London Advertiser

Member Audit Bureau of Circulation. MORNING EDITION. Outside By Mail. City $4.00 per year. $6.00 per year.

NOON EDITION. $4.00 per year by mail.

EVENING EDITION. Outside By Mail, $6.00 per year. City $4.00 per year.

3670 TELEPHONE NUMBERS. 3670
Private Branch Exchange.
From 19:00 p.m. to 9:00 a.m., and holidays, call 3670, Business Department, 3671, Editors; 3672, Reporters; 3673. News Room.

Toronto Representative-F. W. Thompson, 57 U. S. Representatives-New York: Charles H. Eddy Company, Fifth Avenue Building. Chicago: Charles H. Eddy Company, People's Gas Building. Boston: Chas. H. Eddy Company, Old South Build-

THE LONDON ADVERTISER COMPANY,

London, Ont., Tuesday, Dec. 10.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

best advantage of the country, but there will be except politically. no quarrel with the Government if it follows the lead of the American Government in the matter of aiding technical education, vide for the appropriation of one hundred millions of dollars for the technical schools of the various states. The Dominion Government could secure no better guarantee for the industrial and commercial future of Canada than by setting aside an adequate sum for the use of the various provinces in technical education.

If the great trade expansion for which we are headed is to amount to anything we must spised, as by the planters and scientific educawithin the next few years supply our factories, mills and shops with thousands of trained workers. Canada will be asked to supply vast markets across both the Atlantic and Pacific, but unless we are prepared to meet this opportunity with an army of skilled producers we will be hopelessly distanced in the fierce competition that is shead. It has been suggested that the Federal Government appropriate twenty millions for the purpose of technical education, and no better investment could be imagined.

"AGAIN ONE" THREE NOTABLE GATH- victory peace. ERINGS.

D RITISH DAY in New York will long be remembered for "the good that it has done." Last Sunday was Great Britain's day. It will help to bring about a better feeling, a greater friendship, between the two greatest nations in the world.

"The Old First Presbyterian Church," Founded 1716." "The Sea."

For many years Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, died not wisely, but too well. formerly of Detroit, has been at the head of the old First Presbyterian Church. On Sunday one of the most outstanding and outspoken preachers in New York, Rev. the pantry? Dr. Hugh Black, delivered a very eloquent sermon on "The Sea." He is as truly Scotch and as loyal to Great Britain as any Scotchman that dollar class. over fought under the Union Jack, or marched behind the bagpipes. He told of being in London England, when the Lusitania was sunk. A reporter called to interview him. He asked him what he thought of it. He replied, "I think it's safer to be civilized than German. damnable." Then he added, "Perhaps for publieation you had better say "dastardly." He had not the full facts then, did not know that any lives had been lost, but on the Sunday following he addressed 3,000 people in one of the largest churches. He then had the facts, and referring to the interview, said he would like to take back the word "dastardly" and call it what it was, "damnable." He held that no nation in the world had a right to limit Great Britain on the seas. The seas were to Great Britain what the vast railways of America were to the United States.

because of the minds fishermen had. The sea produced minds that were impressionable and religious. The sea in normal times was full of danger and suffering. Great Britain had the best sailors in the world, but the Germans knew nothing of the ethics of the sea. He would not allow of Grimm's Fairy Tales. And doubtless little you belave it," said the Irishman, who until they repented. The British navy had been are dragons and monsters in disguise. the salvation of the world. It would be impossible to get British sailors to do the terrible things Fate the people up to a true understanding of what Great Britain means to all the world.

"The Hippodrome"-"Great Public Meeting."

This great auditorium was filled to overflowing. The Hon. Alton B. Parker, one time candidate for the presidency, was chairman. He traced the part of Great Britain in the war and gave credit at every point. He referred to the splendid work of Italy, the magnificent work of France, "but the greatest of our Allies was Great Britain, the most powerful nation in the world." David Bishpam brought the house down when he sang "When the Boys Come Home.'

