

Now's Your Chance.

Last week the great number of strangers in the city who were attracted to the Gigantic Sale of Boots and Shoes at our Union Street Store interfered to a large extent with city people. They crowded the store at all hours of the day.

This week we shall be in a better position to look after our city customers, and feel confident that the bargains we are offering are worthy of consideration. This large stock of thoroughly reliable footwear we were fortunate in buying at a very low price, and are determined on giving our customers a chance to provide themselves and families with needed footwear at a big saving.

Remember, that in many cases you can save, at least, half the original price on a pair of Boots.

SUNDAY TRAGEDIES.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 20.—Lemuel G. Trotter, one of the best auto-enthusiasts in the country, who was fatally injured by falling from a train in Winchester last evening, died last night at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mr. Trotter was born in Woolwich, Maine, July 11, 1844, and was educated at Kent's Hill Seminary and Bates College.

ROCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 20.—The body of Jessie Mills, fifty years old, a teamster, employed at the Cocheo Mills in East Rochester, who has been missing for two weeks, was found today in the water on the Maine side of the Salmon River Falls. Dr. Charles A. Moulton, coroner of Sanford, Maine, viewed the body and gave a verdict of suicide. Mills had been acting queerly for some time, and it is said had threatened to kill himself. He leaves a widow and several children.

GARDNER, Me., Sept. 20.—John Burham 44 years old, committed suicide today by hanging himself to a beam in the stable of Winfield Plimbrick. Mr. Burham had until recently been employed as engineer at the City Pumping Station and it is believed that despondency over the loss of his position prompted him to end his life.

SACO, Me., Sept. 20.—Frank C. Gowen, aged 30 years, was drowned in the Saco River this afternoon. Gowen was returning from a sail on the river and while attempting to moor his boat to a pier beneath the Somerville Bridge he lost his foothold and plunged headlong into the water. Benjamin Yernette, who was standing nearby, witnessed the accident and jumped in to the river to rescue the man. Yernette succeeded in getting the body of the drowning man to shore, but it was too late, and efforts to resuscitate him were fruitless.

Gowen lived at 9 Maple street and leaves a wife and three children. He was a prominent member of Company G, National Guards, of Biddeford.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 20.—Late tonight the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Z. Roosevelt and their two children, who were drowned last night by the capsizing of a boat off Stratford Point, gave up the search. The party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, a son, Edward, nine years old, and a daughter, May, seven years old, of 118 Stillman street, Mrs. C. Wesley Parkes, of 624 Noble avenue, William A. Gerlich, of 718 Lafayette street, and Miss Gertrude Adams, daughter of S. R. Adams, all of Bridgeport, becoming frightened when the launch in which they were sailing ran into the breakwater, transferred to a small rowboat that was used as a tender. They had rowed some distance when Mr. Roosevelt's strength gave out, and a wave capsized the boat, and all were thrown into the water. The two children sank immediately. Mrs. Roosevelt went down afterward. The boat was righted and swamped several times, and finally Mr. Roosevelt lost his grip and sank. Miss Adams, an athlete, and who was graduated from Mount Holyoke last June, is a strong swimmer, and with Mr. Gerlich started to swim ashore. They had gone but a short distance when they were picked up by a launch, which also rescued Mrs. Parkes, who was still clinging to the overturned rowboat.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR.
"Young man," said the stern parent, "have you any idea of the value of a dollar?"
"Certainly," answered the glided youth. "At the club a dollar represents one white chip."

The colonel of a volunteer regiment camping in Virginia came across a private on the outskirts of the camp, painfully munching on something. His face was very red and his lips seemed to move only with the greatest effort.

"What are you eating?" demanded the colonel.
"Persimmons, sir."
"Good heavens! Haven't you got any more sense than to eat persimmons at this time of the year?" They pucker the very stomach out of you!"
"I know, sir. That's why I'm eatin' 'em. I'm tryin' to shrink my stomach to fit me rations."

ST. PETERSBURG IN THE GRIP OF A CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 20.—St. Petersburg is in the grip of a cholera epidemic, which already has exceeded in severity and numbers the visitation of 1892. The disease is increasing daily at an alarming rate, and unless the authorities show in the future a much greater degree of ability to cope with the situation than they have in the past there is every reason to fear that it will get out of hand.

The government has threatened to apply the provisions of martial law, and this threat has driven the municipal officials to make all their efforts to the campaign of clearing the scourge. The city council today voted a preliminary sum amounting to $250,000 to enlarge the hospital space, to purchase and distribute disinfectants, the supply of which in St. Petersburg is well nigh exhausted.

