I orthodoxy as odious as that of seological craft, and as imperto new light as at any time in ast. The rejection of Dr. Matrices, did not err on the side of expression. He was anabled to report the past. The rejection of Dr. Macalum by the Academy of Medicine is the greatest stigma that honorable body has placed upon litself yet. Dr. Reeve did himself honor by signifying that he had neither part nor lot in the transaction. But the public who have to be pilled and potioned and inoculated at the pleasure of these men would like to know who they are who are too small to belong to the same club as the biggest man in their profession in Canada. The people will probably feel safer in the hands of men who do not belong to the Academy of Medicine in future.

President, Mr. R. B. Angus, in his address, did not err on the side of exagreration. He was enabled to report "8 year of universal and almost unbroken prosperity thruout the length and breadth of the land." Nor was he unwarrantably optimistic regarding the immediate future, altho he gave a deserved warning to that class of promoters who attempt to take advantage of the high standard of Canadian credit to carry flotations intrinsically unsound. Canadian banks can render invaluable assistance in protecting Canadian credit just as much as they can do in assisting Canadian development. Their policy is closely watched, and it is satisfactory to be assured by the president of the Bank of Montreal that Canada has not yet exhausted her borrowing capacity or overpledged her security.

ART WILL SURVIVE.

A gentleman who has recently dropped the title of reverend has been straying in the corridors and galleries of the Normal School for the first time in his life. This intimation that his education had been neglected in youth enables one to understand his surprise and the expression of his eyes when he first came face to face with the works of the sculptural masters of antiquity. He gave vent to his feelings before the Toronto-Vigilance Association, a body assembled for the MUNICIPAL LIGHTING DAYS.

Orange Order Said to Be Behind Complaint Against the Rockwood Asylum.

Church of the Good Thief (Roman Catholic), Portsmouth, by Rockwood Asylum, caused complaints to be made to Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary. The latter had one of the members of the legislature here to make a report regarding the matter as the minister stated no permission had been given by his department for free water for the church. As far as can be learned the church has not paid a cent for water in the last if years, but it is understood that as a result of the matter being investigated a charge will now be made.

It is reported that the demand for the investigation came from members of the Orange Order.

admittedly entitled to rank as a further sum of $400. Judgment: I do not think that the true meaning of the compromise is as found by the master. It is elementary that there cannot be double ranking in a liquidation. The claim of the bank was entitled to rank once and once only. If the sureties paid before the claim was filed, they might rank, but after the bank proved its claim the sureties could not also prove, but upon payment they would be subrogated to the bank's rights. As the bank had agreed to compound the claim against the liquidator, the sureties can have no higher rights than the bank itself had. Appeal allowed, and the liquidator should be entitled to his costs against the respondents. There should be no costs of the proceedings in the master's office, as there success was divided.
