

B.C. Pioneers' At Dinner

Old Timers Gather Round the Board at Thirty-first Banquet

Mayor Hayward Announces Intention to Be Again Candidate for Civic Honors

The British Columbia Pioneer society held its thirty-first annual banquet last night at the Victoria hotel, where nine hundred guests were seated at long tables. The banquet was a most successful one, and the guests were entertained in the most comfortable and pleasant manner. The program of the evening was most interesting, and the guests were kept busy until a late hour of the night.

The Mayor said, as he spoke in reply to the toast to the Mayor and Council, that the citizens of Victoria were very proud of the fact that the Mayor and Council were so successful in their efforts to improve the city. He said that he was proud to be a member of the Mayor and Council, and that he was proud to be a citizen of Victoria.

As things stand now, there were no competitive plans before the council, and the Mayor felt that it was his duty to say to the citizens of Victoria that he was proud to be a member of the Mayor and Council, and that he was proud to be a citizen of Victoria.

He thought that the citizens of Victoria would commend themselves to the people of Victoria. He had great faith in this city and in the inevitable growth of the Pacific Coast, and he felt that it was his duty to say to the citizens of Victoria that he was proud to be a member of the Mayor and Council, and that he was proud to be a citizen of Victoria.

The speaker also hoped that the citizens might see fit to grant him another term of office, that during it he could carry out the plan of the works now in progress, and settling the disputes in the council, see that the money which had been entrusted to the corporation would be spent in a business-like and judicious manner. The works would be carried out by fair competition, and he hoped the council would always see fair play dealt out to the people of the city.

It was too late in the evening to say all that he had in mind, but he would say something about the future of the city. In conclusion, he repeated that he hoped the citizens would be pleased to grant him another year's lease of office as mayor, so that he could carry out the plan of the works now in progress, and settling the disputes in the council, see that the money which had been entrusted to the corporation would be spent in a business-like and judicious manner.

The toast to the Mayor and Council was of course not the first on the toast list. After the fine array of toasts with which the banquet was opened, the Mayor, Mayor Hayward, Capt. Fleet, R. N. Hall, M. P. P., and Mr. O. E. Redfern, and on his left United States Consul A. B. Smith, Col. H. M. Wood, Mr. E. Pearson and H. D. Helmecken, M. P. P. The toast to His Majesty, the King, was drunk with enthusiasm.

The secretary then read regrets for their inability to attend from His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Lt. Col. Prior, Lt. Col. Grant, and Col. H. M. Wood, and then the president again rose to his feet to propose the health of Her Majesty the Queen, the King, the Mayor and Royal family, and after Mr. C. E. Redfern had sung his old-time favorite "Riding on My Old Pack-Mule," a ballad of the days of the pioneer life, the president proposed the health of the President of the United States.

Consul Abrahamson in reply said that this was the fifth time he had the pleasure of responding to this toast for the Pioneers, and it seemed now a harder task than ever in the view of the sad happenings of the past year. He was glad, however, to be able to greet the pioneers—those of the past, the present, and the future.

King Edward reigned and the great Empire went on without derangement. The King was cordially greeted by those without his domains and lovingly by his subjects. He has the great task of his reversed mother, and it is his lot to be that of his mother to redeem the House of Brunswick from its evil name, and make the name of Guelph respected and honored by the nations of the world; but there was no need to eulogize the King. He was well known. The fierce light which beamed around the throne had shown him as he is. He had been criticized, but he was human and an Englishman, and if any man had been in the blaze of light as he has been all his career and had done as well, he could consider that he had done well. His first act as King showed that he was in touch with the spirit of the age. He showed that England was governed by the people and the Empire by its members. When visited by a number of Americans he had graciously ordered the band to play the "Star Spangled Banner." It was such acts as these which bring the two nations into a better understanding, and make them kin, notwithstanding those turbulent men in the United States and Canada. These men are the same as those who have elected a Boer colony to Parliament in Ireland. It is they who become politicians as soon as they land in the United States, who are "agin the government," and who are always the noisy men; but thank God, the sober element controlled.

