ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barkin

THE FROGGIE'S ESCAPE

Soon he reached the pond.

Nancy and Nick crawled through the that the fairy had changed. A few minutes before he had been a cotton frog with green tissue paper skin and wire toes. Now he was a real live frog from head to foot, and he was making for the pond where he had always longed to live.

THIS LADY SAYS

There's Nothing to Equal "Dr. Wood's" Norway Pine Syrup For Coughs and Colds

Mrs. David Thompson, West River St., Paris, Ont., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. For myself and children I use nothing else. My little girl, five years old, has had bronchial trouble ever since she had the 'flu' a few years ago, and now, whenever she gets a slight cold, she develops a very nasty cough, but all I have to do is give her a few doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Also for myself, and the other children, I can find nothing to equal it, in fact, it was only a short time ago that I gave it to my ten months old baby, and could immediately see the difference it made in her. Now, I always feel there is nothing to equal it."

happy as a fly in a sugar barrel. Let's go back and tell Mister Fuss Wuzz all about him!"

"All right," agreed Nick, "come on." Just then they saw a brownish figure long and slim and furry slip close to the edge of the water as silently as a shadow. There it waited.

The Twins waited, too, for they knew exactly who it was. They had seen him before and they knew that he liked frogs—to eat! It was Marty Mink.

The long brown figure slipped into the water without a ripple and sank from view.

"Oh, he'll get him! He'll get him!" screamed Nancy.

But her voice frightened the mink. He crawled out of the water on the opposite side of the pond and sneaked off into the grass.

At that minute the little green frog poked up his head. "What's wrong?" he croaked. "What did you scream for? You made me awfully nervous."

"The mink was after you," said Nancy. "He nearly got you and if he had he'd have eaten you at one bite."

"Minks!" trembled the frog. "I never heard of such things. Do they actually eat frogs?"

"Oh!" shouted Nick. "That shows you don't know much. Didn't you know that minks and weasels and owls and martens and nearly all the wild creatures just love frogs? And that you're never safe a minute."

"No, no, no, no, no!" croaked the frog. "I never knew that. I thought that all they had to do was to enjoy themselves. Oh, do take me back to Doofunny Land and have the fairy turn me back into a nice cotton frog again. Nothing ever hurt me and I was very happy."

The Twins picked him up. "I'll tell you another time what happened then."

THE OLD HOME TOWN

A. E. L. BOOTH IS VALEDICTORIAN

Fredericton, April 13—A. E. L. Booth, of Fredericton, leader of the University New Brunswick debating team the last year, has been elected valedictorian of the class of 1924.

Letters To The Editor

TOURIST BUSINESS.

To the Editor of The Evening Times-Star.

Sir,—During the discussion of the Tourist Association grant in the Legislature on Thursday, I notice by the newspaper reports that Mr. Barlock of Carleton Co. complained of difficulty in finding the office in St. John. I am sure we will all sympathize with Mr. Barlock in this, as many people have trouble of that kind when away from home. It is much harder to find the Tourist Office in Toronto than in St. John.

Our office is about fifty feet from King street and within pointing distance of the ticket offices and hotels. We would like to have an office on King street on the ground floor, but rents are prohibitive.

In spite of the apparent exclusiveness of our office many people who never saw St. John before, seem to have little difficulty in finding it. We have visitors registered from every province in Canada, and from the following States in the Union: Maine, Massachusetts, Penn., New York, Rhode Island, District of Columbia, Connecticut, California, Indiana, New Jersey, Florida, Oregon, Michigan, Ohio, Texas, Minn., Colorado, Georgia, Kansas, Iowa, Ill., Nebraska, Arizona, Utah, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, Del., Maryland, Tenn., Virginia and Vermont, and also from Newfoundland, Bermuda, Barbados, Trinidad, British Guiana, England, Ireland, Scotland, South Africa, India, China, Holland, and Honolulu.

Mr. Barlock having found the office seemed to think it strange there should be nobody there except the stenographer. Well, even Mr. Barlock has to be out of the office at times, judging from his account of his trip to Boston with the association. Apparently he was interested in the stenographer, so he may be pleased to know that she was only there temporarily and now has a better position than the Tourist Association could offer.

With Mr. Barlock's knowledge of what it costs to do business of this kind, I should think his chief wonder would be how we were able to have an assistant at all.

For twenty-five years public-spirited men of New Brunswick have been giving their time and spending their own money in efforts to advertise the attractions of this province. The association has already this year obligated itself for a large amount for advertising, not waiting for the grant to be made, and I am sure if everybody understood the amount of work which the association has done under difficulties, they would be willing to lend a hand and help in the efforts this year to increase the tourist business.

Mr. Barlock is a member of our association and we feel certain as we great an interest in this publicity campaign as anybody else, and will cheerfully give it his support. We need everybody to help.

Faithfully yours, C. B. ALLAN, Secretary-Treasurer, New Brunswick Tourist and Resources Association.

"Fashions new and church bells pealing—The world smiles forth that Kruschen feeling"

Grandpa Leads the Health Parade

With spring in his heart and "that Kruschen feeling" in his veins, Grandpa steps it out like a two-year-old. With all of the ambition and pride of a boy of twenty, he dresses immaculately. Grandpa knows that good clothes are part of the secret of a happy heart and a tireless spirit, and he dresses his youthful body and sprightly limbs to accord with "that Kruschen feeling."

Do as Grandpa does. Take your daily dose of Kruschen Salts—your daily dimeful of ambition and energy. Every morning, tip into your breakfast cup of coffee or tea just enough of the magic powder to cover a dime. Kruschen contains all of the salts your body needs to keep it healthy. And in a single 75c bottle there are 150 doses—nearly enough for six months.

If you could lead an ideal life in the open air, free from worry, getting the exercise that your body needs, and eating rightly, you would naturally extract those six salts from your food.

But, when you are tied down to the life of the city, too much indoors, getting little air and exercise, and never really free from worry, impurities of all kinds collect in the body, and make you feel listless and depressed.

Prepare to enjoy the summer weather. The Kruschen habit, gently but thoroughly stimulates the liver and kidneys to their functions, removes waste matter and impurities from the system, sends new vigorous blood coursing through your veins, filling you with that "go-and-get-it" ambition that brings success.

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea. Put as much in your breakfast cup as will fill on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.
