OUR MONETARY DISTRESSES—THEIR LEGISLATIVE CAUSE AND CURE.

"If political economy is against us, then are we against political economy."—Late speech of a Working Man in Hyde Park.

"This that they call 'organizing of labor' is, if well understood, the problem of the whole future for all who will pretend to govern men."—THOMAS CARLYLE.

"Peelism seems altogether incapable of seeing that in all countries the goodness or popularity of a government is just in the proportion that it sides with the labor, as opposed to the money power—seeing that to the moneyed class the monetary distress of the country is prosperity—low wages, or want of employment, and high-priced money being convertible terms, and vice versa."—From an article of ISAAC BUCHANAN, in the "Glasgow Examiner," of 4th November, 1848.

"—— Tentanda via est, qua me quoque possim,

"Tollere humo.—VIRGIL.

"Canada, too, must independently attempt something, must strike out some path or method, by which she may raise herself from the ground—by which she may rise into celebrity—by which she may soar aloft."
