BIG SPECIAL AMATEUR CONTEST
FRIDAY NIGHT.

"Broadway Scandals"

SCORE TREMENDOUS SUCCESS WITH THE BOLTON, WODEHOUSE, KERN MUSICAL PLAY "OH BOY".

The programme for the last half of the week at the Casino is one of exceptional merit, and at the performance last night the large crowd in attendance were delighted. "Broadway Scandals" presented the joyous Broadway play "Oh Boy" with its irresistible score that will be whistled and hummed for weeks to come. The play maintains a well defined plot and offers both the principals and the chorus an opportunity to appear to exceptional advantage. There is a rich comedy vein throughout the show and the actors are quick to respond to the possibilities of the excellent book. The part of Lou Ellen was in the capable hands of Edna Richards ,and her rendition of "Old Fashioned Wife" with the chorus, and her duet with Lynn Halbert as George received several encores. Mr. Halbert as George Budd gave an excellent performance, and was particularly good in the duet with Bonnie Mack, who played the part of Jackie to perfection. Although suffering from a slight cold, she cheerfully responded to no less than five encores of "Pal Like You." a duet with Cal West, who was a surprise to his many friends as Jim Marvin. Those who have enjoyed Mr. West in his black face and rural comedy parts, must not fail to see him in "Oh Boy." He was the handsome juvenile personified. Harriet Bendle and Gwendline Allen were very sweet in the two flapper parts of Polly and Jane. Miss Allen received several encores in "Little Bit of Ribbon," and Miss Bindle scored in her "Solo Dance." What was perhaps the biggest surprise of the evening was Sam Goldman, who discarded his Hebrew character in this play to appear as Constable Sims. He was a scream, and received an ovation after each scene. Miss Pauline Travis was Aunt Penelope Budd and in her big scene had the audience in convulsions. Miss Joan Allen was a dignified Mrs. Carter and played her part well. Jack LeRoy was Briggs, and played the part with just the right diction and action. Ben Bernie was the handsome waiter and E. J. Murphy, the Judge. The Chorus was in its usual good form, and the Orchestra rendered the Score in a delightful manner. The lighting effects are worthy of special mention. To miss "Oh Boy," is to miss the theatrical event of the season.

Dance and Presentation

A very enjoyable time was spent last evening when the pupils of Messrs. Ray and Hal Pushie's Dancing Class met in their rooms for the purpose of making a presentation to them as an appreciation of their services. Mr. Whitemarsh, on behalf of the pupils presented Mr. Ray Pushie with a set of Labradorite cuff-links set in gold, and to Mr. Hal Pushie, a silver cigarette case. Taken completely by surprise Messrs. Pushie, in a very able manner, thanked the pupils for their kindness. After which songs were rendered by Misses B. Jardine and K. Hayse and Mr. P. Jardine, which were thoroughly enjoyed by all. At eleven o'clock refreshments were served, provided by the ladies of the classes, dancing being resumed until 1 p.m., when all dispersed after having spent a very enjoyable evening.
