

ERRATA

At the foot of page 14 after -- Where does he -- add:
see all this ? It is not in his nature, essentially subject to change .
It is not in the dispositions of his soul, because it is full of injustice .
It is then in God, that he sees all this . In God from whence proceeds all laws of justice and the entire truth. The just man sees justice in God and receives its holy impressions in his soul, if the impious man conceives the laws of morality, it is because he is touched by the divine light, from which however he is turned away .

At the head of page 17 FAUSTINUS speaks.

“ “ 19 instead of allow read: ELBOW.