

A wholesome spread,
for a slice of Bread.
The Kiddies "just love"
CROWN BRAND
CORN SYRUP
Its pure—give them lots of it!
At all grocers in 3 pound Perfect Quart Jars or 2, 5, 10 and 20 pound tins.
Write for free
Cook Book.
THE CANADA STARCH CO.
LIMITED,
MONTREAL

"Get Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force by Taking Blood-Iron Salts,"
Says Dr. Boudousque

NEW YORK.—For many years physicians and scientists have hoped that some genius of the medical world would discover a harmless compound that would put increased strength and endurance into the dilapidated bodies of those who are delicate, nervous, run-down, or lacking in healthy tissue and power of endurance.

Gabriel Boudousque, M.D., the well-known New Orleans author, who has traveled extensively in France, Italy and Austria, says: "Any medical compound to be effective in restoring wasted nerve energy, to strengthen health and health must contain ingredients for eliminating the poisonous poisons, for restoring the exhausted nerves, for increasing the blood corpuscles. There is nothing that will bring about these desired results more quickly than Blood-Iron-Salts, and I learned that this remarkable substance was just what my own nervous system, blood and body needed. I now advise its use in a vast number of cases, and it would be a good thing if it did not increase strength and health in four weeks' time. There are countless similar cases. The Blood-Iron-Salts can be obtained in this good Standard Drug Company and other good drug stores."

"CASCARETS" FOR HEADACHE, COLDS,
LIVER, BOWELS
Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy and constipated.

Get rid of bad breath, sour stomach, coated tongue, indigestion.

Get a 10-cent box now.
They're fine! Cascarets give you liver, clean your thirty feet of bowels and sweeten your stomach. You eat one or two, like candy, before going to bed and in the morning your head is clear, tongue in clean, stomach sweet, breath right and gold gone. Get a box from your druggist and enjoy the best, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Cascarets stop sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath and constipation.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to cross, bilious, sick, feverish children any time. They are harmless and never grip or sicken.

OUTIGURA HEALS
BAD DISFIGUREMENT

Very Itchy. Burned at Night.
Could Scarcely Sleep.
Healed in One Week.

"My face became very red and swollen and broke out in watery blisters.
Then it got very itchy and I could not sleep. I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in about a week's time I was completely healed."
(Signed) Lloyd Brady, Breckenridge, Que., May 25, 1917.

Skin troubles are quickly relieved by Cuticura. The Soap cleanses and purifies, the Ointment soothes and heals.
For Free Sample, Each by Mail add three post-cards: "Cuticura, Dept. A, Boston, U.S.A." Sold everywhere.

Good Health
good appetite, good spirits—mean no discord in the body.
To keep the organs in harmony—when there is need—use BEECHAM'S PILLS

of Any Medicine in the World.
Wherever. In boxes, 25c.

SOLDIERS RUSH FOR COUGH CURE IS PHENOMENAL

300 Storm One Store to Get Relief From Lung and Throat Tickling.

CONDEMNING BARRACKS

G. O. C., However, Declares
That No Official Complaints Have Been Registered.

Reports would indicate that the first move of the majority of soldiers attached at Queen's Park after getting out of barracks, was to buy a bottle of cough or throat medicine.

It is said that many of the men and in particular the drafted ones, are writing to their parents asking that the aid of the Government be applied to be sent to a drug store for a bottle of cough or throat medicine.

No Official Complaints.
Brig. Gen. Shannon, G. O. C. of the district, stated to The Advertiser that no complaint has been registered at Queen's Park barracks had been made for some time. He said that the men believe in what causes the irritation to their throats.

If these men have any ailment there is a doctor at the barracks to take care of it. The barracks are exceedingly cold.
The coal stoves are kept running hard night, with the result that the quarters are filled with coal gas. This men believe is what causes the irritation to their throats.

Big Run on Druggists.
Anderson & Nelles report three hundred soldiers customers each morning during the last couple of days. Friday night seems to have been the worst.
The druggists report a large number of requests for cough medicine from soldiers.

