NOTICE.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Traders, Manufacturers and owners of Weights, Measures and Weighing Machines generally are specially requested to read carefully the following instructions and act accordingly:

1. The Weights and Measures Act provides for a regular biennial inspection of all Weights and Measures used for trade purposes, as well as for irregular inspections of the same, which may be made at any time when deemed necessary by the inspector, and it also imposes a heavy penalty on any trader or other person who wilfully obstructs or impedes an inspector or assistant inspector in the performance of his duty under said Act, or who refuses to produce the whole of his weights and measures for inspection when called upon to do so by an inspecting officer.

2. Every trader, manufacturer and owner of weights, measures, and weighing machines when paying moneys to Inspectors or Assistant Inspectors of Weights and Measures for verification fees, is entitled to, and is specially requested to demand from the officer who makes the inspection, an official certificate ("Form G, 6") with the words "Original for the Trader" printed at the head thereof) properly filled out and stamped, and also at the same time to carefully ascertain whether or not the stamps attached to such certificate represent exactly the value in amount of cash paid. Traders are requested to bear in mind that certificates of verification are of no value whatever unless stamps covering the full amount of fees charged are attached.

3. Owners and holders of these official certificates are specially requested to keep them carefully for two years, and in order to secure their safe keeping it would be advisable to placard them in their places of business in the manner in which ordinary license certificates are done, for it must be distinctly understood that all traders who are unable to produce their properly stamped certificates, when asked to do so by an inspector or assistant inspector, may, in all probability, have to pay over again their verification fees.

WHAT GOLD CANNOT BUY.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER,

Author of "The Wooing O't," "Her Dearest Foe," "Which Shall it be?" etc.

Continued.

"The two months have nearly expired," she mused, when, having risen, she leaned against the window-frame and looked out on the moonlit lawn. "But I am quite sure she will not send me away. I do not want to go among strangers again. It is awful to have no home. But with practice, with the effort to be brave, conrage comes."

Taking some relic sewn up in a little silk bag and hung round her neck by a thin chain of Indian gold, she kissed it lovingly and lay down to rest.

For the next couple of days Mrs. Savile instituted a severe headache and shut herself up with Miss Desmond in her own special morning-room, leaving her son and his guest to entertain each other. The third day Hope went out for a short stroll, as Mrs. Saville evidently did not want her company in a visit she went to pay at the Court.

She had not gone far when she was overtaken by George Lumley, who immediately began to condole with her on what he was pleased to term her "false imprisonment." She talked with him gayly enough, but always with what he chose to term "a tinge of indulgence" in her manner, and then turned homeward sooner than she would otherwise have done.

"I must bid you good-by. I am going back to my quarters this evening," he said. "But I shall be at the court next week. I do hope you'll come and help us in those duets. Miss Dacre has planned no end of practising."

"I shall be glad to help you if I may."

"How submissive you are!"

"Would you, a soldier, suggest mutiny?"

"Our duties are very different."

"Nevertheless duty is duty."

"You must have an awfully dull time of it."

"I do not feel dull. Mrs. Saville is a very intelligent woman, and, as we differ on every subject, we have abundance of interesting conversation."

"I should think so. Do you ever convert her?"

"I am afraid not; but I may make a little impression: constant dropping, you know, effects something. I want to convert her to the belief that man does not live by bread alone."

"I see; that he wants the sugar-plums of true love. How tame and flat life is without them! I think I understand: that jolly old boy Rawson has put you here to be Hugh's advocate."

"By no means. He recommended me as a suitable person to act as reader and amanuensis to your aunt, and I hope to do him credit."

"Do you know you puzzle me immensely?"

"A little mental exercise will do you good."

"Mental exercise! you give my mind plenty to do. You are never out of my thoughts."

"Good-morning, Captain Lumley," said Miss Desmond, with great composure. "I shall go in by the side door." And she turned down a narrow path which led to a private entrance at the foot of the stair communicating with a wing which contained Mrs. Saville's rooms.

