

Any kind of hat you set out for, except those that're made merely to sell.

You get what you pay for as a usual thing. There are plenty of stores that harp on mere cheapness. Why should a lady pay up to $25.00 for a hat, and a man be satisfied with something for a dollar or two?

If you want satisfaction, come to the best store.

GRANTS AN INJUNCTION NOW TO PREVENT TROUBLE LATER

A temporary injunction was yesterday granted by Judge Anglin, restraining the National Club from building a wall up in their new clubhouse, which would cut off the lights of the Loan Company's building.

Judge Anglin said it was better to grant a temporary injunction now than to embarrass the club later on when the building was completed, by waiting for a trial of the case. He considered that a case of intended substantial interference with what were admittedly "ancient lights" had been established. Plaintiffs, however, must bring the action to a speedy trial.

(King Edward Hotel), at the close of the market. The report to be issued by the department of agriculture on Monday gives conditions of the crop on Aug. 22 and nothing else. We expect this report to be a favorable indication of the possible yield, as nothing has taken place according to reports received during the month to indicate even a normal loss in producing power. The crop is regarded as a deterrer. The crop is regarded as a deterrer. The crop is regarded as a deterrer.

Bradstreet's Trade Review.

Montreal trade reports to Bradstreet's say: with cooler weather and the coming on of new operations throughout the country, general wholesale trade is beginning to show more activity. The trade of the summer has been good. The continued hot weather has favored the clearance of retail stocks. This is especially true of the dry goods trade, which shows a marked increase in activity. It is expected, therefore, that the fall trade will be heavy. Retailers, however, still carry heavy stocks of last winter's goods which will, no doubt, affect the later demand for those lines. Groceries are moving fairly well. Manufacturers are active and firm. Manufacturers throughout the country continue busy and active. It is not sufficiently general to cause any fear. The farmers and all branches of the community are in a prosperous condition. Labor is high and there is none too much of it offering. Values of commodities generally hold steady to firm. The export demand for butter and cheese is brisk and receipts are light and prices firm. Hides are firm on light offerings, while the demand for leather is fair. Cattle and hogs are steady to easy. There are no indications of a shortage of any of the principal commodities. Toronto reports to Bradstreet's say: There is a brisk tone to all lines of trade here due largely to large crowds of country dealers who are in town attending the annual exhibition and who take the opportunity to place orders with the wholesalers. The city retail trade has also picked up very heavily. Dry goods' houses are holding military openings and are reporting a record-breaking trade generally. Staples are also moving well. Cottons and woollens hold firm. Groceries continue a little quiet, but the prospects are bright for a good fall business. Sugars and dried fruits are very firm. Building lines of hardware are in active demand, owing to the continued great activity in the building trade. There is also big country demand for general lines. Values are steady to firm. General country trade is beginning to show more activity. The harvest has been a good one and the farming community is expected to be an unusually heavy consumer of goods. Collections are already showing improvement. Values of farm products continue firm. Butter and cheese prices are tending upwards, receipts being light. Some demand for export cattle has developed and all kinds are firm. Hog prices are lower. Hides and tallow are very firm. Leather is higher and boot and shoe manufacturers announce a demand of about 20 per cent on fall and winter lines.

White Bear Mine Report. The directors of the White Bear Mining Company have just issued very satisfactory report of the progress and development which has resulted since June 15. The report is practically a repetition of the superintendent's report, and will be most gratifying to the shareholders. The prediction is made that a few months' steady, systematic development will put the mine on a dividend-paying basis, and repeat the history of some of its famous neighbors. Shipments of high-grade ores are made in course of development, but regular shipments are expected to be made before the end of the present year, and continue permanently. Superintendent's month points out that the mine is improving right along. He found recently another chute of ore assaying from $12.50 to $25.00 per ton. Another shipment of one (one hundred tons) went forward to the smelter on Aug. 27. A machine drill was started on the 26th of July and met a fine chute of ore. It is fifteen feet wide, and of this ten feet is ore for mining. He has gone ahead on this ore about 30 feet, and ore is still good on the face of the drift. The assay results from this ore are picked sample $38.89 per ton, and grab sample $20.12. The returns from this first shipment are over $2.50 per ton, net, after paying for all charges. The second shipment of 110 tons has just been reported by the superintendent and gives over $10 per ton after paying freight and smelting charges. This is eminently satisfactory.

Railway Earnings. Continued increases reported by the different railway and other transportation companies reflect the general prosperity of the country. The latest statement of earnings to hand is that of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway Company and its component companies for August, as furnished by Messrs. A. G. McMillan & Co., McKinnon Building. They are as follows: Passenger earnings, 1905, $29,177,74; 1906, $30,800,95; increase, $1,623,21; freight earnings, 1905, $385,510; 1906, $961,733; increase, $576,223.

EVIDENCE AT WALKERTON.

What Was Alleged Against H. I. Henderson as Being Fraudulent

The Bruce Herald, Walkerton, gives the following account of the proceedings in the Henderson case there: "As one of the magistrates in the case had remarked a couple of days previously that Henderson was a sound business man, it is not surprising that he was sent up for trial. Also in view of the extraordinary proceedings ever since the inception of the trouble they probably thought it best to send him up with the hope of creating the impression that their former actions were justifiable.

The first witness examined was Adam Stelling. He gave Henderson two notes last September at three and six months for $700 each. For doing this he said he expected to receive $1500 when the notes were due. He got a share of stock valued at $1500. It was impossible to make out from Mr. Stelling's evidence whether or not he bought a share of stock or whether he was to get $1500 for going on a tour of inspection.

Henry Pepler of Hanover paid $1200 for a $1600 share. The $300 was allowed on his share apparently because he had assisted in having made a sale of roller bearings. He bought because he thought he was getting a bargain, and that Dr. Taylor would have to pay $1400 for a share of the same value. J. H. Adams was called for the purpose of getting $100 for going on a tour of inspection. The magistrates decided not to allow evidence of that nature.

Before giving their decision in the Stelling case, the Pepler case was taken up. Mr. Pepler made such a poor witness that he collapsed before he left the witness box. To the astonishment of all disinterested parties, Henderson was then sent up for trial on the Stelling case. His own bail was accepted. A higher court has been appealed to, to set aside the decision of the magistrates. Most of the ground that the evidence did not warrant their action."
