FREDERICTON.

[Photograph for sale in Fredericton by W. T. H. Foster and J. H. Macdonald.]

Feb. 12.—The university was a blaze of light on Monday evening and presented a most brilliant appearance from the city, being nothing in beauty and brilliancy as one approached, and as the many carriages and sleighs wound slowly around the avenue under the thick shades of trees glittering and sparkling in their heavy coating of frost and snow; but it was beautiful from without.

It was far more beautiful within, where was gathered the beauty and civility of our fair capital, to do honor to the occasion, which by far exceeded all former like occasions. The students had been most lavishly in their extensive preparations and had beautifully decorated the College hall, which served as ball room, with greenery, amongst which were many colored and Chinese lanterns, the spacious hall being also profusely decorated with flags and bunting. Dancing was also enjoyed in the English and engineering rooms, as they had both been thrown open as extensions to the main hall. Supper, which was handed round during all the evening, was served up stairs in the reading room, other rooms being opened for promiscuous use.

Dr. Harrison and Dr. Bridges had kindly opened their apartments for the use of guests. The guests were received by Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Dixon, wife of Prof. Dixon, and Miss Thompson, one of the students.

Mrs. Bailey received in a handsome gown of black satin with black lace trimmings and satin ribbons and natural flowers.

Mrs. Dixon received in a gown of rich white silk with trimmings of white lace.

Miss Thompson, white cashmere with white satin ribbons and lace.

There were as usual, a number of debutantes who all looked very fresh and sweet in their pretty gowns and enjoyed this, their first ball, to the utmost.

As there were some fourteen hundred invitations issued out of which between nine and ten hundred accepted. Invitations were also extended to all the colleges in Canada, St. John's, St. Mary's, St. Michael's, and St. George's.

Among such a large list it is almost impossible to remember all the costumes, but some were strikingly handsome.

Mrs. E. L. Wetmore wore a beautiful gown of white silk with a wide corded silk decollete with large sleeves of peacock blue velvet and richly trimmed with pearl trimmings.

Miss Mary Wetmore, cream silk with Nile green silk crepe, lace trimmings.

Mrs. T. Carlton Allen, black and white silk with white lace trimmings.

Mrs. Holden, a very rich costume of black and white brocade satin, heavily trimmed with black lace.

Mrs. J. Barry wore a lovely gown of pale corded silk, with white lace and feathers.

Miss Babbitt, cream flowered silk and green trimmings.
