

Miramichi Foundry

STEAM ENGINE & BOILER WORKS

CHATHAM, N. B.

JOSEPH M. RUDDOCK, PROPRIETOR

Steam Engines and Boilers, Mill Machinery of all kinds; Steamers of any size constructed and furnished, complete.

IRON PIPE, Valves and Fitting of all kinds.

Designs, Plans and Estimates on Application.

PROVISIONS

CONSISTING OF

Flour, Beef, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Teas, Sugars, Molasses, Barley, Peas, Soap, Lard, Bran and Feed, Rolled Oats and Standard Oatmeal and Cornmeal in bulk and in 50 lb. Ontario and Dominion Cracked Feed, etc.

Store of Public Works.

A. RUNDLE.

Newcastle, Jan. 8, 1898.

ENVELOPES.

The Dominion Government has requested that persons sending letters through the mails have their names and addresses printed on the upper left hand corner of the envelope. Call at the Advocate Office and have them printed in first class styles.

SEEDS, SEEDS, SEEDS.

I have received my Spring stock of Garden, Pot and Flower seeds which I intend to sell at a small advance over cost.

FLOUR, FLOUR, FLOUR.

FIVE BUSHES.

JESSE LILLY.

This brand of flour needs no puffing. It gives other satisfaction to the consumer than any other brand.

Rolls out meat in bulk and half bulk. Call at the Advocate Office and have them printed in first class styles.

Bradley's Fertilizer.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Now is the time to purchase your boots and shoes and keep your feet dry. This entire lot must be sold at prices to suit the buyer.

GROCERIES, GROCERIES.

abundance, quality guaranteed, prices below all other dealers.

M. BANNON'S Cheap Cash Store.

TAILORING

I wish to remind my patrons and the public generally that I am still

Carrying on the Tailoring

the old stand over Messrs. Rutherford and Nathan's Store. I have a fine

LINE OF SAMPLES

I select from. Parties furnishing their own cloth can have them made up in at cheaper than elsewhere. Perfect Satisfaction has been given in the past and I can guarantee the same in the future.

GOOD STYLE

Newcastle Sept. 1898.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS

Copyrights &c.

Securing a patent and copyright may greatly increase the value of your invention. We have secured patents for our clients in all the principal countries of the world.

Scientific American.

111 N. 3d St. New York

Ask for Eddy's

when you order matches. Then you will be sure of having the best

Selected Literature.

GREAT-AUNT BELINDA'S LECTURE CAKE.

(Conclusion.)

No, Sophia answered, 'I know you wouldn't. It wasn't that—I don't know what it was. I was just afraid, somehow.'

'You're a goose, Sophia Barney,' she cried. 'That's what you are—do you hear?'

'Yes, I hear,' Sophia answered, smiling faintly.

Three weeks later Mrs. Barney went to her drawer for the receipt for her Great Aunt Belinda's cake; she was going to make a loaf for the county fair, which would open the following Tuesday. To her surprise the paper was not there. She pulled everything out of the drawer, then she went through all the other drawers in the chest, and finally every bureau in the house.

When Sophia came home from school she found her mother excited, but determined, in the midst of piles of linen. Sophia stood in amazement on the threshold. Her mother called her impatiently.

'Sophia, don't stand there staring! Come in and help me look for the rule for Great Aunt Belinda's cake. I can't find it, high or low. Why, 'twas only three weeks ago I used it! She dropped her hands from the drawer and turned around with an angry memory.

'Twas as I live, I don't believe I ever put it back,' she cried.

'Then it must be somewhere in the kitchen,' Sophia cried.

But her mother's eyes had suddenly darkened. 'Unless it was taken out,' she answered, significantly. 'I'll look, of course, but I don't believe all the looking in the world will find it in this house! I guess I know now why Mrs. Wood was in such a tearing hurry!'

Sophia stood aghast. 'You don't believe she took it?' she cried.

'I haven't said so, her mother answered, grimly, but it stands to reason that a thing wouldn't go far without hands.'

'It might have blown out the door. It blew off the table once, and I picked it up,' the child ventured, trembling.

'I guess it did blow out the door—in somebody's hands! The door wasn't open but once before we cleared the things away, and that was when Mrs. Wood came in.'

Sophia said no more. She went into the kitchen and helped her mother move and lift things, but her eyes were so dim that she could hardly have seen the paper if it had been directly before her.

That night at supper Mrs. Barney told her husband. He showed his chair back from the table and looked at her with clumsy sympathy.

'I should hate to think of a neighbor unless I had to,' he said. 'But don't you worry, Susan. You can make a better cake without the rule than any one else with it.'

'I should hate to think I couldn't,' she answered, but her voice lacked something of assurance. As she said the loss of the receipt had 'upset' her.