Another one-time candidate for the presidency, Hon. Charles Evans Hughes, gave un-States one again. He declared, in one of his most eloquent passages, and several times he reached true eloquence, that but for the part Britain had taken in the war, and but for the Britain had taken in the war, and but for the short life of the German navy. Without it we could not the four years and part the home town.

Years away from home in that important time of development in a girl's life make a wonderful change in her the atroctites that made the world's blood run cold during the short life of the German navy. Without it we could not a contract the short life of the German navy. Without it we could not the four years that she had

George E. Vincent, head of the Rockefeller Institute. He gave the credit to Britons of being true sportsmen-they played the game, they were taught in their schools to do so. This fact made them the magnificent soldiers and sailors they were. He contrasted them with the Germans and gave every credit to Great Britain for saving the world from the curse of militarism. Sir Henry Babbington Smith, assistant commissioner British War Mission, appropriately acknowledged the splendid spirit of the address.

The meeting closed with a tableau: "The Silent Arm of the British Empire," "Landing at Ostend," "Victory," "Rule Britannia," sung by Miss Constance Baffour; "Peace" and "God Save the King," sung by the sailors and mar-

"Freedom" at the Century Theatre.

Here a play in three acts-"England in the making," "America in the finding" and "America enters the world." Miss Marcia Van Dresser, in splendid voice, I. d the part of Freedom. The play shows step by step the advance of freedom in the world, and shows that the freedom America has, came from Great Britain, that George Washington was an Englishman, that many of the best Englishmen, like Pitt, were with the American colonies in their struggle for freedom. The war had brought England and America together again. Addresses were delivered by Major George H. Putnam and the Hon. H. Y. Braddon, commissioner for Australia in the United States.

Altogether, they were three great notable gatherings that mean in future, whenever Great THE PRESENT rulers at Ottawa have seen Britain requires it, the United States will rally to fit to frequently trail in behind the Wash- its side as quickly, as loyally and effectively as ington Government in matters of war leg- any of the colonies did, and that, as Judge Hughes islation. The habit has not always been to the put it, they are one again with Great Britain,

A PARALLEL

LL ALONG through the war comparison has A measure is under way in Congress to pro-South was like Germany in its oligarchic characing democracy, priding themselves on their military spirit and for years preparing to attack the North. The advantages possessed by Germany as compared with the South were numbers, organization, mechanical skill, utilized instead of de-

The North, like the Allies, fought for great principles of humanity, freedom and truth. The South, like Germany, misused its prisoners. Like Germany it was strictly blockaded and was worn down by attrition of man-power. Till shortly be- But the man worth while fore the end the South maintained an iron resistance, and then in a few short months quickly collapsed, like Germany. Lincoln, like Lloyd George, was constantly pestered by defeatists who wanted a compromise peace on any Rummy, as he put his empty glass on terms. Neither gave way, but stuck on to the

To the credit of the South, on the other an empty bottle. hand, it has to be remembered that its armies "I wonder if you could call a suit fought fair, with none of this Hun deviltry. Its of armor an old-lashioned kinght fair, with none of this Hun deviltry. Its dress?" replied the Rummy, as he soldiers were chivalrous and they never gave in headed for the door. until the dreadful march had gone through Georgia. They were brave men, not bullies, they "I've found out one thing," said old showed no yellow, for it wasn't in them; they uttered no whine in defeat, but took their medicine standing up. Those Southern gentlemen A fought like heroes, for an antiquated cause, and

EDITORIAL NOTES.

When will the Government lift the lid off how much he dislikes a bill collector.

The war has boosted Canada to the billion

A world that is safe for democracy will be unsafe for atrocity.

