Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO Dec. 30.—Cattle — Market quiet; 8 cars of fresh sale stock offered; butchers took about 4 cars; 3 or 4 cars still hold over unsold; feeling steady.

Sheep and Lambs—Market about steady at the decline quoted yesterday: 200 head of native sheep and lambs, about two-thirds of them State lambs and 3,000 Canada lambs, were on sale; demand fair, mainly on-der account; nothing taken to go on to the gastern market. Sheep about steady; $4.75 to $35 for rood $9.1b sheep to prime heavy wethers of 11 lbs; State and western lambs, $6.50 to $6.60 for for good $9.1b lambs to $6.75 for best ewes and wethers, and $5.75 to $5.50; no extra quality owes and wethers on sale.

Hogs—Three thousand head on sale; market advanced 5c to 10c from yesterday's strong prices. It was a case of the supply being short of the demand, but had there end cars on sale in place of 20 the market would doubtless decline 10c to 15c instead of advancing. Packers were out of the trade except for a few roughs and ends, which sold at $3.25 to $3.50. Yorkers, medium weights and heavy sold at $4.15 to $4.20, and stags $2.75 to $3.50. The market closed steady at the advance, all sold early. Live Stock Markets.

Treating Growing Unpopular.

At the annual meeting of the Dominion Circle of Commercial Travelers this week in Hamilton, the officers elected for 1892 included T. B. Escott, of this city, as vice-president. A communication from the King's Sons, Columbus, O., reported that the habit of treating among business men in the United States was growing less and less from year to year. A circular letter from the circle, addressed to commercial travelers and business men, was adopted, taking their co-operation in discountenancing the habit of treating.

Sunday School Anniversary.

The annual Christmas treat to the children attending Askin Street Methodist Church Sunday school was given Tuesday. Several hundred of the children were present. Mr. James Learn, superintendent, presided, and he was aided by the efficient staff of teachers and a number of the parents. Afterpartaking of tea and accompaniments, the programme was entered on. Miss Stanton, Mr. L. Hessell and Mr. Rowell gave interesting recitations, the children sang several Christmas carols and trios, and Rev. Mr. McIntyre, the pastor, gave a pithy address. It was an enjoyable gathering.

LOVE TRIUMPHED!

of Her Choice.

Had Been Locked Up and Whipped But Escaped and Ran Away With Her Lover.

HOPKINTON, Mass., Dec. 31.—Pretty Almy J. Wood, the 17-year-old daugiter of Mr. G. P. Wood and a relative of ex-Governor Claffin, has married the man of her choice, in spite of horsewhippings and imprisonments which were inflicted with a view to breaking up the match. On Saturday morning, long before daylight, she escaped from her father's house and eloped with William H. McCormick, a shoemaker, and in a few hours they were married at Millville by Justice of the Peace James O'Reilly. The bride was not as richly dressed for the occasion as she would have wished, the exigencies of the elopement preventing her Irom securing her best bibs and tuckers when leaving her father's house, and she was forced to put up with a gingham gown. After the ceremony the young couple went to Blackstone.

The tale Mr. McCormick tells of the trials and tribulations which he and his bride have suffered at the hands of the bride's father sounds like a romance. McCormick is a Catholic, and Mr. Woods is a Protestant, and therein lay the father's objection to his daughter's lover. He forbade a continuance of the intimacy, and in order to separate the couple Miss Wood was sent away to school, where she remained a year. She had been home a short time only when another attempt was made to break up the intimacy, and Miss Wood was

Then she got permission to go to the barn for a basket, and on the way met her lover. Her father heard of it, and when he arrived home at noon he whipped her with a horse-whip until she was rendered unconscious, and Dr. Patten had to be called in to restore her. The girl was then made a prisoner in her bed-room, the windows being nailed and the doors locked. She managed to get out, however, but was discovered in the yard by a brother, who told her father. The father, with the assistance of an officer, succeeded in getting her back into the house, where she was again made a prisoner. The bilinds of her room were closed and the windows nailed down.

Important Action of the Indian National Congress—A Message to Gindstone.

London, Dec. 31.—At yesterday's meeting of the Indian National Congress at Nagpur, a resolution was adopted declaring that it is necessary that a legislature shall be established in India, to which the people of India shall elect representatives. The resolution also says that it is imperative that reductions be made in the expenditures of the army of India.

The destitution of the masses in certain sections is greatly due to the fact that they have no parliamentary representation, and that consequently they are unable to control such expenditures.

The congress sent a dispatch to Mr. Gladstone, upon the occasion of his 82nd birthday, expressing the hope that many years of his life of usefulness may be vouch-safed to him.

It's a poor epigram that won't work both

Life may give us more or less than our nopes—but always something different.

After almost three days' confinement she was allowed to come downstairs. She managed to get a note to McCormick, and he replied through a bill distributor, who left a note at the house for the girl. At noon she met McCormick and made arrangements to run away that night at midnight. She quietly left the house and met her lover, who was waiting with a team. Not being familiar with the route, the couple got lost, and it was 5:30 on Saturday morning when they arrived in town. Town Clerk Hofiman gave them a marriage license and Justice of the Peace O'Reilly performed the ceremony.

when they have a chance often to buy aged one that has proved to be a good at and has good progeny to show for the cellences there are in him. It is true its we are justified in putting a good deal of taith in the doctrine that "like produce like," but the faith should not obscure the light of knowledge. It is better to know your horse can trot in 2:20, than it is to know his sire trotted in 2:19.

It often happens that a good breeder has used a good bull in his herd, till he wishes to use another male of the same breed, instead of practicing imbreeding, and will sell his old bull cheap for that reason. Why do not our ambitious dairy farmers go for such bulls, in preference to an untried young one. The Effect of Feed. Prof. Robertson made a statement at th

Wood was sent away to school, where she remained a year. She had been home a short time only when another attempt was made to break up the intimacy, and Miss Wood was locked up in the attic of her father's house, where she was kept for four days. She found a piece of twine in the attic, which she used to get notes to and from McCormick. After four days she was released from her imprisonment. Some two months ago McCormick says that Mr. Wood called on him and took him to his house, seating him in his parlor. He then stepped outside for a moment and returned with a horsewhip. He told McCormick that he could have his choice of going to a justice and getting married or taking a horse-whipping. McCormick would take neither. He left the house and matters went on as usual for a short time. The girl was again confined to her room for three days, but she escaped with a shawl thrown over her head and went to her lover, who secreted her among friends. He refused to disclose her whereabouts until her father would come to an agreement allowing him to visit her at her home and promising that she chould not he abused. A truce was declared, but as soon as the father reached home he locked his daughter in the attic and kept her a prisoner for two weeks.

Then she got permission to go to the barn for a basket, and on the way met her lover. Prof. Robertson made a statement at the New York Dairy Convention as an illustration of the value of good feeding, that he knew of a man in the Province of Quebec, who had four cows. In 1888 they gave 78 pounds of butter each. He commenced feeding a little corn and bran and in 1889 they gave 131 pounds of butter each. He kept increasing the ration and good care and in 1890 it was 204½, and this year it will be 250 pounds. This shows what men can do with the common cow. Choked Cattle. A good way to get apples and potatoes from cattle that are choked is to take a piece of rubber hose from five to six feet long; grease it on the outside with lard and put it down the throat—it will remove the