It is the general belief here that the health authorities in a desire to prevent the people from becoming panic-stricken are holding their official reports down to a minimum.

Advises from all parts of Russia show that the alarm is very general and that there is good reason for it.

At Moscow a quarantine has been established at all railway depots and passengers are placed under the strictest surveillance. Up on the present Moscow has been immune. A death has occurred at Helmsfors from the disease, and ten Russian steamers have been denied entrance to Viborg harbor for evading quarantine at Transsund, a roadstead eight miles from that port.

Several suspicious cases have been reported in the Finnish archipelago, where the imperial family are cruising. Germany has become alarmed over the spread of the disease and the German authorities have ordered the frontier to be closed.

Austria has done the same thing; Sweden and other nearby countries have declared a quarantine against Russia, and France is ready to meet any emergency that may arise.

It is believed now that the waters of the Neva are contaminated. Under his authority as Prefect of St. Petersburg General Dratchefsky on Saturday prohibited the sale of liquor throughout the city, including the government vodka shops, until September 22, and he has further ordered that thereafter the sale of liquor shall be limited to a small number of shops.

The formal opening will follow at 10 a. m. Monday. This action has been taken in order to diminish alcoholic excesses, which are believed to increase the liability to cholera infection and the general spread of the disease.

A beginning in the fight against the disease was made today when public schools were transformed into hospital wards. A number of the grammar schools were closed, 4,000 of the students sent to their homes. The department of war has opened stores to supply immediate needs, and army field kitchens have been despatched to the poorer quarters to dispense free food.

The situation, which has always been serious since the very beginning of the epidemic, assumes a grave aspect from the appearance today of a very virulent type of the disease in the case of which death followed within fifteen minutes of the first symptoms. As announced by the official statistics, the case numbered 248 and the deaths 128 during the twenty-four hours between Friday noon and Saturday noon. This was a considerable decrease from the preceding day, but there is doubt of the accuracy of the official statistics.

One hundred carloads of fruit have been sent from the city to the provinces, and the dead bodies are over-crowded and many corpses lie unburied.

The Metropolitan St. Petersburg caused prayers for deliverance to be read throughout the disease today, in which the pestilence is described as a punishment for the people's lawlessness.

Premier Stolypin has sharply reprimanded the municipal officials for the appalling conditions. At Onchouk hospital, where the cases numbered 41, he found that three bath-rooms were doing service for 300 patients. The physicians were powerless to carry out proper courses of treatment and the mortality at this hospital has been three times that at other hospitals.

Three of the nurses at this institution were stricken with the disease yesterday, making a total of nine nurses now under treatment for cholera.

Practically nothing has been done up to the present to put the city's market places in a sanitary condition, they are places of indescribable filth, with the atmosphere reeking with foul odors. One hundred carloads of fruit have been sent from the city to the provinces, and the dead bodies are over-crowded and many corpses lie unburied.

As the city of St. Petersburg is woefully unsanitary and the dread disease finds the conditions most suitable for its propagation. It first made its appearance among the poor people crowded in wretched tenements, but it is now spreading to the better classes, and it has broken out in the barracks among the troops.

The authorities had every warning of the coming of the disease, and their inability to take proper precautions to prevent its spread has brought out a storm of indignant criticism. As an example of the inefficiency and negligence displayed, it is sufficient to cite that many cholera cases have been conveyed to the hospitals in the city cabs, which are very numerous in St. Petersburg, after which the same cabs were permitted without disinfection to return to their work on the streets.

The cholera was first reported this year about the end of July. It was of a widespread type and the percentage of mortality was high. The disease spread rapidly into the provinces along the Volga, down both coasts of the Caspian and in the territory of the Don Cossacks; in other words, in the eastern and southeastern districts of European Russia. By the end of August there was an average of 1,200 cases reported each week, with a mortality of upwards of fifty per cent.

On August 14, it was announced that St. Petersburg was threatened with the scourge, and on September 8 it was definitely established that the disease was in the capital. On September 11, when the epidemic broke out here, and the disease was prevalent in all quarters of the city.

STEAMER OCLAND BEING REPAIRED AT SYDNEY

Sydney Foundry Co. Has the Contract—

Oration for Successful Firemen

SYDNEY, Sept. 21.—Temporary repairs will be made at once to the S. S. Ocland, which was severely damaged in the collision with the S. S. Regulus, off Low Point on Friday last. The contract for the repairs has been secured by the Sydney Foundry Company, who commenced work at day-break today. The damaged steamer was docked with the repairs being made to the engine room.