She made her cake next morning and sent it to the fair. It looked as good as any she had ever made, and by Wednesday, when she started for the fair herself, she had recovered her usual cheerful countenance. Mr. Barney was unable to go that day, but he came down from the field to harness up for her. She set off with his parting words ringing cheerily in her memory.

'We'll expect you back with number eleven, Susan. First thing you know we'll have to build on an all to hold your premiums.'

Six hours later Mrs. Barney drove into the yard. Sophia was watching for her at the gate. 'Did you get it, mother?' she called eagerly.

Mrs. Barney's lips were set resolutely. 'No, I didn't,' she answered. 'Do you want to know who did? Well, 'twas Sarah Wood—that's who! Now maybe you and your father will believe me once in a while!'

Sophia stood silent and stunned. Her mother started on to the barn but part way there she looked back. 'I guess you needn't have anything more to say to that Wood girl after this,' she said. 'I don't want my daughter associating with folks that steal!'

Sophia looked down into the orchard. The apple trees were now, and the golden rods that peered over the stone wall and old gray; but she saw again the sunlight dropping through the trees, and the yellow plumes nodding over the wall, and Ben's merry face laughing at her from it all. Without a word she turned away and went silently into the house.

She did not want to go to school the next day, but her mother compelled her to go. She lagged miserably along the road, so that she might have no time before school opened. Yet, after all, the reprieve was a short one. The moment recess began Ben's dance across to her.

'What made you late, Sophia?' she asked. I waited and waited for you.'

Sophia did not answer. She looked her hands together and stared wretchedly out of the window.

Ben's face looked at her in astonishment. 'What is the matter, Sophia?' she cried. 'You aren't mad with me, are you?'

Sophia shook her head. Then suddenly she put her head down on the desk, sobbing violently. Ben's face looked at her in astonishment, and he sat down beside her, while others gathered on the benches.

'Won't you speak to me, Sophia?' Ben pleaded, with a hurt tremble in her voice.

'I—I can't,' Sophia sobbed.

One of the girls laughed significantly. 'Ben's just teasing you,' she said. 'Her mother's mad because your mother got the prize. You wouldn't catch me sneaking to anybody, Ben! Wood! I thought you had more spirit!'

Ben's face looked at her in astonishment. 'I'll tell you what, Sophia, if you can't speak to me, but that doesn't make a bit of difference to my feeling, Sophia, and you know it,' she said.

Sophia put out her hand and squeezed Ben's; then she turned away and began studying; she had no heart for play.

The weeks dragged wearily after that. Ben's face looked at her in astonishment. 'I should hate to think of a neighbor unless I had to,' he said. 'But don't you worry, Susan. You can make a better cake without the rule than any one else with it.'

'I should hate to think I couldn't,' she answered, but her voice lacked something of assurance. As she said the loss of the receipt had 'upset' her.

She made her cake next morning and sent it to the fair. It looked as good as any she had ever made, and by Wednesday, when she started for the fair herself, she had recovered her usual cheerful countenance. Mr. Barney was unable to go that day, but he came down from the field to harness up for her. She set off with his parting words ringing cheerily in her memory.

'We'll expect you back with number eleven, Susan. First thing you know we'll have to build on an all to hold your premiums.'

Six hours later Mrs. Barney drove into the yard. Sophia was watching for her at the gate. 'Did you get it, mother?' she called eagerly.

Mrs. Barney's lips were set resolutely. 'No, I didn't,' she answered. 'Do you want to know who did? Well, 'twas Sarah Wood—that's who! Now maybe you and your father will believe me once in a while!'

Sophia stood silent and stunned. Her mother started on to the barn but part way there she looked back. 'I guess you needn't have anything more to say to that Wood girl after this,' she said. 'I don't want my daughter associating with folks that steal!'

Sophia looked down into the orchard. The apple trees were now, and the golden rods that peered over the stone wall and old gray; but she saw again the sunlight dropping through the trees, and the yellow plumes nodding over the wall, and Ben's merry face laughing at her from it all. Without a word she turned away and went silently into the house.

She did not want to go to school the next day, but her mother compelled her to go. She lagged miserably along the road, so that she might have no time before school opened. Yet, after all, the reprieve was a short one. The moment recess began Ben's dance across to her.

'What made you late, Sophia?' she asked. I waited and waited for you.'

Sophia did not answer. She looked her hands together and

Scott's Emulsion is not a "baby food," but is a most excellent food for babies who are not well nourished.

A part of a teaspoonful mixed in milk and given every three or four hours, will give the most happy results.

The cod-liver oil with the hypophosphites added, as in this palatable emulsion, not only feeds the child, but also regulates its digestive functions.

