

you can just as easily make friends.

And so when I came up to the foreigner in the stable yard I wagged my tail, and we rubbed noses and went in together to see Master's charger, Kildare. I found the foreign chap was nearly as sorry about Master as I was. It wasn't the same sorrow, you know, but it was very real.