

The Colonist

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1908.

PUBLISHED BY
The Colonist Printing & Publishing Company, Limited, Liability.
No. 27 Broad Street, Victoria, B. C.
PERCIVAL R. BROWN, Manager.

The Daily Colonist.

Delivered by carrier at 20 cents per week, or mailed postpaid to any part of Canada (except the city) and the United States at the following rates:
One year $2.00
Six months $1.00
Three months $0.50

Semi-Weekly Colonist.

One year $1.50
Six months $0.75
Three months $0.40
Sent postpaid to any part of Canada or the United States.
Terms, strictly in advance.

Notice to Advertisers

ADVERTISING RATES.
Agate measurement: 14 lines to the inch.

READING NOTICES—50c. per line each insertion, or $2 per line per month.

TRANSIENT AND LEGAL ADVERTISING—10c. per line for first insertion, and 5c. per line for each subsequent consecutive insertion; otherwise 10c. per line each insertion. Preferred positions extra, according to page, etc.

LIBRARY DISCOUNT ON yearly and half-yearly contracts. For rates, etc., apply at the office.

FINANCIAL, INSURANCE AND COM-PANY REPORTS—15c. per line for 100 lines or under, or $2 per line per month.
Discount on each additional 100 up to 500; 500 lines or over, 10c. per line. Reports published in the Daily will be inserted in one of the Semi-Weekly editions for 50 per cent. additional to the Daily rate.

CONDENSED ADVERTISING (classified)— One cent. a word each insertion; 10 per cent. discount for six or over consecutive insertions. Cash with order, no advancement inserted for less than 25c.

BUSINESS OR PROFESSIONAL CARDS—
Of four lines or under, $2 per month.
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS—At each, including insertion in the Daily and one of the Semi-Weekly editions.

No advertisement charged to account for less than $1.

$25.00 REWARD!

WILL BE PAID FOR SUCH INFORMATION AS WILL LEAD TO THE CON-VICTION OF ANY ONE STEALING THE COLONIST NEWSPAPER FROM THE DOOR OF A SUBSCRIBER.

THE POLICE STRIKE.

It is not too much to say that the news that the miners in the coal mines of the Crow's Nest Coal Company were again on strike, received with a shiver of dismay by everyone interested in the mining industry in this province, and who is not interested?
At the present time of writing we have no means of dealing with the merits of the strike because the information available is too meagre. But it is a fact that it is long-continued, have only to be indicted to be fully realized. This year began with very bright prospects for the mining industry, particularly in the copper-gold mining districts. It was only a few days or two ago that we chronicled an output of over 15,000 tons from the Boundary district for one week, while Rossland also is steadily maintaining it.
The outlook also for lead mining and smelting is distinctly more favorable. A better tone in the industry has been noticeable everywhere, a plucking up of heart and improvement of credit amongst a large number of people in the province who, during the last two or three years, have, from various causes, suffered severely and undeservedly. Now the basic industry which supports perhaps a third and certainly a quarter of the entire white population of British Columbia, is as dependent upon the regular supply of coal and coke from the Crow's Nest fields, as a fish upon water, or an animal upon air to breathe. It is evident therefore that whatever may be the causes which have brought about this strike, the supply brought about such conditions about, are matters of very serious concern to the province at large. The stoppage of work in the Crow's Nest mines is not a matter affecting merely the Crow's Nest Coal Company and its employees. It is a matter intimately affecting the prosperity of every one in the province, a matter calculated to spread wide bankruptcy and ruin amidst those who have no concern with the cause of the dispute. This is the effect of all strikes, we admit, but is very few is the interest of the outsider so direct and unmistakable as it is here. If this labor difficulty is prolonged, what happened in the Pennsylvania coal strike is bound to be repeated here also, on a smaller scale. There, industry all through the Eastern States became dislocated, and the public interest became so insistent that the President of the United States was obliged to intervene. Here the mining and smelting industries of a large part of the province are bound, in the event of a long-continued dispute, to be paralyzed, and what means to British Columbia may be more easily imagined than described. We do not wish to judge of the merits of the dispute. We know nothing of the rate of wages paid, and nothing about the conditions of employment at Fernie. All we wish to emphasize is that the public is a party to this dispute which threatens to involve our mining industry in its disastrous conse-

