Mr. CAMBRELENG, from, the Committee of Commerce, submitted the following REFORT: The policy of this country must be regulated in some measure by the commercial laws of our great maritime rival. Our commercial laws of our great maritime rival. Our commercial laws of our great that with avyodiner country; and the trade with the Builded Sumer is, to a commercial point of view, the meat valuable breach of the foreign commerce of Great Beltain. The area an two comprises to decay interment salashie brauch of the foreign commutee of Grent Richais. There are no two constricts to deeply inter-ented investigating and preserving the most friendly and liberal sweighteetis, and we fear may be horisifier, an-ertifie at at these political jealousies, which are too spi-to Tokuange the commute of constricts and scaling with an indeterior and we fear may be horisifier, an-ertifie at at these political jealousies, which are too spi-to Tokuange the commute of constricts and scaling with an indeterior and go of equality, the most friendly intercourse with all nations. But, in twitting this reciprocal commerce, without antiophing the pro-bability of future conflicts without antiophing the pro-position of antional defence, and, with a wite foresight to prepare for any emergency. It will be discovered on samination, that, while we have been for fifteen years matting as a sergins and resources in crude and speculative of Great Brissin, France and Rumin, how, also the discovery and inceptendente of a new world, op what theatre the relative power and domi-nion of antions must be baventer adjusted. It will be for sum, or to the present conflicts of a new world, op what theatre the solutive conflicts of a new world. But theatres the gravite and the policy of a did to our commercial matrice.