The speaker then referred at length and touchingly to the death of President McKinley, reciting at length the history of the bold time and spending bitterly the two nations into a better understanding, and make them kin, notwithstanding those turbulent men in the United States and Canada. These men are the same as those who have elected a Boer colony to Parliament in Ireland. It is they who become politicians as soon as they land in the United States, who are "agin the government," and who are always the noisy men; but thank God, the sober element controlled.

Mr. E. V. Bodwell proposed the toast to the Mayor and Council, and the Mayor felt that it was his duty to say to the citizens of Victoria that he was proud to be a member of the Mayor and Council, and that he was proud to be a citizen of Victoria.

He said that while there were no competitive plans before the council, and the Mayor felt that it was his duty to say to the citizens of Victoria that he was proud to be a member of the Mayor and Council, and that he was proud to be a citizen of Victoria.

He thought that the citizens of Victoria would commend themselves to the people of Victoria. He had great faith in this city and in the inevitable growth of the Pacific Coast, and he felt that it was his duty to say to the citizens of Victoria that he was proud to be a member of the Mayor and Council, and that he was proud to be a citizen of Victoria.

The speaker also hoped that the citizens might see fit to grant him another term of office, that during it he could carry out the plan of the works now in progress, and settling the disputes in the council, see that the money which had been entrusted to the corporation would be spent in a business-like and judicious manner. The works would be carried out by fair competition, and he hoped the council would always see fair play dealt out to the people of the city.

It was too late in the evening to say all that he had in mind, but he would say something about the future of the city. In conclusion, he repeated that he hoped the citizens would be pleased to grant him another year's lease of office as mayor, so that he could carry out the plan of the works now in progress, and settling the disputes in the council, see that the money which had been entrusted to the corporation would be spent in a business-like and judicious manner.

The toast to the Mayor and Council was of course not the first on the toast list. After the fine array of toasts with which the banquet was opened, the Mayor, Mayor Hayward, Capt. Fleet, R. N. Hall, M. P. P., and Mr. O. E. Redfern, and on his left United States Consul A. B. Smith, Col. H. M. Wood, Mr. E. Pearson and H. D. Helmecken, M. P. P. The toast to His Majesty, the King, was drunk with enthusiasm.

The secretary then read regrets for their inability to attend from His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Lt. Col. Prior, Lt. Col. Grant, and Col. H. M. Wood, and then the president again rose to his feet to propose the health of Her Majesty the Queen, the King, the Mayor and Royal family, and after Mr. C. E. Redfern had sung his old-time favorite "Riding on My Old Pack-Mule," a ballad of the days of the pioneer life, the president proposed the health of the President of the United States.

Consul Abrahamson in reply said that this was the fifth time he had the pleasure of responding to this toast for the Pioneers, and it seemed now a harder task than ever in the view of the sad happenings of the past year. He was glad, however, to be able to greet the pioneers—those of the past, the present, and the future.

King Edward reigned and the great Empire went on without derangement. The King was cordially greeted by those without his domains and lovingly by his subjects. He has the great task of his reversed mother, and it is his lot to be that of his mother to redeem the House of Brunswick from its evil name, and make the name of Guelph respected and honored by the nations of the world; but there was no need to eulogize the King. He was well known. The fierce light which beamed around the throne had shown him as he is. He had been criticized, but he was human and an Englishman, and if any man had been in the blaze of light as he has been all his career and had done as well, he could consider that he had done well. His first act as King showed that he was in touch with the spirit of the age. He showed that England was governed by the people and the Empire by its members. When visited by a number of Americans he had graciously ordered the band to play the "Star Spangled Banner." It was such acts as these which bring the two nations into a better understanding, and make them kin, notwithstanding those turbulent men in the United States and Canada. These men are the same as those who have elected a Boer colony to Parliament in Ireland. It is they who become politicians as soon as they land in the United States, who are "agin the government," and who are always the noisy men; but thank God, the sober element controlled.

ST. MARTINS.

Cor. Oak Bay and Richmond Ave.

Pleasant comfortable furnished rooms to rent, with or without board.

Classified advertisements one cent per word per insertion, cash. No advertisement inserted for less than 25 cents.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

WANTED—Traveler to sell Dry Goods in British Columbia. Apply with references to A. McKim & Co., Montreal.

