly dog that keeps watch and ward over the farm. She respected Hector in his own place, but that place is at a distance. She did not want him or his kind to approach near enough for intimate acquaintance.

Having been invited by a lady of the house to take a walk down to the village, Marjory hesitated a little. "Why, Marjory," exclaimed the lady, in an injured tone of voice, "don't you want to go with me?"

"Yes," replied the little maid, "I want to go, but please don't let any dogs happen to me!"

Oldest Inn in England.
In the village of North St. Philip is the George Inn. It claims to be the oldest licensed village alehouse in England, the license dating from 1347. Its appearance is eminently picturesque, each story overhanging that beneath, while the front is broken by bay windows, a porch and a flight of stone steps leading to a doorway in the wall. At the back are more quaint doors and windows, a turret built against the wall and enclosing an outside stair, while in the yard still remains a portion of the old gallery which in the middle ages was found in so many hostleries. Most of the front is timbered. Each gable is surmounted by a curious chimney. A curious feature of the interior is the upper floor, which is of plaster.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.
Gentlemen,—In June, '98, I had my hand and wrist bitten and badly manured by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever.

Yours truly,

PLOWING WITH ELEPHANTS

Barnum's Reply to the Farmer Who Asked Whether It Would Pay.
It may be said of P. T. Barnum that he was the major domo or lord of laughter and fun, the prototypic dispenser of amusement. How well he became known through this function one curious incident certifies. Some years before he died an obscure person in some remote part of Asia wrote a letter, which he dropped in the postoffice near him, directed to "Mr. Barnum, America." The letter reached its destination without an hour's delay. The great showman unaffectedly enjoyed being known from the very beginning of his celebrity, and when he found his celebrity was a tremendous factor in his success he did everything that he could think of to extend the exploitation of his name. This was not to nourish vain imaginings or because he felt exalted. It was to promote business.

Around his successive homes at Bridgeport, Conn., he was fond of putting something that suggested a show. Quaintly marked cattle, the sacred cow or an elephant was frequently among the stock to be noticed in his fields. On one occasion he had an elephant engaged in plowing on the sloping hill where it could be plainly seen by the passengers on the New Haven and Hartford railroad, an agricultural innovation that he knew would get notice of some sort in every newspaper in the country. It was even said that he received letters from farmers far and wide, asking how much hay one elephant ate and if it was more profitable to plow with an elephant than with horses or oxen. His replies were invariably frank and were of this purport: If you have a large museum in New York and a great railway sends trains full of passengers within eye-shot of the performance, it will pay, and pay well, but if you have no such institution then horses and oxen will prove more economical.

WEDDING SUPERSTITIONS.

The bride should not fail to shed a few tears on her wedding day. It is an omen of good luck in the future.

It is unlucky for the bride to enter the church before the ceremony at a door and leave after the ceremony by another door.

The bride should always cut the first piece of her wedding cake and pour out the first glass of wine for her guests if there are not too many.

If the bride drops her handkerchief on the wedding day and the bridegroom picks it up, it is a sign that in the future he will play second fiddle.

It is said to be unlucky to the shoes to any part of the carriage in which the bride and bridegroom go away, but it is lucky to throw an old shoe after the bride as she enters the carriage.

In leaving the church the bride will do well to place her right foot foremost if she wishes to be happy, healthy, etc., in the future, and she should always be the first to call her husband by name.

After the wedding breakfast and reception the bride should be careful to throw away and lose all the pins, if there are any about her. The bridesmaids should not keep the pins themselves or they will retard their chances of marriage.

A Modest Request.
To judge from an incident reported in the Washington correspondence of the New York Tribune, the department of agriculture sometimes appears from a distance like a big department store. During the season when members of congress send out seeds one of the packages found its way back to the sender, accompanied by a note from the farmer to whom it had been addressed.

"My dear sir," wrote the farmer, "I appreciate your good will in sending the seeds, but my eldest daughter, Matilda, is going to marry the doctor down to the village next month, and wife and I think of giving up the farm and going there to live. If we do, the seeds won't be much good, as we shan't have a garden; so if you could change them to some stockings (No. 9) and some handkerchiefs or a nice spring bonnet for Matilda I would be much obliged."

A Juvenile Feminine Prayer.
A little girl was spending the summer at a fashionable watering place, and one morning she played upon the veranda of the hotel where her mother was stopping she heard a lengthy conversation upon the fashions of the day and the absolute necessity of stylishness in dress if one hoped to be a success in society. One lady went so far as to say that stylishness was far more important than beauty.

