DECORATING CHURCHES FOR GREAT GONGRESS

Even Yesterday Workmen Werz Still Busily Engaged in Decking Famous Notre Dame Cathedral.

MONTREAL, Sept. 6 .- (Special corndence.)-Toronto may imagine it knows something about rain, but to ow rain in its fullness and power it is necessary to be in Montreal during Eucharistic Congress week. The flood-gates of heaven have surely opened, and in their strength have spread their pail over the city. This shower does not daunt the enthusiasm of the citiwork of the great event, with which all minds are filled. Final preparation has gone steadily forward despite the Visitors to-day are pouring into the city for to-night's great event and functions soon to be in progress. They have passed the time by viewing the principal points of attraction from the points of decoration or architectural historic interest. The great Church of Notre Dame is perhaps the chief feature of interest. Here workmen are still busy with ladders and the hum of hammers and nails meets one at the entrance. The designs of the fa-cade promise to be gorgeous. Already crimson drapings fall from every arch-ed window and from six slender masts float the beautiful yellow color of the papal flag and the glorious blue of the flag of the Sacre Coeur. Immense white columns face the door, and even-tually these will support the great arches thru which the crowds will flock to the ceremonies

At St. Patrick's. The decorations at St. Patrick's are perhaps the most complete at the time of writing. When last the writer visited this well-known temple, its walls were hidden under the mourning drapings which told of the death of the great Leo XIII.; now the contrast is most striking. Light and brilliance have taken the place of the then symbols of woe. Laurel wreaths twine every pillar, their greenness and fresh-ness speaking of the immortality of the Christianity they typify. Outside the great flag of Britain is supported on either side by the insignia of the fisherman at St. Peter's, and like strings of beads, lines of pennants and multicolored flags surround the ter-

It seems to have been taken for granted that the coming of the noted priest, Rev. Father Bernard Vaughan, would be accompanied by something sensational, so it happens that each of the addresses so far delivered by him has been headed by newspaper scare lines as if something alarming or altogether new had come to the front. These headings were altogether unnecessary, Father Vaughan uttering nothing but old and oft-repeated truisms of the faith to which his magnetism and clearly-cut epigrams gave, perhaps, added force and vim.

Father Vaungan's Address In the Monument National last night, an audience, amongst which were countless scholarly bishops and minor churchmen, remained spe under the polished periods of the re-nowned London Jesuit, when he told them of the upbuilding of character by an education which began in the arms of a Christian mother and when properly developed would stand the tests of God Himself, and would deserve "a glorious eternity in a land beyoud the stars.' The sins of society came in for his unmerciful flail, and as Cardinal Logue. the eminent dignitary who introduced Father Vaughan remarked, the address of the evening was really more of a sermon than a lecture. Amongst the visitors, of whom the press has taken special notice, is Eugene O'Keefe, now at the Windsor. To Toronto readers, Mr. O'Keefe needs no introduction, but his recognition by The Montreal Gazette, as on of the leading Roman Catholic philanthropists on the continent, must be gratifying to the many in his home city already acquainted with his beneficence, and also to the generous donor to whom the church and institution are indebted for repeated and lavish assistance. Mr. O'Keefe is in Montreal in his capacity of chamberlain to his holiness, he being one of the four of which the continent may boast. The Traveling Chapel.

This evening it is expected that the chapel car, so much spoken of lately in connection with the work of church extension, will arrive in Montreal. The unsatisfied curiosity. It has a fully equipped altar and a seating capacity for eighty, a dining room and kitchen, with a chief and porter attached.

No special program had been arranged for Labor Day, nevertheless, Cardinal Vannutelli spent a strenuous day amongst the institutions of the city. In the morning he visited the Convent of the Good Shepherd on Sherbrooke-street, where the commun ity had the privilege of assisting at the mass of their distinguished visi-Other institutions visited were the Sisters of Providence and the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and The famous seminary of St. Sulpice, which has probably sent out more ecclesiastics than any other institution on the American continent, was also visited, and the Home for Incurables and Sisters of the Precious Blood also received a call.

Wherever the red livery of the cardinal's carriage appeared, it was the signal for the cheers and greetings of

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—abreak down, as it were, of the vital lorces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless, its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or wearness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour

Atlantic City, N.J. POLICEMAN STOPS RUNAWAY

Mounted Officer Does a Wild West Stunt in Parkdale .

Courage, skill and presence of mind were shown by Mounted Policeman Chalmers last night, when he stopped a runaway team at Roncesvalles-avenue and Queen-street, after having cleared the street car intersection there of a large crowd that was in the path of the maddened horses.

A team of spirited horses, owned by Chester Gibson, Mimico, hitched to a light farm wagon, was standing at Macdonell-avenue and Queen-street, when they were frightened by a car. Breaking the weight strap, they dashed west and were seen by Policeman Chalmers as he entered Queen from Triller-avenue. He galloped west to Roncesvalles-avenue, and as the runaways dashed up, swung in beside them and grasped the dragging reins. succeeded in stopping the neam at Sunnyside-avenue.