The lesson Germany is learning is that it is upstairs, "time will tell!" Brazil is reported mobilizing for war. Let's see, isn't Brazil noted for its nuts? It is reported the ex-kaiser has sent to Ber-

Bavarians took 60,000,000 marks from Mackensen because they believed he stole it from Rumania. But, have they sent it back? There is talk of exiling W. Hohenzollern in the wilds of the East Indies. He could give the Christ had chosen fishermen for His disciples jungle people some lessons in ferocity. Scheidemann thinks the kaiser has been sufficiently punished. But what do the tortured folk of Flanders, France and Serbia think about it? The Allied armies are now in the country

U. S. Government probe shows that William flone by the German sailors. Throughout his Randolph Hearst was "outspokenly on the Geraddress his soul gripped and held his audience. man side" before the United States entered the Men like Dr. Hugh Black will do much to edu- war. Yet Canadians continue to read a number of magazines in which he has been directly interested for years.

THE BRITISH ON THE SEA.

[New York Times.] Speaking at the University Club in Brooklyn Saturday night, Louis Tracy pointed out the absurdity of Germany's Loan board. She tried conscientiously contention that she had to plot against Great Britain, be- to make her duty toward her country cause Britain controlled the sea. Dutch, Swedish and Norwegian ships, he said, had a tremendous trade by sea, and wegian ships, he said, had a tremendous trade by sea, and the holland—he might have added Belgium and Portugal—he land by sea, and in her heart she realized, however, that there was a rival motive. And the there was a rival motive. And dominion of the seas. None had ever feared that she would that motive was, by name, David Stapleton. David Stapleton. Holland—he might have added Belgium and Portugal— in her heart she realized, nowever, valuable colonies, but none of them had ever feared Britain's that there was a rival motive. And deal unfairly with them, and none had had to form alliances Stapleton, chairman of the committee and conspiracies against her. The difference between Great of men. Britain's control of the sea and Germany's army on land is that nobody had any reason to be afraid of the former. The British fleet is for defensive purposes only. Great Britain is an island, and would have small chance of defence by an army if an enemy invaded her. She must have a great fleet as her only sure protection. She has one, but never has she as her only sure protection. She has one, but never has she used it, as Germany would have used it, to strangle the stinted praise to Great Britain, claiming that trade of other nations. The seas are as free to trade as if she had outgrown what the war had made Great Britain and the United Great Britain and the United trade of the seas are as free to trade as if she had outgrown what few of her old companions remained in the home town. states one again. He declared, in one of the most eloquence, that but for the part reached true eloquence, that but for the part Britain had taken in the war, and but for the British navy in transporting troops, after Germanny had defeated its opponents in Europe, the United States would have met the fate of Belgium.

Samuel L. Gompers, president of the Labor Union, gave similar testimony and told of his Testing and the royal treatment he had

The BLIND SOLDIER SPEAKE. Is Morgan-Powell.]

States one again. He declared, in one of the trader, but a terfor to the part as taken and habits and choice of treatment tastes and habits and choice

And in the dew the poppy sleeps And o'er the darkling lily-beds The skylark sings his morning hymn, It may not be,—it shall not be, For I, who once these beauties knew Can see no longer where the light Lies low along the garden wall Or gilds with many a tempered light The tulips' cups, the lilles tall, Kisses the beds where violets grew And flames in glory on the sea. That rolls in thunder far below. The place where tuber-roses grow Holds all there is in life for me.

After poor Henry Peck had finished cleaning out the furnace ter. The great planters were the junkers, despis- Mrs. Peck refused to let him wash up in the bathroom

BY LUKE MCLUKE (Copyright, 1918.)

Tight Wads.

-Luke McLuke.

-Newark Advocate.

-Warren, Ohio, Tribune

A careful man is Daniel Dent,

As careful as you meet;

If he paid you a compliment

Another careful man that we

Have met is Abner Grote;

If he lent you his attention he

Would want to take your note.

A careful man is Reuben Hay,

If he should pass the time of day

Gobs of Gloom!

