

wisdom." Resolute thoughts find words for themselves, and make their own vehicle. Impression and expression are relative ideas. He, who feels deeply, will express strongly. The language of slight sensations is naturally feeble and superficial.