"We had about 50 in line one time on Friday night; all were hacking and coughing," said a clerk in Bruce Wallace's.

This condition of affairs was general according to other druggists, who all attended a large number of soldiers, all showing that the number affected must have been large.

INFANT MORTALITY
IN LONDON'S HIGH,
DECLARES DR. HILL

Over Two Hundred Born in 1916 Died Same Year.

BELGIUM RATE IS LOW

Economic Conditions Forced the Mothers to Nurse Their Babies.

Two addresses were heard at the regular meeting of the Ministerial Alliance Monday when Dr. H. W. Hill, M.
O. H., spoke on "Child Welfare" and Principal G. F. Rogers of the collegiate institute, gave a talk on "Educational Reform."

Dr. Hill presented some statistics indicating the high infant mortality in London. He asserted that 219 babies died in London during the first year of their lives in the year 1916, or 22 per cent of the total babies born in the year. Before the end of the year 1918 about fifty more will die at the present rate of mortality.

Losses at about the time of birth are about 8 per cent. These losses are due to poor physique of parents and lack of proper care of mothers before birth. Syphilis accounts for the death of many babies and mothers.

The speaker declared that the infant mortality in Belgium during the past year has been less than at any other time in the country's history. This is because economic conditions are such that mothers are forced to feed their babies with the breast in place of artificial feeding.

Principal G. F. Rogers, speaking on "Educational Reform," declared that the education of the farmer should be along the lines of the history of the world. He said that the world is to escape starvation, we must have our resources and intensify our agricultural activities. This only can be done by which we can do this efficiently with education. Some say that all a farmer requires is an elementary education. But the primary grades of learning should not represent the only education possessed by a farmer. He should be learned in the subjects of his vocation, just as much as a professor is in the subjects of his lectures.

The United States has practically abolished compulsory education. Principal Rogers said: "When we see the sophisticated, blasé product of the American high school, we wonder at the wisdom of abolishment of the high school good move toward better education," the speaker added.

He declared that the city council take action in having the theatres and dance halls of the city closed certain days during the week to conserve fuel.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN HAD AWFUL COUGHS

WERE CURED BY
DR. WOOD'S
NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Mrs. Arthur Appleyard, Novar, Ont., writes: "This past winter my children and I had awful colds and coughs which we got by being in drafts. I tried a number of different remedies for us, but got no relief. I thought I would try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and I found it a most excellent and sure cure.
It gave relief to the tickling in the throat and stopped the cough, and with a few bottles we were all cured."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is a remedy which has been on the market for over twenty-five years, and we can recommend it as being, without doubt, the best cure for coughs and colds that you can possibly procure.

There are a lot of imitations on the market, so when you ask for "Dr.
Wood's" see that you get it. Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees on the label; price, 25c and 50c; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Scenes At Official Opening of Soldiers' Wing of Byron Sanatorium

Upper picture by an Advertiser camera man shows what the new soldiers' wing of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

SOLDIERS' INFIRMARY FORMALLY OPENED BY DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE

Governor-General Hopes Time Is Coming When the White Plague Will Be Rooted Out Forever.

"When Sir Adam Beck was speaking, I noted his statement that since the first buildings of this sanatorium were erected some eight or nine years ago, the institution has been visited by every governor-general of Canada, and that each visit has marked some special development and extension. Coupled with this, the thought came into my mind that this is the sixth anniversary of the Confederation of Canada. Would n't it be a splendid thing, if, say 50 years hence, the governor-general addressing today, should find this difference, the work done and the doors closed, so far as the disease of tuberculosis is concerned, the horrible disease rooted out once and forever.
This is no idle dream. It can be made possible by steady education and development of public opinion. Those who have made possible this building and happiness here to know they had made possible freedom from this horrible disease for those who come after."

The foregoing striking statements were made yesterday afternoon by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, governor-general of Canada, in connection with the formal opening of the new Soldiers' Infirmary, which took place at 2 o'clock.

