INTEGRITY OR REPUDIATIONed membrandum of facts relating to the Esplanade question was laid before the Railway Committee of the Privy Counci on Thursday last which places that question in an entirely new light. " It seems that on April 24, 1886, Mr. Van wrote a letter to the Mayor of Toronto, from which we make the following

ronto, from which we make the following extracts:

This company has acquired for freight and passenger depot purposes in Toronto the greater portion of the property south of the issplannade, between York and Yonge-streets.

I have the honor to suggest to Your Worship and the City Conneil the desirability of the construction of two elevated roadways between Front-street and the water-front, one along the east side of York-street and the other along the west side of York-street and the other along the west side of York-street and the other along the west side of York-street and the other along the rest side of York-street and the other along the rest side of York-street and the other along the rest side of York-street and the other along the rest side of Yorge-street.

It is the intention of the company to improve its entire property between York and Yonge-streets and out to the old windmill line in the most substantial manner.

A plan showing the proposed improvements in detail is being prepared and will be submitted to Your Worship in a few days.

The proposed improvement, in addition to giving the C.P.R. Company access to the city of Toronto, would remove all danger to the thousands of people who are obliged every day to cross the railway tracks to reach the water-front and will be a most handsome and destrable addition to the city of Toronto.

I trust that the plan will be approved by the City Conneil and that an agreement may be reached whereby the city and the several railway companies shall contribute in an equitable way to the cost of the viaduct.

On the 18th of October, 1887, Mr. Van Horne again wrote the Mayor setting out the

The C. P. R. Co. had every reason to be tieve that the question of its occupation of the water-front between Yonge and York-streets had been finally and definitely ap-roved of by the City Council and was a settled matter. It has spent in the acquisiion of and improvements upon the property bout $300,000, and all its arrangements from hat time to this have been predicated upon he finality of the proceedings of the City Council. It is utterly frivolous and useles or the Mayor or any other member of the council to say that "he was not aware it" or "had forgotten" the above resolution. A corporation cannot any more than an advidual repudiate its solemn obligations, specially where they have been acted upon

The reason for this was that the United States had a discriminatory duty on tea and coffee of ten per cent on goods not imported direct from countries of growth, and to induce reciprocity between the United States and Canada in these commodities Sir Francis Hincks offered free trade and gave it.

The McKinley Bill STRIKES

A Strike is a declaration of Industrial War, and as such cannot but embody a certain amount of evil. If it could be traced to its true source that source would prove to be evil. But we are told by a sage, who has discerned the constitution of things for all time, that "there is a soul of good in things evil." The truth of that saying is verified in human experience. If there were no evil to combat me share to evil to combat, no abuse to reform and no higher development to attain, goodness would have no opposite, and therefore could not be known through contrast or comparison,

Strikes entail bitter suffering and loss. Anything of the nature of war is certain to do that to both sides. The lessons are deep and practical to both parties, not easily to be forgotten. Experience teaches there are faults on either side, wrongs inflicted, extravagant demands and violations of the moral and individual right of freedom.

reedom. As a nation the United States is going from bad to worse. The condition of the working-man is being made harsher by The condition of the workingman is being made harsher by that monstrous wrong known as the McKinley Bill, it will intensify the struggle for existence and will make the workingman's life more miserable. It is simply a strike in favor of further prohibition of trade. If there is any merit or virtue in such a war against trade the strike should be for absolute or total prohibition of trade with the outside word. In that case "the soul of good in the evil" would be the more quickly realized, because the evil would be the immediate cause of its own destruction. Talk as we may about the extravagant demands of workingmen in their strikes they are insignificant as compared with the Infamous and ruinous strikes of protective governments. A keen British statesman observed upon the passage of the Reform Bill of 1867, "Now we must educate our masters."

Germany did not triumph over France in 1870 because our masters."

Germany did not triumph over France in 1870 because of the genius of one Moltke, but because every soldier in the German Army was a type of Moltke in the system. Every individual in that army is a factor in the unity of the Fatherland; so likewise is every workingman—not a drone—but a factor in the recreation of the world. Let him, therefore, be educated in the sphere of sympathy, kindness, justice and freedom and then his manhood will be on a par with his brotherhood. But that nation or people are ripe for slavery or revolution But that nation or people are ripe for slavery or revolution who permit their government to roll up a surplus of $700,000,000, and who, instead of demanding a remission of taxation, submit to McKinley bills, greater taxation and heavier burdens. The McKinley Bill, however, may prove the last straw, or the darkest incident before the dawn of a brighter day. If industrial war brings about an economy that will embrace mankind in one grand monopoly, then must it be regarded as the most powerful agent of human progress in this our day and generation.

The Conference will be To-morrow. The Conference will be To-morrow.

It had been arranged on Saturday that the aldermen and city officials who went down to Ottawa on the Esplanade matter last week would meet President Van Horne of the C.P.R. in the city to-day at 2 o'clock and go over the alternative site with him. However yesterday morning Mayor Clarke received a telegram from Mr. Van Horne stating that he would not be able to be in the city to-day and in consequence the conference has been postponed until to-morrow.