Lumley stood for a moment uncertain what to do. He dared not follow her, and he was reluctant to confess himself checkmated. His generally placid face grew set and stormy.

What an infernally provoking woman! She treats me as if I were a mere schoolboy, whom she could play with in safety. It is no longer play to me; it shall not be play to her. I never was treated in this way before; and there is an odd sort of liking for me under it all. What speaking eyes she has! I have seen dozens of handsomer women, bnt there's a sort of fascination about her. I will not let her foil me." He walked rapidly away to the lonely recesses of the wood more disturbed and resolute than he had ever felt in his self-indulged life. All his fancies had been so quickly and easily gratified that they had scarcely time to crystallize into activity; now he was almost surprised at the vehemence of his own anger and determination. "And if I do succeed in awakening something of passion in her, how will it end?" was a question that passed through his brain. "Time enough to think of that. At all events, I am an only son, and the estates are entailed."

The Sunday but one after this interview, Mr. Rawson came down in time for chnrch. Mrs. Saville chose to stay at home. The service was short, for the vicar did not think it necessary to give a sermon every week. When it was over, there was a gathering of neighbors and greetings outside the porch.

"I wish you would come back to luncheon, Miss Desmond," said Miss Dacre. "You might, as Mrs. Saville is not here. Lori Everton came rather unexpectedly last night, and I am sure you would like him. He has been asking if you are still alive."

"I am very sorry I cannot assure him personally of my safety; but I cannot absent myself in this unceremonious manner. Then I have my friend Mr. Rawson here."

"What a nuisance! I am coming over after luncheon to ask for assistance in getting up a concert to collect funds for a new school-house: so, till this afternoon, adieu." She stepped into her pony-carriage, attended by Richard Saville, and drove away.

"As we have plenty of time, I will take you by a little longer way back, Mr. Rawson," said Hope.

"I place myself in your hands, my dear young lady." As they started, Lumley, who had stood aside till Miss Dacre drove off, joined them, and for a short way the conversation was chiefly between him and the family lawyer.

Lumley had been exceedingly nice and respectful whenever he had met Hope Desmond during the last week, consequently they had been the best of friends, and the captain flattered himself he was making prodigious strides. Arriving at a bend of the road where a turnstile admitted to a pathway leading across a field and into Mrs. Saville's woods, Miss Desmond paused, and said "Good morning" very decidedly.

"Mr. Rawson is good enongh to be my guardian. and I claim the right to bore him with my affairs whenever I can."

"I understand," said the gallant hussar, good-humoredly, and stopped with a bow.

"That stroke was well played," said Mr. Rawson when they had got clear of the gate. "I want to say and to hear a good deal, and the youth is persevering."

"Is he so young?" asked Hope. "I thought him an amusing boy, but I begin to see he is older than I imagined."

"He will never see twenty-seven again. But to business. I am glad to see you get on so well with Mrs. Saville. I thought you would."

"Yes, better than I expected. It was terribly nervous work at first. Firmness and courage are indespensable; the slightest appearance of the white feather, and she would almost unconsciously crush you. It is not easy to impress her gently and politely with a sense of one's complete independence; but this is essential. The tyrannical tendencies in her have been tremendously developed by circumstances and training; but I really believe it is a relief to her to find a companion who neither quarrels nor cringes: she breathes a freer air, her mind is more healthily exercised. I never conceal an opinion, and I try to be as true as possible, and to defend my views as temperately as I can. I also try to give her the impression that she is on trial as well as myself."

"It is a dangerous game; but you may succeed. The day after to-morrow completes your two months. I suspect she would be sorry if you left. Tell me, have you had a chance of putting in a word for the poor prodigal?"

Hope shook her head. "It is too soon to attempt it," she said.

"Now sit down here on this fallen tree; for I have a long story to tell you."

