The Man In The Street

Brrrrh! Chilly, eh, what?
Indications are that mosquitoes will not be seeking their usual feast at suburban centres today.
At any rate the snow keeps off well.
It's a poor building act which can't be amended at a moment's notice.
Bored States.
The evidence in the Nova Scotia government horse purchases would be a strong recommendation for some horse agents with a large junk business.
Roosevelt says "I'm thinking of my country," and the White House is still in Washington.
"The big stick" was what Mr. Williams complained of a few days ago, because his permit to build a garage was delayed. Today it looks more like a steam-roller.
Really Nice Weather, Isn't It?
Ex-President Taft, touring Canada says this country's atmosphere is the greatest health-tonic that can be found. This should afford some consolation to the chap who is taking his vacation this week.
General D'Arigueneau is the new president of Haiti, but from the short time in which it takes to assassinate presidents in that country, we shouldn't have to struggle long with that name.
Local police complain of citizens telling the newspapers of robberies before they are notified. Naturally, for when the police learn of them first, it gives them a chance to warn the parties robbed "to say nothing to the papers."
But the censorship doesn't always recover the goods.
The New York Mail would like the views of Canadians as to the Mexican problem. The views of some Canadians on the subject would hardly look nice in print.

In Our Mail Box
To the Man in the Street:
Dear Sir—While we hear much from City Hall concerning "what must be done" (but does not, however, seem to be done) towards improving the conditions of the rails about the street car tracks in the city, it is not easy to see why a little more grease or some other lubricant cannot be employed upon those same rails? Is there another city which would stand for such unreasonably nerve-racking noises as those which shriek made by the street railway cars because not enough grease has been applied to the rails? There is much to be done to make the street railway service more popular and—aside from those awful bumps in many sections—why not a little more of something to make running smoother, particularly near the midnight hour.
Yours,
I. KANT SLEEBE.

Or When Trying To Read
Poor Chap—it's quite apparent he doesn't live in North Bay, or it would not be rail-roads he'd be grumbling about; he'd be only too happy to know the cars had rails as smooth as silk. "Hitting the high spots" don't you sometimes wonder?

NEWS OF CANADIAN RY. CONSTRUCTION CORPS

Letter From Arthur J. Cotter Tells of Life in England—Enjoying Life, With Occasional Row Over the Menu

An interesting letter was received this week by Mrs. R. Cotter, 16 Orange street, from her son, Arthur J., a member of the Canadian Railway Construction Corps, now encamped at Longmoor, Hants county, England. He is in "Apple Pie Hut," and enjoying the life. Much news of interest to us they made while in training in this city is contained in Sapper Cotter's letter pertaining to the corps which he says is now attached to the Royal Engineers, under Colonel Sinclair.
A stiff programme of drill was daily carried on, he wrote, but there was leisure time now and again, and thus was a chance afforded of having recreation and of taking a trip to neighboring towns. Their camp is situated in the heart of a farming district and little amusement is provided aside from the camp life. Sapper Cotter wrote that he had been to Portsmouth the previous Sunday, and had gone to church in the big cathedral there. He was in hopes of soon visiting London. Regarding prices he said that the Canadians felt they were being imposed upon by restaurant keepers and hotel proprietors because of the increased charges asked of them.
General Bull-Carew, an official high up in the British militia service, made an inspection of the corps a few days before young Cotter wrote and he complimented them upon their fine appearance and efficiency, saying they were a most creditable body of men. He added that Kitchener was taking a special interest in this corps, and said he did not think they would be kept long in England, but would soon be sent to France.
For the most part the men are well treated in the camp, the writer said, but occasionally the grub was not all that might be desired. That night for supper, for instance, all that the menu contained was bread, lettuce and tea. A scene on the part of the men followed and following a complaint to the major it was expected that the future would see an improvement. Letters from home were a welcome feature of camp life and it was a keen disappointment, when the Canadian mail arrived, not to be included among those who received treasured souvenirs from relatives or friends in the home-land. Sapper Cotter asked to be remembered to his friends.