Big Crowd Out.
Hundreds of people responded to the invitation to the public to attend, and several big Springbank cars were required to transport the throngs of visitors to Springbank Park. There, at the end of the perfect winter day, blue birds were waiting to take all the passengers who could crowd in the rest of the winter. The Duke of Devonshire, who parties they were that dashed through the park over excellent roads, specially prepared for the day, and then, after Byron bridge and up again, a steep climb to the top of the hill, where the grounds of the new building, the home of those who were already waiting and standing around.

Dozens more soon arrived, those who had been unable to find room in the hard-beaten paths, through the park to the perfect winter day, blue birds above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to keep them from turning to ice, people were waiting to see the Duke of Devonshire, who had been waiting for him since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

Even while stamping their feet to
keep them from turning to ice, people
were waiting to see the Duke of Devon-
shire, who had been waiting for him
since the first of the winter. He was
above, sun glistering in the brilliant
snow, held in place by the bands of
the Duke of Devonshire.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

infirmary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Byron, looks like. The lower shows a section of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony awaiting arrival of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who officially opened the building.

GOVERNMENT IS OVERLOOKING A LOT OF CHANCES

Promise of Cutting Out Deadwood From Civil Service Is Cobwebbed.

MIGHT INJURE FRIENDS

There Are Bunches of Five and Six Thousand Dollar Barnacles at Ottawa.

[Special to The Advertiser.] OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—Ever since Hon.
F. B. Carvell announced that it was the purpose of the Government to comb out the civil service and divest it of dead wood, and ever since Hon. A. K.
MacLean, acting upon the suggestion, undertook to call all the deputies together to consult them with regard to the superfluity of employees in the various departments, the Government has been wishing that Mr. Carvell had refrained from making such a rash promise and that Mr. MacLean had left the deputies alone.

The trouble is that more of the dead wood is to be found among the higher branches of the services. Mr. MacLean took the department of external service, for instance. Nobody knows exactly what the functions of the department are. It is supposed to deal with all relations between the Canadian and other governments, but so light has been the work that the portfolio has always hitherto been held by the president of the Privy Council and premier.

A Well-Paid Bunch.
Today Hon. N. W. Rowell is president of the Privy Council, and the premier is minister of external affairs, and this is his elaborate staff.
Sir Joseph Pope, under-secretary of external affairs.
H. H. Baker, assistant deputy under-secretary of external affairs.
Col. Hugh Clark, M.P., parliamentary under-secretary for external affairs.
Le. Christie, counsel of external affairs.

The salaries of the elaborate staff average about $5,000 a year.
Nobody has yet been able to define the duties of Col. Hugh Clark, whose salary is $5,000 a year, plus $2,500 honorarium. Last session he was asked to question the Prime Minister, and beyond handing a few clippings to the premier from day to day, and acting as a secretary, he has done nothing.

In addition to the above between the sanctum of the premier and that of the president of the Privy Council, and the visitors who come to gain entry there are more "sentinels" and private secretaries, all of whom are grand array headquarters in France.

Now the Government might save the country $5,000 a year by abolishing these superfluous positions. But there is a difficulty. The holder of the position, E. M. Nicholson, who went on the job, handed out two carefully censored reports to the press. One of these purported to inform the public of the number of men secured under military service act. Instead of only serving to confuse, it cost $500 a statement.

Two statements in two months at the rate of $5,000 a year means that the country has been "soaked" at the rate of $500 a statement.
But Mr. Nicholson is related to Sir Thomas White, so he can't be "jopped." He is another of the "Tommy" war taxes on the Canadian people.

Then there is Hon. F. M. McCarry, parliamentary under-secretary for militia affairs, who draws $5,000 a year plus seasonal indemnity of $2,500.
Just what his duties are, no one knows, but he is a minister, an oversight minister, a military secretary, private secretary, and a militia counsellor. He has been at the post for years, and he is drawing his salary ever so long.

Mr. McCarry might be "jopped" off without seriously affecting the efficiency of the Government. But there is a difficulty. He is a minister, an over-sight minister, a military secretary, private secretary, and a militia counsellor. He has been at the post for years, and he is drawing his salary
ever so long.