In place of a rag-bag a rag-basket has been introduced for the frugal housewife. This consists of a coarse cane basket, such as men use for waste paper, lined with chintz and provided with pockets of various size for the receptacle of odds and ends of stuff. Along the brim is a row of smaller pockets for sewing-threads darning-cotton and scissors.

Corselet bands of ribbon and corselet bodices are much worn, but the Swiss belt, rounded off in front, with a point behind, is still more fashionable. The latter is frequently imitated in embroidery, also the stuff belt, trimmed at both edges with stripes of the same, the sleeves and neckopening being ornamented then in the same style.

"How to Cure All Skin Diseases."

Simply apply "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT." No internal medicine need be given. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, &c., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for SWAYNE'S OINTMENT. LYMAN SONS & CO., Montreal, wholesale agents.

An attempt was made by burglars to blow open the safe in the office of the N. B. R. at Fredericton last Monday night. Two holes were drilled in the safe, some tickets and papers were destroyed, but no money was secured.

A Hard Corner.

The age of 30 is a hard corner for a women to turn, and 35 is still harder. She feels that she is fast leaving her youth behind her. But there is no reason why a woman should be faded and passe at 35, or even 45. The chief cause of the early fading of American women is found in the fact that many of them suffer from some form of female weakness or disease which robs the face of its bloom, draws dark circles about the eyes, brings early wrinkles and sallowness, and stamps the face and figure with signs of ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure all these troubles, will bring back the lost bloom, and remove the pains and ailments which make women grow old before their time. Guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refunded.

The Guatemalan Loan.

CITY OF GUATEMALA, Aug. 20.—The negotiations for a loan of $21,000,000 from French bankers are progressing favorably. Yesterday 2,5:0 troops started for the Salvadorian frontier to suppress the revolutionists there. They will remain there awaiting orders to attack the enemy should place agreement been effected.

Four Years in Sawyerville.

"For four years I had pimples and sores breaking out on my hands and face caused by bad blood. Medicine from the doctor was tried without avail, but after using two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I am well."

MISS MABEL LINDSAY, Sawyerville, Que.

Suddenly Prostrated.

GENTLEMEN,—I was suddenly prostrated while at work by a severe attack of cholera morbus. We sent at once for a doctor, but he seemed unable to help. An evacuation about every forty minutes was fast wearing me out, when we sent for a bottle of Wild Strawberry, which saved my life.

MRS. J. N. VAN NATTER, Mount Brydges, Ont.

Miss Helen R. Sinclair, of Ninette, Man., writes that she has used Burdock Blood Bitters for loss of appetite and headache with the greatest benefit and heartily recommends it. Her experience is shared by thousands. B. B. B. is a specific for headache.

A Daughter's Influence.

I had a very severe attack of bloody diarrhœa and was persuaded by my daughter to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which I did with great success, as less than two bottles cured me. It is worth its weight in gold.

Beyond.

Beyond weeping, toil and sorrow
In the great beyond—tomorrow—
Past grief, and care and pain,
We shall meet our cherished loved ones
And united be again.

Where our tears, there—dried forever—
Where death comes not e'er to sever
Cease to flow with partings pain,
Where we meet in blissful wonder
Never more to part again.

In that great hereafter morning.
Crowns of joy each brow adorning,
We shall know each other there;
At the Spirit's revelation
Free from shadow, pain, and care.

Free from all these pains unceasing,
Death from all our souls releasing,
In that new, new song we'll raise
Voices, oh so changed and hallowed
In an everlasting praise.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging, most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue, tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Some of the floral pedestals often known as garden china in Mrs. Paran Stevens' Newport cottage are worth $100 each. On them are the stately palms, tropical plants and beautiful hydrangeas which give life and color to broad hallways that bisect the lower floor.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A BABY?

