THE KING-STREET PARADE. Bright Shop Windows and Well Dress

Few can resist a stroll on King-street Saturday afternoon, especially when it is a fine day and the ladies time to get it. Saturday is Dineens hig hat day. Watch the doors and you will see well-groomed young men issuing forth with the latest shapes from New York or London upon their heads. Fedoras are very popular for this time of the year. They can be made to fit very tight to the head on a windy day and avoid a humiliating chase after a rolling Christy. They are being worn in more shades this year than ever before and Dineen received several cases of new shades on Thursday, which have just been opened up. A light brown shade styled "Ceylon" is the premier color, and we are not overestimating when we say that there will be a run on these hats, they are very catchy. We will enumerate some shades in stock: Black, tobacco brown, French brown, otter brown, seal brown, steel grey, grey and brown mixtures. The hats are trimmed with bands of the same color and bands of a lighter shade, which are very attractive, and the lot just arrived is made in advance for the holiday trade. The stiff hats are kept it same shades. coliday trade. The stiff hats are kept in same shades. Dineens are agents for Henry Heath's English hats and Dunlap's American make. There are also tourist, traveling and bicycle caps, crush and opera hats as well as la-dies' Derby and gentlemen's silk riding hats.

The Ministers, together with Sir John Carling, took a position at the head of the rooms and a continuous procession of ladies and gentlemen were presented to them during the marked that Hon. John Haggart created quite an impression for the suavity and general good nature that beamed from his smiling countenance during this little social function. Sir John Carling was politeness and sir John Carling was politeness and elegance itself; that goes without saying. Hon. When he first took the matter in hand he found it necessary to work up a big lot of enthusiasm. This he proceeded to do in a business-like way. Organization and Capital.

The club was organized under the Provincial Act, the capital stock being placed at $20,000.

The stock, or a sufficient quantity of it at least, was readily taken up in small lots, so that the financial interest in the club is well distributed. It was the intention of the club to erect a new building, but an oportunity of renting the old Mechanics' Intuity of renting the old Mec rect a new building, but an oportunity of renting the old Mechanics' Institute in Dundas-street, at a low rate, presented itself and the club secured it on a six years' lease.

One of the most satisfactory statements that can be made regarding the club house is the fact that not a cent is owing on any part of the whole outfit. The club is in good financial shape. Since the subscription books were opened six weeks ago, nearly 3000 members, at a dollar each, have been enrolled.

If the club keeps on as it has started out, it has a successful future ahead of it.

The number of ladies who visited the rooms during the afternoon was a noticeable feature of the reception.

The Ministers, together with Sir John Carling, took a position at the ed as a centre of politics in western On-tario. He congratulated the ladies on the interest manifested by them in the success of the Liberal Conservative

The hon, gentleman directed the attention of his audience to a few questions concerning Canada.