Talk about the kaiser being out of luck! How about the men who married to escape the draft, and now the war

Names Is Names

You can hear Benno Damus at 216

Our Dally Special. There's No Fool Like An Educated

Luke McLuke Says A Bully is a good deal like a Bull. His olce is the flercest thing about him.

any story by trying to tell it always horns in and tells your pet story just when you were about to tell it yourself.

We don't want to get into trouble with our friends, the preachers. But we be-ieve that as a force for keeping men out

A pretty girl would be a blame sight prettier if she didn't insist on acting as if she knew how pretty she was.

Our idea of an optimist is a bald-headed man who cheerfully figures out how much he saves by not having to buy

And what has become of the old-fashioned man who used to get highly excited over a game of croquet?

omen wouldn't be nearly as vain as hair tonic and dandruff cure.

of devilment, a wife scares a man whole lot more than the hereafter doe

Of him a line we'll pen;

He'd want it back again.

is over?

He'd ask for a receipt.

The Final Test. it is easy enough to be pleasant Though you have any number woes.

Is the man who can smile

When he hasn't a dime in his clothes. Then It Happened. "I wonder if you could?" mused the

"You wonder if you could what?" demanded the Barkeep, as he grabbed of armor an old-fashioned knight Correct.

Binks, "And you'll agree with me; man is seldom what he thinks

His neighbor ought to be." 'Smith is certainly a polite man, isn't he?" said Brown,

"Yes." agreed Jones. "No matter Dorchester avenue, Cincinnati. he always invites him to call again." Ho, Hum!

"Dang-dang-dang-dang!" boomed the hall clock, as the hands pointed to "Ah!" sighed the husband who was up the stairs with his shoes in No Joke. It does not pay you to be meek

When fussing with a brother

And he will swat the other lin. for a dentist. Probably wants a new Sign in a Greek shoe shining place in Cincinnati: "Shoes Polished On the Inside."

> Gosh1 You may imagine that Hajloman Saralaneroparanian of Boston, Mass., is going some. But his cousing Menad Estaboborakamastakamasian lives in Lowell, Mass.

> Our Joa Miller Contest. Lyman J. Davis of Louisville claims that the oldest joke is the one about the doctor who was attending to the Irishman. After his fifth call the doc-The poor man cannot recover." "Don't tor said to the Irishman's wife: "I'm changing her mind so often if she didn't insist on getting such small change for it. Isn't it funny that the sort of a wife the German flag to float on any sea in the world Hans and Gretchen are being told the invaders overheard the doctor's statement. "I'm he falls in love with and marries?" she appeared at headquarters to begin they are.

sne appeared at headquarters to begin work on the big drive.
"This is our first war, you know,"
David laughed, as he let her pass through the door.
"And our last—I hope," Gladys re-The Advertiser's Daily Short Story (Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) marked.

"At least give it one blue ribbon," David found himself saying as Gladys busied herself arranging tables and chairs as part of her work on the com-HER LIBERTY-LOANED ttee on headquarters' decorations. 'What for?'' "For giving me the pleasure of seeing you again." There was more than one reason why Gladys consented to act on the wo-Gladys' pretty white skin warmed per-ceptibly, and David, unaccustomed as he was to observing feminine charms, thought he had never seen anything so man's committee of the local Liberty the first and compelling reason; deep in her heart she realized, however,

Gladys Moore was a girl well along

Every day the two had work to do "I've filed my questionnaire," he said to her one night on the way home. "Your questionnaire?" she asked. "Yes-I'm in the draft, you know." "Oh—," Gladys breathed. "I—"

'You thought I was too old-now coness it!"
Gladys said nothing.
"Didn't you?"
"Perhaps I hadn't thought at all—about the draft," she added.

Extra quality, Lyons dye, full 36 inches wide, will not crush or crease. Per "Are you thinking now?" David asked yard $1.59 Poplin silk and wool quality, uncrushable, 40 inches wide, in shades of navy, nigger, burgundy, honeymoon blue,

"Neither have we," said the committee in unison.

