Judgment: The plaintiffs procured an offer in writing from one John G. Poster addressed to the defendant offerings to purchase the property at $60,000, which the defendant accepted, but subsequently Foster refused to carry out the purchase and he did not in fact purchase, and the defendant did not receive any purchase money from Foster. The plaintiff's contention is that immediately upon a contract of purchase and sale being made thru the intervention and agency of the plaintiff, acting for the defendant, they, the plaintiffs, became entitled to their commission, no matter whether the actual purchase and sale

Pastor Russell's Sermon

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 12.—
"Simon son of Jonas, lovest thou Me more than these?"—John xxi, 15-17.

The context shows that these words were addressed by the Redeemer to St. Peter on the occasion of His third manifestation to His disciples after His resurrection. This was presumably three or four weeks after the Master's resurrection from the dead. His manifestations to the women on the morning of His resurrection and His later manifestation to the two as they went to Emmaus are evidently not counted, but the manifestation the same evening in the upper room, when all the disciples except Thomas and Judas were present, is counted the first. And the manifestation a week later, Thomas being present, is counted the second.

The delay in giving this third manifestation was evidently for the purpose of testing the faith of the apostles and of leading them to reach a conclusion respecting their future course, which Jesus wished to correct. So far as we can understand the record, at least two Sundays passed without any further manifestation of Jesus to His disciples, and then, giving up hope, they decided to return to the fishing then had indeed had evidences of the Master's resurrection; they had had the Scriptures called to their attention which proved that this was necessary and that God had previously so arranged. They had hoped for further conferences with Jesus and that He would tell them definitely what to do. Instead, left to themselves, they were thoroly disheartened. They had left all to follow Him, to tell the people that He was the Son of God, the long-promised Messiah, and that He would soon set up His Kingdom, which would bring blessings, primarily to Israel, and, secondarily, thru Israel, to all the families of the earth, in harmony with the Abrahamic Covenant. Inem to learn the lesson. They knew instinctively that the unknown stranger upon the shore was their Master.

All interest had just centered in the fishing business, but now boats and fish and nets all lost their value in the estimation of these fishermen! Here was their risen Lord, for whose third appearance they had been waiting now nearly three weeks! Fearing that the Master would disappear, even before he could get to Him, Saint Peter plunged into the sea and swam ashore. To his surprise the stranger already had it fish, and had them cooked, and all were shore of Galilee.

The stranger had not the clothing by which they had known their Lord, neither did He have the marks of the nails in His hands and feet, that they might thus identify Him. This was a love. Jesus replied, "Feed my lambs."
Then came the question a second reply was, "Lord Thou knowest all things! Thou knowest that I affer-tionately love Thee!" The Lord's reply was, "Feed My Sheep."

Have not Christians in general over looked this important lesson, namely that the chief work of the ministers and under-shepherds of the Lord's flock during this Age is to "feed the flock". Is it not true that comparatively little feeding is being done? On the contrary the thought usually received by usa the thought usually received by new converts is, Now you are saved, a evangelize, and bring others to Christ especially bring money, for with plenty of it we can convert the world,