That night as the child said her usual prayer she added, with great earnestness, "And oh, dear Lord do please make me stylish!"

Medicinal Uses of Salt.
Salt is one of the greatest of natural remedies and antiseptics. A weak solution—an even teaspoonful in a glass of water, cold or hot—is excellent for indigestion. A solution of about the same strength will often relieve a cold in the head if snuffed up through the nose.

Severe pains in the bowels are often relieved by the application of a bag of hot salt.

Necessary Precautions.
Life Insurance Agent—My dear sir, have you made any provision for those who come after you?

Harduppe—Yes; I put the dog at the door and told the hired girl to say I'm out of town.

The ashes, so called, from volcanoes are simply lava that is finely pulverized.

KIDNEY TROUBLES.

Mrs. Louise M. Gibson Says That This Fatal Disease is Easily Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I felt very discouraged two years ago, I had suffered so long with kidney troubles and other complications, and had taken so much medicine without relief that I began to think there was no hope for me. Life looked so good to me, but what is life without health? I wanted to be well.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND cured me and made me well, and that is why I gladly write you this, and gladly thank you; six bottles was all I took, together with your Pills. My headache and backache and kidney trouble went, never to return; the burning sensation I had left altogether; my general health was so improved I felt as young and light and happy as at twenty."

If you feel that there is anything at all unusual or puzzling about your case, or if you wish confidential advice of the most experienced, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and you will be advised free of charge. The Lapse of Time.
When two married men who haven't seen each other for some time meet, one of them always says before they separate, "Let's see—how old is your sister now?" And then, after he gets the answer, he adds, "It is astonishing, isn't it? how time does fly?"

A Soft Answer.

VACATIONS IN VOLUMES.

WHEN the farm gets sort of lonesome, then when I decide to go on a trip to foreign countries—say, to England, don't you know? Er, correctly speaking, London, where the fog's a hangin' low.

An' the arc lights glow an' glimmer with a dull an' heavy glow.

There I find a friend o' mine seated in his easy chair.

In a room that's fairly reekin' with the smoke that's in the air.

An' I listen, as does Watson, till my eyes begin to dim.

While Sherlock Holmes unravels murder mysteries to him.

When the house seems dull an' heavy, then in mind I pack my grip.

Set down in the easy rocker, light my pipe an' take a trip.

Over where my friend Mulvaney an' his comrades do their worst.

An' a man—at least Mulvaney—never fails to raise a thirst.

There is pleasure when I find him, seas o' pleasure to be had!

Last time I was with Mulvaney he was courtin' Dinah Shadd.

An' the hour hand was pointin' to the twelve upon the clock.

When I said, "Goodby, Mulvaney, little Ortheris an' Jock!"

This thing of a feller's envy fer the rich man with his yacht.

Who can take his long vacations—well, it's nature like as not.

But sometimes when I've been readin' I'll wear, upon the whole.

That I've lived right with them heroes, not in body, but in soul!

Let the rich man go to England er up where the walrus swim.

Fact remains, as sure as shootin', I've seen things as strange as him.

An' tonight, when I'm a-prayin', I will say, "G'oodby, me, an' then Bless the feller that can make me take vacations with the pen."

—Indianapolis Sun.

Charming Summer Resorts

Two interesting little books of the illustrated folder type have been issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System, one being entitled "Songs of the Nipissing," and the other "The Eastern Coast of Lake Huron." The illustrations are very numerous, are of all sizes, and are scattered through the pages to elucidate the text and appear to the eye just as the story told in the letter press does to the mind. The prevailing note in these little works, upon which a profitable half hour may be spent by the reader, is the craving for change, and there can be no doubt that men and women who live in the stress and strain of to-day, and feel the throbs of advanced and advancing civilization, do require change—complete change for mind and body. The haunts described here minister to the intellectual as well as the physical health of jaded dwellers in cities. The physical exercises that can be obtained among the woods and waters create and promote a perfectly sound bodily condition, while the multifarious life that is to be found, stimulates the intellectual faculties and prompt inquiry and investigation into nature's ways as they are revealed in her flora and fauna. The maps which are in these pamphlets enable the visitor to the wilds, to realize his bearings at whatever part he may be, and the general information given enables him to economize his time and spend it to the best advantage.