THOSE FIELD KITCHENS
Twenty-nine McClary field kitchens are in use by Canadian troops on the other side, and have been approved by Woolwich and the War Office. This fact makes it difficult to understand the new announcement that Canadian field kitchens are not wanted.
BURIED TODAY.
The funeral of Miss Wilhelmina Miss Apte took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late residence, High street. Burial services were conducted by Rev. M. E. Connon and interment took place in Fernhill.

THE SEASIDE PATRIOTIC FAIR

Elaborate Plans By The Energetic Committees
TO BE HELD THURSDAY, AUG. 26

Many Organizations Co-operating to Ensure Success—Varied Attractions Ensure Entertainment on Generous Scale
The immense patriotic fair to be conducted at Seaside Park on the afternoon and evening of August 26 by Lancaster and West St. John organizations, under the general management of Glendon H. Allan, promises to be one of the largest and most successful undertakings of the nature attempted in the city or vicinity since the outbreak of the war.
Popular Seaside, always a favorite resort in the summer time because of the easy transportation, unsurpassed view and good accommodations is to be made even more attractive by myriads of electric lights, band concerts, a bright, alluring "white way," with all the fun of the pike in complete operation: races for the kiddies, meals, both afternoon and evening, and refreshments of all kinds on hand. The various organizations have planned a really big day for everyone who attends.
Financial arrangements have been perfected in detail and the net results will go toward the patriotic fund which is reported considerably in need just at this time. The gentlemen in charge of the finances are as follows: W. E. Conner, Dr. J. V. Anglin, H. Colby Smith, Dr. F. L. Kenny and A. W. Adams.
The ground committee is composed of Frank V. Hanna (chairman), John O'Brien and Harold Mayer.
A novel idea is the souvenir ticket which the owner retains, enters his name on the registry book, and is entitled to a space on the total amount to be realized at the fair. The person guessing the nearest wins a $10 gold piece donated by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter. The South Bay Soldiers Comforts League are selling the souvenir tickets, with Mrs. James Walker and Mrs. Emily Appleby convener of the committee.
From five to seven o'clock the Lancaster Red Cross Society will serve an old New England tea in the pavilion, while in the afternoon from three to six afternoon tea is to be provided by Brunswick Chapter, L.O.D.s. In the building formerly used by the merry-go-round. The ladies have made special preparations to cater to thousands of hungry and meal prices will be very moderate.
The West End Soldiers' Comfort League has undertaken the sale of ice cream, using the premises of Thos. J. Phillips opposite the bank stand for this purpose.
Mrs. Norman R. McLeod and a committee of ladies are making ready for a pie auction, Steve Matthews and Commissioner Potts having promised their services to this department.
Candy, fruit and cigars are to be in a booth presided over by Mrs. Alex. Donaldson, Miss Edith L. M. Allan and Mrs. Medley McKel.
Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., have charge of a fancy table erected near the foot of the stairs, and Lancaster Tennis Club will sell out flowers all day long.
An up-to-the-minute fish pond in care of Mrs. J. T. Dalton and a committee of ladies promises amusement and profit, and water sports including an exciting motor boat race, are promised by Charles Driscoll, chairman of that committee.
Many prizes have already been received by the committee from citizens to be used in raising money and the winners on the pike may be assured of real prizes. Among the prizes offered with the donors, are:
Gold wrist watch, Ferguson & Page; bar pin set with amethysts, L. L. Sharpe & Son; boots and shoes, Waterbury & Rising; patriotic pictures, J. M. Roche & Co. Ltd.; case of Confectionery, Scott & Bond; cigars, Louis Green and National Drug Co.; knives, scissors, etc. T. McAvoy & Sons; other donors include Vassil & Co. cotton and bunting, and merchandise from G. E. Barbour Co. Ltd., Baird and Peters and St. John Mercantile Mercantile Co.