And Gladys, having previously noticed the name of David Stapleton, the cashier of the village bank, on the list of men, accepted.

David Stapleton was a widower. He had known Gladys as a girl in her teens and had always liked her. Since she had returned home he had seldom seen her. His activities lay along lines that did not include women. He hardly ever saw a woman outside of his own household, where there were a number of cunts and near-aunts.

"This is my first experience in this line," Gladys said to him when they came face to face the first morning that

Therefore, that note went on to say, David Stapleton would be unable to leave his desk for so much as a half

Gladys did not know whether she was disappointed or relieved. But there was much work to do; the human tide of patriotic citizens flowed constantly toward her desk all day, and she had like time in which to think of herself.

Not so with the cashier—Pavid Stapleton. His work had become to much a mechanical part of his everyday life that, though his hands were constantly busy, his thoughts were not on Liberty bonds. On bonds they might have been, but——

The telephone rang. "Hello-Mr. Stapleton?"

"Yes—Gladys," he said, recognizing her voice at once.
"T've just received my call."
"Call!" exclaimed David.
"Yes—didn't I tell you the other night that you wouldn't be the only one in France—hefore long?"

"No—you did not tell me."
Gladys did not reply. Each held the receiver while no sound came over the wire.

"You didn't Gladys," repeated David.
"I thought I had told you. I shall have to report at once for physical examination. Then come my passports and then—salling! Won't it be wonderful?"

"Yes—oh, yes. It will be quite wonderful," said David, mechanically.
The world around him had gone suddenly into the shadow—the world that had seemed so sunny, so well worth living in, of late. But—of course he himself would be going if the powers that be would have him and—"Wandon't seem yeng glad for me." "You don't seem very glad for me.

"You don't seem very glad for me." came Gladys' voice across the wire, wistfully.

"Oh, forgive me—of course I'm glad—more glad than I can tell you, but—" "But what?"

"Good-bye. I'm coming over to your desk. I want to see you about some bonds," David said, abruptly. Someone had come into his office and he had been forced to speak quite casually. Gladys understood.

When David approached her her hands been forced to speak quite casually.

Gladys understood.

When David approached her her hands were cold. Her cheeks were prettily pink. Her breath came far more quickly than she wanted it to.

"Want to buy a bond?" she asked to kingly. Gladys had a way of jesting when she was playing for time.

"Yes: I want a bond, the maturity of which depends on Fate, Gladys," he said, sitting down across the desk and trying to compel her to look at him. There were no others in the room at the moment, but the place was as public as the whole out-of-doors.

"I—I wonder if we have that sort," she demurred, looking over her card of instructions.

"I want no other sort," David said firmly. "Gladys, I love you. Do marry me!" "Gladys, I love you. Do marry me!"

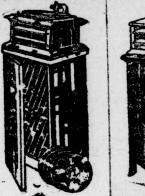

Gladys could not speak. She had lost her power to resist him, and she knew not what to say in acquiescence. "Won't you, dear? Marry me before Gladys nodded—a series of little nods, Gladys nodeed—a series of fittle hos, and when she finally looked at him her eyes were full of shiny tears that with difficulty she kept from tumbling foolishly down her cheeks.

Suddenly she brushed them away. She had seen someone oming. "Of course, I will," she said. "You knew it when you asked, didn't you?"

Three Special (13) Columbia Outfits

Make your evening at home one of pleasure. One of these magnificent Grafonolas will complete the evening's enjoyment.

Make the home a real home with music. Buy yours today.

1 Grafonola $30.00 1 Cabinet .. $11.00 6 Records (12 6 records (12

.15

1 Record Brush

$61.55 outfit 1 Grafonola $45.00 1 Grafonola $70.00 1 Cabinet .. $11.00 1 Cabinet .. $11.00 6 Records (12 selections) $5.40 $5.40 1 Record Brush .15 1 Record Brush .15

These Grafonolas Must Be Seen to Be Appreciated You can purchase any Model on Easy Terms

BUY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS NORDHEIMER PIANO

& MUSIC CO., LTD. 227 DUNDAS STREET (Two Doors West of Majestic).