The cargo of 5,000 tons of coal has been shifted to port, giving the steamer a heavy list, which will render repairs less difficult. The damage caused by the Regulus made a large opening in her steel plates, about four feet square, slightly forward of her engine room.

Besides this, her railing was badly damaged and a portion of her bridge torn away. Mr. Clarke, manager of the foundry company, expects that repairs cannot be completed within five or six days.

The Ocland is one of the most modern steamers now engaged in the coal trade, being equipped with electric cranes and cranes for loading and unloading coal. She is also fitted with a complete electric lighting plant. Captain Bergen, when seen this evening, would not say anything for publication regarding the damage to the ship, but he did say that the repairs would be completed within five or six days.

The Sydney firemen who were present at the Chatham, N. B., firemen's tournament, arrived home Saturday evening. They were met by a royal reception on their arrival at the I. C. R. station. They were met by the city band, and a large number of citizens, who paraded through the city.

The firemen were welcomed home by Mayor Richardson, who, in a speech on behalf of the citizens, congratulated them upon their great success in the events at Chatham. The Sydney firemen succeeded in capturing four first prizes and two second prizes, capturing practically everything but the cash prize.

The Glaze Bay firemen also returned home Saturday.

GRAND OPERA TONIGHT.

It has been authoritatively stated that this city is one of the few cities in the provinces that is likely to receive the benefit of a week of grand opera each season if the forthcoming engagement of the Boston Opera Singers Company proves to be as successful financially as it is now predicted for.

The Metropolitan St. Petersburg caused prayers for deliverance to be read throughout the disease today, in which the pestilence is described as a punishment for the people's lawlessness.

to have them on hand for an emergency.

It is most desirable that a music loving city should have a week of grand opera each season, and it is to be hoped that this excellent organization will pay an annual visit to this city.

The taste for high-class music is rapidly growing to be an important factor in American life and it should be carefully fostered in this community. It is gratifying to learn that subscriptions for the cycle of grand opera are coming in rapidly and it is to be hoped that the week will demonstrate that this city can support grand opera as well as Providence or Portland.

CONBY ISLAND COMPLETE AT NICKEL.

Were you ever in New York, and if so did you see Cony Island? If you have done neither the Nickel's great show today and tomorrow will be worth a dollar to you, for in "The Tales The Searchlight Field" every night is a visit to the dazzling city of Cony Island.

The show will be the greatest playground on earth will be exposed to view by the glare of a great light. It is a veritable triumph in photography, inasmuch as it was taken at night when Cony is at its best in a dazzling array of brilliancy. There's a funny little plot to this phenomenal night-time show and it's a laugh croaker. For 30 minutes you are whirled from one big attraction to another, jingling musical bits, and it's a laugh croaker. For 30 minutes you are whirled from one big attraction to another, jingling musical bits, and it's a laugh croaker.

Today's show is a good one. Many requests have been made for Miss Holmes to repeat Bobolink, the big success of the musical comedy "The Stocks in which selection she made such a big hit a few weeks ago, so she will sing this evening number. Mr. Buchanan will sing "Jean," a high class ballad, in which his voice is heard to splendid advantage.

The new pictures are among the best ever shown here. The Steeplechase Race can be depended on, as being the most exciting picture ever seen here. About thirty horses start in the race, and fully half that number of horses and riders are thrown, but none are hurt. The first two horses to reach the winning post are riders. No horseman should miss this race—nothing like it has been seen here. Australian Sports and Pastimes shows our fellow colonists at their favorite pastimes. One scene shows a tree cutting contest, and the way the chips fly is a surprise. Another scene is a "broncho busting" contest, and for ten minutes the spectator gets views of horsemanship such as he has never seen in a "wild west show."

The Fencing Master's Sweetheart is a 80 foot hand colored picture of The Three Guardsmen. Prof. Titus will sing "I Build A Nest Will You Share It With Me?" and Harry Leary sings "When The Nightingales Are Nesting, Sweet Irene. For next week Manager Munde has engaged the biggest attraction ever presented in a moving picture theatre in America. It is nothing less than Mile. Adgie and her lions. Full particulars later. This week the lions will be on exhibition at the Happy Half Hour. Admission this week five cents.

ADGIE'S LIONS AT HAPPY HALF HOUR.