Piles

To prove to you that Dr.
Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, we have prepared a special cure for you. You can use it and get your money back if you do not feel better. Write to us for a box, at all dealers or EDWARDS, BATES & CO., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

quences; and that sooner or later, the public will insist upon having some voice in the terms of its accommodation; and that the public will naturally look to the government to represent its interest in the matter. If this labor trouble can be settled between the parties immediately concerned, every one in British Columbia will breathe a sigh of heartfelt relief, and, as the easiest and best means of escape from consequences most injurious to the province, we should strongly advocate a spirit of mutual accommodation, good feeling, and frank interchange of views between the parties immediately affected, between employer and employed. We are perhaps a little old-fashioned in our views upon labor disputes. A fair field and no favor, and "let them fight it out" are generally the conditions which make for lasting peace and a better mutual understanding. But where the public is immediately and most seriously affected, the public will undoubtedly assert its right of having something to say. The continual recurrence of labor disputes is the skeleton in the cupboard of our twentieth century civilization. No nation has yet solved the problem of their prevention. The honest legislation of New Zealand has not yet by any means been finally tested. But justice, courage, tact and mutual forbearance can do a very great deal to mitigate their disastrous effects.

THE WAR CLOUD IN EUROPE.

In the Venezuelan trouble the protocols have been signed by the allies. We have only a dim and hazy notion of what a protocol is, and its significance is to us to some extent mysterious. But we recognize it as some sort of agency by which matters are relegated from the possibility of violence to the safe, if not to the sure, of diplomacy. So that once more all is serene in South America. The United States Senate has also ratified the Alaskan Boundary Treaty, with what appears to us as suspicious alacrity. We know the United States Senate, and the point of view from which it approaches international questions in which the interests of the United States are concerned. It has always manifested a certain obliquity of vision towards principles of abstract justice under such circumstances, which makes us doubt the sudden conversion involved in its acceptance of a treaty if that treaty was as fair to Canada as it is advantageous to the United States. At the same time, we believe Theodore Roosevelt to be a just and honorable man. If he has been able to commit the Senate to a just and honorable treaty, it does him very great credit and the Senate also. However, there are certain elements in the Senate from whom we would rather have seen opposition to the treaty than a ready acquiescence.
"Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes." Yet we are bound to hope for the best; only it is a little hard to believe that Canada is not going to be "cheated" again.
While the sky in the Western Hemisphere is clearing rapidly, in the Eastern Hemisphere there are gathering clouds.
If the spark set in the Balkan states starts a decent conflagration, Russia is involved in its acceptance of the treaty putting upon Constantinople and settling all Europe in a blaze. If Russia attempts anything of the kind, she will have Germany, Austria and Italy, and naturally, Turkey, against her. Because she will have Germany against her. Here are the materials for a war of precedented magnitude, and a European Armageddon. What part is directed towards Canada to play? According to a despatch we published yesterday morning, Premier Balfour is reported to have spoken as follows: "The Balkan states are now giving anxiety and the question can only be solved by common action upon the part of the great civilized nations. The European concert is clumsy, but it is better than isolated action. Mr. Balfour implored all those who had any command over the sources of public opinion to refrain from indulging in the easy talk of emulating jealousies, so easily formed and so difficult to allay." If this is a correct report, we do not like the tone of his remarks. It might be all very well for Great Britain to throw her influence on the side of Germany, Austria and Italy, if, by so doing, she were able to solve the trouble. But if such action were to mean that she would be committed to taking sides with them, if the trouble became incapable of peaceable adjustment, we fail to see what possible advantage could be gained for the British Empire by so doing. Russia could very easily be restrained by Great Britain after an exhausting struggle with Germany, Austria, Turkey and Italy; whereas, if Great Britain entered into such a struggle, the tendency of these other powers would be to make of her a cat-erpy to pull their chestnuts from the fire, because Great Britain would have a great deal more to lose in the event of defeat than any one of them, and also a great deal less to gain in the event of victory. We can hardly believe that Mr. Balfour is so foolish as to design to play ducks and drakes with the British Empire in a hazard of this dis-cription. We should have been better pleased to see a more firm adherence to Great Britain's traditional policy of aloofness from European affairs. The desire of the British Empire entirely transcends the issue of European international politics, and the last thing loyal Britons should desire would be to see it jeopardized by immersion in any such issues.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature has been called to meet for the despatch of public business on the 12th of March, which is as early as was consistent with the engagements of the Premier to the President of the Cuba government. The opposition to the government has endeavored to raise the cry that the government is afraid to meet the House, just as it endeavored to raise the cry that it is afraid to meet the electorate in the constituencies. This accusation is shown to be quite without foundation by the fact that the government has met the House with a Colonel Meakin cabinet, without any vacant seat at a date as early as possible under the special circumstances of this year.
We have no doubt that the government will retain the confidence of the House and the Legislature and of the country. It will face with the necessity of practical legislation in order that the wave of depression spreading over the whole