A Clean-Up In Men's Overcoats at $14.75 REGULAR PRICES HAVE BEEN $20, $22, $25. Single Coats of lines that have been big sellers, in many colors and patterns. The best-selling models in slipons, solid-comfort ulsters, form-fitting models, Chesterfields, belters, etc. Included are meltons, tweeds, cheviots, witneys, etc., in greys, browns, black, tans, etc.; sizes in the lot from 34 to 42 bust. Only one coat of a kind. Come NEW WAIST LINE SUITS AND COATS Third repeat order of these swagger young men's garments now in. Overcoats in plain greens and browns, wonderfully well tailored and perfect in fit and style. Suits in greens, browns and blues, in plain colors and smart new overchecks. Exclusive models that are simply perfection in fit and smart style....$26.50, $30, $35

REAL CHRISTMAS PRESENTS FOR MEN

Hundreds of suggestions here for gifts that will be really appreciated by men and boys, all moderately priced. SHOP EARLY.

MUFFLERS.

Beautiful rich silks in hundreds of handsome patterns and colors, with fringed ends, $1.50, $2, $2.75, $3.50 Knitted Scarfs, in rich twotone effects in fibre silk and pure silk qualities$1.50, $2, $2.50 to $4

BATH ROBES AND GOWNS. Splendid heavy qualities in

Ladies' Umbrellas

Two Umbrella Specials for Christmas

Gifts.

Fine Silk and wool cover, paragon frame, with nice ring cordier top, correct length. Special $3.50, $3.75, $5.00

Ladies' fine silk and wool covers, long directoire handles, neat handle trim-

Special, $2, $2.50, $3

Black Paillette Silks

prunella, taupe, grey, sand and black

Special $2.50

White Spreads

An exceptional range of White Crochet Quilts, handsome designs. Special qualities$2.19, $3.25, $3.75, $5.00

FINE HUCK TOWELS, pure linen

very choice designs, in hemstitched

WHITE BATH TOWELS, best qualities, at tempting prices

unusually smart patterns, well made and finely finished, all sizes 36 to 42...

FINE SHIRTS.

A wonderful showing of all the new things in "Arrow" and "Tooke" qualities, exclusive new patterns in Madras, percales, crepes and silk mixtures, sizes 131/2 to 18, soft and stiff cuffs$1.25, $1.75, $2, $2.50 to $4 NECKWEAR UNUSUAL.

Wond Ifful sales have greeted this sylendid showing of fine Neckwear, rich Swiss and American silks in full, liberal shapes, boxed individually ... $6.75, $8.75, $9.75 | 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50 to $2.50

CHRISTMAS CORSETS

A very special showing of Ladies' Corsets. Like other lines, the manufacturers of corsets are advancing prices. Knowing the advance was coming, we placed in stock large quantities direct from the maker. As a result, our stock is complete at prices that mean a saving to buyers.

No. 254-In low bust and long hip, four hose supports, made from fine percales $1.25 No. 369 and 479-A fine model, made from fine percales, embroidery trimmed, in high or low bust, medium long hip$2.00 Nos. 582 and 520-A favorite model, extra fine quality percales, low bust, medium and long free hip

$2.50 No. 716-This attractive model is made from a very fine pink brocade sateen, which appeals to the discriminating buyer$3.50

CREPE KIMONOS at $2.98

Japanese Crepe Kimonos, silk embroidered, satin rimming on neck and sleeves, in colors of rose, pink, ky, helio and purple $2.98 Crepe de Chine Waists, handsomely embroidered fronts, in self colors, square hemstitched collars. White Thibet Furs for girls 6 to 12 years, round and

R. J. YOUNG & CO.