Wernicke Elastic Book Cases.

ONE BOOK was a bigger library than most people had before the invention of printing. They used to chain a book in a public place, and the populace consulted it like we do the directory in a corner drug store.

But in these days of many books at low prices, every intelligent person has a few. Some may think they have too few to justify a bookcase.

That is because most bookcases are intended only for quite a large number of books.

No matter if you have but few books, you can start your Wernicke now. It will protect what books you have, keep them clean, easily accessible, and is always attractive.

No matter how many books you add to your library, the Wernicke will always accommodate them.

And aside from its adjustable features, it is the best you can buy.

If you don't want it after you have seen it, say so and get your money back.

During the year 12,193 persons visited the cottage of the poet Burns.

A vase containing hundreds of Roman coins, dating back 1,649 years, was unearthed at Laverock.

The Liverpool Presbytery has sustained the call from Egremont congregation to Rev. James Goad, of Dunbarton.

Madame Albani, after singing before the Queen at Balmoral, was presented with a portrait of Her Majesty in a silver case.

A hall has been taken in Paris close to the Exhibition buildings, where Salvation meetings will be held for the benefit of visitors.

The King of Denmark will winter in the south of Europe. The Princess of Wales has promised to join her father and stay with him some months.

A union of all the Presbyterian churches of Australia having been decided upon, steps have been taken to raise a Twentieth Century Fund of 100,000 guineas.

The latest addition to the work in Norway is a lifeboat, which will accompany the fishermen to sea for evangelistic purposes, and will be manned entirely by Salvationists.

The death has occurred of Miss Bruce, of Newcastle, aged eighty-five, after a long and useful life in that city. She was a sister of the late Dr. Cc'lingwood Bruce and Sir George Bruce.

Dr. J. Mitchell, of South Church, Leith, in calling attention to the need for church extension in his neighbourhood, states that in his church there are 1,500 more communicants than there are seats.

A schoolboy found a pocket book at Brixton containing nearly £30 in coin and notes, and on taking it to the address pasted on the cover received the munificent reward of a piece of seed cake and two-pence.

The four neighbouring congregations of St. John's wood (W. Monro Gibson), Cricklewood (Rev. T. E. Nicholson), West Kilburn (Rev. T. F. Darroch) and Broudsbury (Rev. R. E. Welsh) united for a 'quiet day' in preparation for the winter's work.

Mrs. Allan, of Stormount Castle, in opening the twenty-fourth Temperance restaurant in Belfast, said she had lived in four countries, had travelled much, and from observation could declare that the great bulk of existing poverty resulted from the use of drink.

At a dinner to survivors of the Balacava Charge a letter was read from Florence Nightingale, now eighty-one years of age and an invalid. Lord Tredegar, himself a survivor of the Balacava Charge, entertained his Monmouthshire tenantry on the forty-fourth anniversary of that event.

Dr. John Smith, of Edinburgh, urges that bazaars and sales of work should not be proscribed, but rather purified and consecrated. While raffles might prove injurious in lower levels, and still be innocuous as conducted at church bazaars, Christian workers should avoid even the appearance of evil, and keep within the law of the land.

Eight ministers who have all been assistants to Dr. George Matheson, late of St. Bernard's, met on Monday in Edinburgh and presented him with an address. In making the presentation, the spokesman paid a high tribute to Dr. Matheson's influence upon the younger clergy, as well as upon the reading and thinking public generally, and expressed the hope that he might long be spared to the country and the Church.