Northwest may be taken advantage of it is very unlikely that the country will view with any patience the efforts of those who would reduce its politics to an endless series of acrimonious personal squabbles. British Columbia now has a government with a definite programme on which it proposes to stand or fall. The House may reject its legislation and the country refuse to endorse it, but if so, the opposition must be rooted on the merits of the programme itself, and not upon the supposed demerits of those who have promulgated it. The policy of the government must be attacked, not the members of the government, and if the attack is to be successful it must put ideas equally concrete and attractive in the place of the government's policy.
It is impossible to successfully fight a policy of the government. Yet that is all the opposition has ever had to offer to the people of British Columbia.
Therefore, apart from its assurance of support in the House, which we understand are ample, the government is appealing to the common sense of the people as a whole, and can afford to contemptuously ignore an opposition which talks reason but the less it is able to accomplish.

THE COPPER QUESTION.

Copper is very slowly and gradually moving up. The reports of the visible copper in stock, this movement is not easy of comprehension. There is a general feeling in the stock in hand between this year and last, and the consumption of copper was exceptionally heavy during 1907. Those interested in the copper industry who are able to study the question from an inside point of view, declare that the difference in the situation is not in the stock of visible copper, but in the stock of invisible copper. Invisible copper may strike the consumer as a somewhat peculiar phrase. But what it refers to is the stocks of copper held by the large consumers which have been taken off the market, but have not yet been used. Before the high prices in copper, it was the custom for large consumers to lay in considerable stocks when a favorable opportunity arose.
During the recent exceptional prices these stocks were exhausted and not renewed. Nor have they been renewed since, as there was a general expectation that the slump in copper would carry its price lower than it actually went. So that when the market for stock of copper is actually almost as large as last year, it now represents all the industry has to come to the market, whereas in previous years it did not.
The conditions under which production in the big mines is being carried on are causing the market to favorably view. From year to year costs are increasing, and most of the big mines would rather produce at a loss than mine copper at ten or eleven cents.
There is a disposition to regard fourteen cents as a fair standard price for copper, and undoubtedly the big producers are bending their energies to reach and maintain this standard. The small producers are also anxious to reach this cent, copper British Columbia wants nothing better. There is not a copper mine in the province which is not making handsome profits with copper at that price, and there are many properties which will readily accept of this price as a basis for development. Under the development of capital for this enormous quantity of capital poured in to that country during the last eighteen months, Mexico is becoming quite a factor in the production of copper ores and matte, its exports to the United States are increasing, and it is the big mines control the market, and their production is so enormous, compared with the output of the other countries, that a price at which they can live is likely in the upshot to be established and maintained.

HOW WE LOSE TRADE.

The following letter from the Sidney correspondent of the Monetary Times gives a very accurate account of how Canada is losing trade to the United States. It is well worth the attention of merchants and shippers alike to heart:
"I cannot send you a Christmas letter, but I can send you a Christmas letter which will let you know how we are losing trade to the United States. I have obtained the permission of the Commissioner for Canada to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is always a happy one, particularly after the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The record of our trade with the United States following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey and
Larke, to print some of his recent experiences. It will be seen that the lot
of the Canadian is not a happy one. It is
always a happy one, particularly after
the arrival of a Canadian steamer. The
record of our trade with the United States
following on the arrival of the
last steamer may not be unprofitable.
First, a telephone message to Mr.
Larke, that Messrs. McKelvey