Ask your doctor about this.

See and $1.00 all druggists, SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.

A CARRIAGE MAKER

Suffered ten years from weak heart action and nervousness.

Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

No trade or profession is exempt from disease or derangement of the heart and nerves. The pressure of work and the mental worry are bound to produce serious consequences sooner or later.

Mr. Donald Campbell, the well-known carriage maker of Hamilton, Ont., said: 'I have been troubled off and on for ten years with weak action of my heart and nervousness. Frequently my heart would palpitate and flutter with great violence, and I would feel as if I was going to faint. I have tried many remedies, but nothing has done me any good until I took Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I feel as if I was a new man now, and I can do my work as well as ever.'

LAXATIVE PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and Indigestion. They do not grip, sicken or weaken. Every pill acts perfectly.

Mrs. Barney spoke quickly. 'Maybe you won't want to say that or anything else when I tell you what I thought. I thought you took the receipt that morning.'

Mrs. Wood's face flushed indignantly. 'Took the receipt?' she exclaimed.

'Yes, Mrs. Barney answered, humbly. 'I don't wonder you're angry, but I had to tell you. I lost it that day, and couldn't think how else, and when your cake took the prize I was sure. Why, she cried in sudden enlightenment, it was the orange that I forgot!'

You see the receipt had got stuck on the bottom of the plate that I sent down to Cousin Mary Green's, and I had to make the cake from memory. I've found that out now, and I'm thoroughly ashamed that I suspected you.'

There was a moment of astonished silence, then both women began to laugh. 'Well, I'm glad to have it straight again, I'm sure,' said Mrs. Wood, as she left an hour later.

'And you're all to come over early Thanksgiving evening?' Mrs. Barney called after her from the door.

When she went back into the kitchen Sophia was stoning raisins at the table. She said 'nothing,' but her little thin face was radiant.

—Mabel Nelson Thurston, in The Youth's Companion.

Temperance

A CALCULATION.

A workman who drinks daily two glasses of beer at five cents each, will spend in this way annually thirty-six dollars and fifty cents.

This represents about 45 gallons of beer.

This represents about 3½ bushels of barley.

For this barley the farmer gets less than one dollar and fifty cents.

UNDER LICENSE.

The farmer gets for his barley $1.50

The farmer gets for other produce, 0.00

The merchant and manufacturer get 0.00

The working man has left 0.00

Total for farmer, trader and workingman, $1.50

Balance for brewer and liquor seller, $3.00

Total of money and value held by all, $6.50

UNDER PROHIBITION.

The farmer gets for his barley, $1.50

The farmer gets for other produce, 21.90

The merchant and manufacturer get 14.60

Total for farmer, trader and workingman, $38.00

Purest and Best for Table and Dairy. No adulteration. Never cakes.

The workingman has good value for

Total for farmer, trader and workingman, $74.50

Balance for brewer and liquor seller, 0.00

Total of money and value held by all, $74.50

WAYS THAT ARE DARK.

LIQUOR SELLERS WAGING VIGOROUS WAR AGAINST THE TEMPERANCE.

The Montreal Witness, gives a complete expose of the plans and doings of those who for purely mercenary reasons, as hired officials of liquor organizations, are doing every thing that men of desperation can devise to accomplish to prevent the overwhelming desire of the people of Canada for the suppression of their direct foe, the liquor traffic. The exposure needs no comment, and is fully explained in the circulars which have been kept from public eye for nearly two months, but have come to light in time to arouse the most apathetic temperance man and woman to the importance of the crisis now facing the electorate. The tactics of the Ontario liquor dealer seem to be taken as the tactics of the trade wherever found.

Toronto, July 5th, 1898.

[Confidential.]

MY DEAR SIR,—I enclose you a type-written report giving the more important resolutions adopted regarding resolution No. 2, if you have not yet forwarded to me the information asked for will please let me have such by the 15th inst., or as speedily afterwards as possible.

In connection with the fourth resolution, each association is expected to make a special assessment to pay our portion of the expenses of the campaign. The amount of such assessment is left with each association to decide upon. All under license in your district should be called upon for the extra assessment, be they member or non-member.

In order to carry the resolutions Nos. 4 and 5 you should arrange for a meeting of the trade in your district at once, and at that meeting make your plan. Our success in the fight will depend upon the thorough manner in which each individual will carry out the plan in his own immediate vicinity. The convention considered that each license holder should be at least able to poll 25 friendly votes.

Regarding the elections for the Legislative Assembly, the resolution referring to such will at a later date be brought to the attention of those local associations in white districts elections may be held during the coming fall and winter.