WANTED—A youth about 16 or 17 years of age, of good address. Apply in own handwriting to B. M. A., this office.

WANTED—Cavaliers and collectors for The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York City. Excellent opportunities for future advancement. For particulars apply to representative at 1001 Broadway, New York City. See P. H. Stitt, Supt., 2nd floor, Salmon Block, 108 Government street.

ENGINEERS, Firemen, Machinists and Electricians. Send for pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers to obtain engineer's license. Address: Chas. A. Zeller, Publisher, Room 652, 18 S. 4th St., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

WANTED—Men to learn hairdressing; only short weeks required. Patented for less than 25 cents. Tools donated. Wages earned while learning. Catalogue free. Moler Barber College, San Francisco, Calif.

WANTED—FEMALE HELP.

WANTED—A middle aged woman for general housework for the West Coast. No children. Apply W. F. D., Colonist office.

SITUATIONS WANTED—MALE.

MARRIED COUPLE seek situation, man will cook, woman will do general housework. Good references. Address W. W., Colonist office.

YOUNG MAN (Englishman), seeks employment any capacity. Abolitionist. Can furnish references. H. R., Colonist.

SITUATIONS WANTED—FEMALE.

POSITION WANTED—As housekeeper. Address B. A.

WANTED—Position as mother's help. Address K., Colonist.

WANTED—ROOMS.

WANTED—Three or four unfurnished rooms in house with all modern conveniences immediately. Apply C. D. B., Colonist.

WANTED—RESIDENCES.

WANTED—Furnished house or cottage for four months. Address Advertiser, care Colonist.

TO LET—FURNISHED ROOMS.

TO LET—Housekeeping rooms, 90 Douglas street.

TO LET—Pleasant rooms for few gentlemen. Desirable and central locality, close to train. Good cook. Address "Y," Colonist.

TO LET—Housekeeping rooms with bath. 118 Fort street.

TO LET—Furnished rooms for housekeeping. 90 Fort street.

TO LET—Furnished housekeeping rooms at Elsinore house, 104 Pandora. Apply 97 Quadra. Telephone 4770.

TO LET—Furnished rooms for housekeeping at 124 Vancouver street, corner View.

TO LET—Suite of rooms suitable for housekeeping. In Victoria West P. O.

TO RENT—A furnished room to rent, 1294 Douglas street. Nearly opposite City Hall.

TO LET—Comfortable furnished front room with bath. 37 View street.

TO LET—Three housekeeping rooms, 11 Princess avenue.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO LET—By the day, week or month. With use of sitting room. 71 Fort street.

TO LET—Comfortable furnished rooms, modern conveniences. Apply 7 Blanchard street.

TO LET—Part of a house with use of kitchen or bedroom and breakfast. Near Beacon Hill Park. Address R. J., Colonist.

TO LET—ROOM AND BOARD.

PLEASANT, comfortable home in house of retired nurse, for invalid or mother. Case, J. P., 137 Quadra street, Victoria. B. C. Phone 250.

WANTED—A few respectable gentlemen boarders, where they may enjoy home comforts. Address coming forward for consideration at this station as they would be badly needed, where hundreds would be volunteered, tens of thousands would come forward. They had fought bravely in the Boer war, which, while it cost largely in lives and treasure, had demonstrated to the world that this Empire was not a collection of scattered colonies, but a united people.

Capt. Fleet, R. N. of H. M. S. Phaeton, in reply, spoke of the readiness with which the volunteers had come forward and should the time come when they would be badly needed, where hundreds would be volunteered, tens of thousands would come forward. They had fought bravely in the Boer war, which, while it cost largely in lives and treasure, had demonstrated to the world that this Empire was not a collection of scattered colonies, but a united people.

Col. Wolfenden, a veteran, spoke of how he had seen the Crimean war troops in the Boer war. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia. W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W. Ladner, of Ladner's, also spoke of how he had a brother who was a member of the militia in British Columbia. He had seen the British Columbia with the Royal Engineers. When they were disbanded a number of the men came forward and were the nucleus of the militia in British Columbia.

W