Menard, Clerical staff, annual salary $4,021.

5. The royal commission's report to the government will appear in 5 parts, each contained in a separate volume or group of volumes. Part I will be the main one; it will direct attention to the present state of the pilotage legislation in Canada, will report on its pilotage legislation in Canada, will report on its adequacy or otherwise in the light of existing conditions as disclosed by the evidence and will recommend the basic changes that should be made in the law, including the pilotage organization, to meet the present and foreseeable requirements of the pilotage service. The commission expects to be in a position to present this first part of its report to the government in about 6 to 8 weeks. The other parts of the report, which will be in the nature of supporting documents, will report on the factual situation in each of the 25 pilotage districts in Canada, including those on the great lakes. These separate reports (part II-part V) will be submitted to the government progressively as they are completed, which it is expected may take another year.
