POOR OLD NOAH

Noah Webster has been barred from the famous Hall of Fame; he's too dead to take it hard, yet it seems a beastly shame; for the book that Noah penned, though in places hard to read, is our everlasting friend, and the sort of friend we need. Noah's picture must not hang in the Hall so bright and fair, though 'twould honor all the gang of punk poets entered there; Noah wrote no cheap romance, and he played no rhymeter's game, so he never had a chance in the well known Hall of Fame. Noah took the toughest words that the country could invent, or could borrow from the Kurds, and he showed just what they meant; not a word could get away, when this man was on its trail; he would chase it day by day till he grabbed it by the tail. 'Twas a tiresome, musty task, but old Noah held it down, while his neignbors used to bask idly in the idle town. Sages, poets, all such birds, went to Noah's noble tome, for the meaning of the words that they used in speech or pome. Now the sages and the bards fill that Hall of high renown, while the surly outside guards turn the gifted Noah' down. Shade of Noah, never mind! You're a winner just the same, though the judges, deaf and blind, shoo you from the Hall of Fame.

THE ADVENT OF THE CHRIST KING

Other leaders, like Alexander, Caesar, and Napoleon, have made their advent upon the stage of time and have been epoch makers of history. But their aim was self; their idol, fame; their weapon, force. They blazed for an hour upon the highest peaks of human glory, and their names shine with an immortal justre. But they left behind them liberty throttled, empires ruined, civilization shattered, a world dim with tears, red with blood, and a wreckage of hates, misery and despair.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

The Canadian Club has recently inaugurated an admirable programme for a series of addresses by the prime ministers of the provinces in which each of them will have the opportunity of presenting the view-point of his own province in relation to the Dominion as a whole. The premier address fittingly came from the prime minister of Quebec, whose cloquent plea for good-will and his picture of the part that Quebec plays as the "corner-stone of Confederation" have been so warmly and Justy