The exhibition is over, but the biggest and best show in Canada, the Happy Half Hour, remains. Saturday night the building was packed to the limit. Prof. Woods closed his engagement and leaves for Boston this morning. Today's show is a good one. Many requests have been made for Miss Holmes to repeat Bobolink, the big success of the musical comedy "The Stocks in which selection she made such a big hit a few weeks ago, so she will sing this evening number. Mr. Buchanan will sing "Jean," a high class ballad, in which his voice is heard to splendid advantage.

MORE PICTURES TO PLEASE AT BILOU TODAY.

The beginning of another week marks a continuance of the excellent picture programmes that the management of the Bijou Theatre have been placing before the public, and we take special pride in announcing to its many patrons today that they are showing one of the best portrayals of one of the greatest works of fiction ever written, namely "All Baba and the Forty Thieves." And let us state right here that in point of accuracy acting, scenery and coloring) it is without equal. In proof of this statement we have only to say that Pathe Freres are the producers. Few people there are who have not read or All Baba in their younger days, and they could better have the tale freshened by seeing this picture. Let the little ones see it after school—they will have plenty of time as the Bijou's afternoon show does not end till half past five. Two other pictures, laugh producers, "The Angler" and "Machievous Kide," fit right in when it's time to be jolly. Then for drama, "A Mad Man's Revenge," a half-witted man's jealousy for a pretty girl and her untimely ending by his hands. In the musical part of the programme, Miss Smith will be heard in "Beautiful Isle of the Sea," and D. Higgins in "Good Bye, Sweet Heart, Good Bye." We predict full houses at the Bijou today, so be early for a good seat.

LOVE AND HATRED AT THE CEDAR.

The Cedar Theatre has another strong bill to offer for the first two days of the week. Love and Hatred, a strong dramatic story, is the feature, while The President's Daughter, a Trick of Napoleon and The Pestiferous Spider make up the rest of the picture programme. Mr. Ward has a new song to offer. Admission: 5c.

FOOTBALL RULES FOR 1908

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 19.—Announcement was made today that the central board of football officials will hold a meeting next Friday night at the Murray Hill hotel, New York, for the purpose of discussing the interpretation of the football rules for this season. It is expected the meeting will be attended by 75 to 80 officials and by coaches from all the colleges east of the Ohio and north of Washington, over which territory the central board has jurisdiction.

BIG VAUDEVILLE BILL AT THE PRINCESS TODAY.

Never before in the history of moving picture theatres has there been offered such a large vaudeville programme as the one the Princess management will present to the public commencing today. After considerable difficulty and expense a contract has been signed with the famous Goldie and Good, two musical artists who have been making a decided hit throughout the American circuit during the past season. This team will arrive in the city this morning, and will be heard for the first time in the city this afternoon. Their act is an exceptionally good one and among the instruments that they perform on are banjos, guitars, mandolins, piccolos, cornet, xylophone, musical bottles, accordions, muskets, organ pipes, bagpipes etc. Messrs. Goldie and Good come with the highest recommendations from the best vaudeville booking houses in New York. Another feature to be presented today will be the singing of Mr. Courtain, a New England baritone, who will be heard in the solo entitled "In the House of Too Much Trouble. Mr. Courtain is highly spoken of and it is expected will greatly please the theatre going public. Harry Newcombe, the ever popular baritone, will sing the late and catchy song "Brooklyn Buster." These songs are beautifully illustrated. In addition to the above exceptional bill there will be a show of four of the most recent productions of motion photography. The admission to the Princess will not be raised, but will remain as usual. As the result of this extra large programme, immense audiences may be expected.

THE FIGHTING PARSON AT THE UNIQUE TODAY.

The Unique have another big surprise to offer their patrons. This house has earned the name of showing the best pictures in St. John and the management has decided to keep up the reputation at all costs. The leading picture is called "The Fighting Parson," and is certainly a winner. A young parson who had been taught to use his fist while a boy, proves the value of the manly art by running down and rescuing, single handed, a couple of children belonging to a member of the church, who has been kidnapped by a gang of toughs. Another picture is "Multnomah," a good one, and a scenery now on earth can the Pacific northwest be surpassed. This film, showing Multnomah Falls, Oregon, is one of the most beautiful ever made. Two other new pictures, "The Cabby's Wife," a good one, and "The Grosbeak," an excellent comedy, are also being shown. The two excellent singers will be heard in new songs. Miss Adgie will sing the beautiful ballad "Thou Songs My Mother Used to Sing," and Miss Outons that popular boys' song, "Ho-Ho-Ho."
