

THE MEDICAL OFFICER'S REPORT.

Notwithstanding the extremes of heat and cold during the past year, the mortality in the House has been less than for any year since 1856, which is as far back as I have any record of. Only five persons of the ages of sixty, sixty-one, seventy-four, eighty-three and ninety-eight years, having succumbed to the combined influences of time, temperature and disease.

Respectfully,

UZZIEL OGDEN, M.D., Surgeon.