As the cabinet totals 23 men, 15 of whom are law lords, the services of two legal luminaries might very well be dispensed with and the money saved for more urgent purposes. But there isn't a chance that such action will be taken until after the soldiers' vote has been counted, at least.

Then there are about a dozen commissioners doing work which the cabinet should be doing, or else doing no work at all. Of these, the Davidson commission, created in 1912 to inquire into the scandals of the old Borden Government, is still inquiring. This commission, it would appear, is to go on forever, and is to be a permanent tax on the people. The cost of this commission, which is a waste of money, is the old Borden regime have been eclipsed by the scandals of the new. The cost of this commission, which is a waste of money, is the old Borden regime have been eclipsed by the scandals of the new.

Very likely there is sufficient dead wood in the public service to fuel the fire of the public service. But the Government has so far failed to pass a law to prevent the growth of a rotten branch has yet been opened off.

CIVIL ENGINEERS CONVENED.
MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—The civil engineers of Canada are foregathering in the city today for the 32nd annual convention, which opened in the Society of Civil Engineers' room on Mansfield street morning. The convention will continue tomorrow and Wednesday.

Soothes & Heals CHAPPED HANDS

If you suffer with chapped hands, why not end it now, once and for all? Zam-Buk will do it!
This wonderful ointment soon ends the burning, smarting and soreness, and healing quickly follows. Not only so, but the regular use of Zam-Buk will prevent the recurrence of this distressing ailment, and keep the skin soft and smooth. People who have suffered for years with chapped hands have found a complete cure in Zam-Buk.
Mr. Osborne Blois, Business Manager of the "Dartmouth Patriot," Dartmouth, N.S., writes: "It gives me much pleasure to recommend Zam-buk as an absolutely sure cure for chapped hands. For five years I suffered with this affliction, and could find no cure until I used Zam-Buk." Mrs. Wm. Elstone, Jr., Hal-burton, Ont., writes: "Last winter my hands were very badly chapped. I used a lot of different remedies, but they only seemed to make my hands worse. Finally I tried Zam-Buk, which completely healed them."
Zam-Buk is equally good for chilblains, cold sores, cold cracks, and frost-bite, as well as all skin diseases and injuries. All druggists or Zam-buk Co., Toronto, 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

FREE Send this advertisement, name of paper, and a stamp (not return postage) to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, and free trial box will be sent you.

Zam-Buk EVERY HOME NEEDS IT

TURK WARSHIPS
DRIVEN ON MINE
BY THE BRITISH

The Breslau and Goeben Were Bent on Attacking When Stopped.

172 BRESLAU SURVIVORS Of 310 Men on Two British Monitors Lost, 132 Are Rescued.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—One hundred and seventy-two members of the crew of the Turkish cruiser Midilli, formerly the German Breslau, were rescued after the action between British and Turkish forces at the entrance to the Dardanelles, in which the Midilli was sunk. It was officially announced tonight.

Of the total of 310 men on the British monitor Raglan and the small monitor M-28, lost in the action, there are at present reported 132 survivors, the remainder being missing.

Both the Breslau and the cruiser Sultan Selim, formerly the German cruiser Midilli, were sunk. The Goeben was engaged, was mined, the statement adds. The Goeben is being continuously bombed by British aircraft in the narrow straits, where she stranded after she hit the mine.

The names of the British destroyers which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British destroyers which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British destroyers which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced.

The names of the British destroyers
which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British destroyers which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British
destroyers which rescued the survivors
of the Breslau were announced.

The names of the British destroyers
which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British destroyers which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British
destroyers which rescued the survivors
of the Breslau were announced.

The names of the British destroyers
which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British destroyers which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British
destroyers which rescued the survivors
of the Breslau were announced.

The names of the British destroyers
which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British destroyers which rescued the survivors of the Breslau were announced. The names of the British
destroyers which rescued the survivors
of the Breslau were announced.