A home without a baby or young children is like a lantern and no candle; a garden and no flowers; a vine and no grapes; a brook and no water gurgling and gushing in its channel. Bishop Earle says: "A child is a man in a small letter, yet the best copy of Adam, before he tasted of Eve or the apple."

What a jewel in the crown of home life is the babe! He is the key stone that firmly binds the arch of love!

"Give me the home where baby reigns.
'Tis there that God his love maintains."

We have at times heard the remark, "that baby is a real nuisance." There are no doubt reasons for such uncomplimentary remarks regarding baby. It is not the baby's fault, his dear mother is to blame and no one else. Baby is the sweetest and dearest thing on earth, and can be made so if mothers wish it.

How do you feed baby at this season? Bear in mind gentle mother that baby's good nature, quiet and rest depend upon the food he is given, and the nourishment he receives. You are using milk which has a tendency to curdle on the stomach; you use various other foods, which have caused your babe to fret and cry, and keep you from rest and sleep at nights. Wise are the mothers who feed their children on "Lactated Food"; their children grow plump and fat, their own rest at night is not broken and there is comfort and joy in the home circle, and all goes merry as the marriage bell.

The ablest physicians on this contiuent strongly recemmend "Lactated Food" for all infants, as it is the most valuallle food for youth and age, where digestion is weak, doctors prescribe it every day.

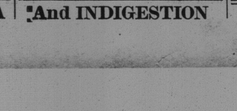
What is Going on for Many Miles Around the Eye More.

One of the BEST Telescopes in the world. Our facilities are unequaled, and to introduce our superior goods we will send FREE to ONE PERSON in each locality, as above. Only those who write at once will receive one of these. All we have to do in return is to show our goods to those who call—your neighbors and those around you. The beginning of the advertisement shows the small end of the telescope. The following cut gives the appearance of it reduced:



about the fiftieth part of its bulk. It is a grand, double size telescope, as large as is easily to carry. It is the same instrument from which we can make from $3 to $10 a day. We pay all expressage charges out of our profits. We do not ask you to pay all expressage charges. Address, H. HALLETT & CO., Box 986, PORTLAND, MAINE.

JAMAICA EXHIBITION, 1890.

AN EXHIBITION will be held in Kingston, Jamaica, in January, 1891, of Island products, manufactures and works of art; together with exhibits of works of art, machinery and industrial and agricultural products from Great Britain, other countries and colonies.

In view of the geographical relation of the Island of Jamaica with the sea ports of Canada and the nature and extent of the imports of Jamaica, as well as the products of the Island, the Government of Canada accepted an invitation of the Government of Jamaica to participate in such exhibition, with a view of obtaining an extension of markets for the products and manufactures of Canada.

The Canadian Government will undertake to pay freight of all approved exhibits.

Entries must be made not later than September 30th next; and the latest date at which exhibits can be sent forward from Halifax, N. S. or St. John, N. B., is the middle of December.

Mr. Adam Brown, M. P., has been appointed Honorary Commissioner to represent Canada at the exhibition.

Forms of application and general information can be obtained on application to the Honorary Commissioner, Address Department of Agriculture, Ottawa; or to the undersigned.

By order of the Minister of Agriculture.

H. B. SMALL, Secretary Dept. of Agriculture.

Ottawa, July 24, 1890.

OATS! OATS!

I HAVE added to my stock of Oats 5 carloads purchased by my traveller while on P. E. Island this week. These Oats having been purchased at a considerable concession from selling prices, I am able to offer them at bottom figures. I have at all times a large stock of oats on hand and constantly arriving and can name the most favorable prices to buyers of car loads.

GARDENIA.

300 bbls. of the above superior Oil in stock. Buyers must recognize the value to them in directly, if not directly, of patronizing a local house in preference to any other. If we as a people depended upon the trade and patronage of those in other countries for our profit and support we would probably soon grow poor, hence it must be plain to all that by patronizing local houses we benefit ourselves. Gardenia is the only brand of oil sold whose benefits are wholly local.
