

- Smet, De, on the religious belief of the Indians, i. 43.
- Smith, on Galissonnière's plan to people New France, i. 68; on the English traders at Sandusky, i. 76; on the narrow-minded Indian policy of the New York Assembly, i. 78; on the wilderness of the Mississippi Valley, i. 162.
- Smith, James, the ranger, on Beaujeu's ambuscade, i. 114; on the Indian atrocities, ii. 94; in the defence of the Pennsylvania frontiers, ii. 106; sketch of, ii. 106, 107; leads the Paxton men against the traders, ii. 293, 294; his narrative, ii. 296.
- Smith, Matthew, leads the Paxton men against Conestoga, ii. 130; the attack, ii. 131; the massacre, ii. 131; forces Elder from his attempt to restrain the Paxton men, ii. 134; in the expedition against Philadelphia, ii. 147; at Germantown, ii. 158; appointed by the Paxton men to treat with the Pennsylvania government, ii. 160, 162; lays a "declaration" and a "remonstrance" before the Assembly, ii. 165; refused a public conference, ii. 166; ii. 388; the text of the memorial presented by, ii. 393-399.
- Smith (son of Matthew), ii. 131.
- Smith, Dr. William, on the battle of Bushy Run, ii. 75; the chronicler of Bouquet's expedition, ii. 259; his estimate of Bouquet, ii. 259.
- Smith, William, Jr., on the keen and subtle genius of Pontiac, i. 266; on Amherst and Gage, ii. 112.
- Smollett, on Spotswood's plan to rescue the Ohio Valley, i. 102; on the capture of French ships by the English, i. 109; on MacDonald's presence of mind before Quebec, i. 139; ii. 34, 35.
- Smyth, Edward, on the defence of Fort Presqu'isle, i. 296; on Christie's escape from the Indians, i. 297; on the state of the frontier, ii. 90.
- Soc, Bill, death of, ii. 163, 375; ii. 376, 377.
- Sock, Will, see Soc, Bill.
- Solomons, the trader at Michilimackinac, i. 344; the demands of the Ottawas, i. 344; prepares to resist, i. 344; the timely arrival of the troops, i. 344.
- Sorcerers, Indian, ii. 180.
- Sorel River, the, i. 70, 147.
- Southern Louisiana, the tribes of, ii. 286; Pontiac's embassy in, ii. 286.
- Southern tribes, the, totems among, i. 9.
- Southwestern tribes, the, treatment accorded to prisoners by, ii. 252.
- Spain, signs the Peace of Paris, i. 204; the territory transferred by France to, ii. 272.
- Spangenburg, August Gottlieb, attends the great council at Onondaga, i. 12.
- Spaniards, the, capture Fort Michilimackinac, i. 170; masters of Upper Louisiana, i. 170; Saint-Ange offers his services to, ii. 325.
- Sparks, on the building of the "Griffin," i. 62; on La Salle taking possession of the Mississippi Valley, i. 65; on the Indians' disgust for Gist, i. 102;