I would like to receive a full report from your district upon all matters referred to not later than Monday, the 22nd day of August. The plebiscite vote will be taken either in September or October, so there is time to lose. You can be rid of the question of Prohibition for all time to come; also further restrictions to the License Act for many years to come, if for the next three each member of the trade will do his part.

Let me know specially at your earliest convenience the amount the Central Committee may expect from your district special assessment, so that they may be placed in a position to go with the printing. The Breweries' Association, at their annual meeting on Tuesday last, endorsed the plan of campaign as set forth in the report and have appointed a committee to act on the joint committee. In conclusion let me impress upon you the importance of keeping your plans etc., from the public.

Yours, respectfully,

E. DICKIE, Secretary.

Private and Confidential.

Partial report of the proceedings of London Convention setting forth the resolutions dealing with the plebiscite and other matters upon which action should be taken at once by each local association. Executive committee's recommendation, re-Plebiscite Campaign (as adopted by convention.)

Whereas, the principle arguments used during the past four years by

Kidney Trouble

FOR YEARS.

Nothing did Mr. R. E. Pitt any good until he got Doan's Kidney Pills.

Throughout the County of Leeds and the Town of Brockville there is no medicine spoken so highly of for all kinds of Kidney Diseases as Doan's Kidney Pills. As Canada's pioneer kidney pill introduced by Mr. James Doan, of Kingsville, Ont., in 1886 they stand today far superior to all the imitations and substitutes that have been offered the public in their stead.

Mr. R. E. Pitt, the well-known contractor and builder, voices these sentiments when he says: 'I have had kidney trouble for years. I had tried numerous remedies without much relief, and had given up my back as gone for good, but since using Doan's Kidney Pills the result has been marvelous! The pain is all gone. I feel like a new man, and can highly testify to the virtues of Doan's Kidney Pills.'

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or a dozen for $4.75. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

Notice to the Scholars.

I am selling out my stock of school books, stationery and Fancy goods. I want to get clear of them, as I am going into another line of goods, so now is your time to get your school supplies at McAllister's. Do not forget, everything in the stationery line at cost for cash.

In groceries, fruits and confectionery, you will find it to your advantage to buy from me.

John McAllister.

The question of non-members is one which this convention desires to impress upon the members strongly, and urge them to use every possible effort to increase membership during the present year.

8. Honorary Members. We desire to call your attention to the question of honorary members. Whilst a large number of the manufacturers in this province, and also the province of Quebec, took out honorary membership certificates during the past year, still there is a large number doing business with the trade who have not affiliated themselves with us.

Each honorary member has sent to him as many certificates as he has representatives on the board. They are similar in form to the ordinary commercial travellers' certificates, and if each member will for the present year ask each traveller who waits upon him to produce his certificate showing that the firm he represents is a member, and only purchase from those who hold such certificates, you will not only assist materially in strengthening the hands of the Association, but also those manufacturers who stand by the Association as against the manufacturer who takes your money, but allows you to fight his battle as well as your own.

SEVEN REASONS FOR TEMPERANCE.

During a temperance campaign a lawyer was discussing learnedly the clauses of the proposed temperance law. An old farmer, who had been listening attentively, but his knife with it, said, 'I don't know nothing about the law, but I've got seven good reasons for votin' for it.'

'What are they?' asked the lawyer.

And the grim old farmer responded: 'Four sons and three daughters.'

TENDERS.

The undersigned will receive tenders for the construction of a new building to contain stores and residences, up to the 21st instant.

Plans and specifications may be seen at E. Lee Street's drug store, Newcastle, N.S.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

KATIE C. GUILLEY.

Newcastle, Sept. 18, 1898.

New Carriage and Sleigh Works

The Subscriber begs to inform the public that he is now prepared to attend to the wants of all patrons who may require anything in the line of Carriages or Sleighs.

Repairing promptly performed. Hoping by strict attention to business to merit a large share of public patronage.

Mitchell Falconer.

Newcastle, Sept. 7, 1897.

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION

ST. JOHN, N.B.

Sept. 13th to 23rd, 1898

$10,000 in Prizes.

All Departments of this Exhibition are increased. Large Special Prizes in Livestock and Dairy Products. Live Stock, Poultry, Fish, and Game. Large Prizes in Horticulture, and in the various departments of the Exhibition.

GRAND DISPLAY OF FOREST LIFE IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

Collection of Wild Animals, Birds, Plants and Fungi shown in Natural Surroundings. Public officers for National Collections.

Machinery of all kinds in operation. Many manufacturing novelties. Prizes for the best manufactured articles.

County Competitions. Prizes given by the Province of New Brunswick, and by the Exhibition Committee, for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.

Prizes given in Competition for the best manufactured articles in the various departments of the Exhibition.