EASTERN OPERATIONS CONTINUE

Russians Not in Position to Take Full Profit From Situation—Would Need Six Army Corps to Surround Germans—Austrians Decisively Beaten.

Paris, November 30.-Various reports from the fighting line in the north of France and Belgium point to a withdrawal of the German forces from Armentieres to Ypres and further along toward the oast. The Allied lines are now being advanced south of Ypres. British and French troops are pressing forward, occpuying abandoned trenches.

Throughout the week, the artillery attacks of the Germans gradually slackened, and it is now declared that many of the trenches in the inundated section of Flanders have been evacuated by the invaders South of Ypres, which is in ruins from the German abardment, the Allied advance has been cautious Heavy artillery fire has been directed against the ermans under cover of which the trenches were occupied, but a general offensive has not developed so far, according to the reports. It is believed here that the situation along the Yser has undergone a complete change and that the Allies will soon open up a vigorous offensive. At Dix mude the Allies have been left in almost undisputed possession of the country before them. The German have withdrawn much heavy artillery from this point

Evidently there is much shuffling of troops going on back of the German line. Whether this is beca the Kaiser does not care to keep his forces longer in the flooded district or because he is hard pressed for einforcements in the East is a speculati The German army under General Von MacKenzen has been split in three, according to a semi-official review of the fighting in Poland contained in a Petograd despatch to-day. It appears, however, that the Russians are not in position to take their full profit from the situation as the Germans are still unrrounded and six or seven fresh army corps would be required to cut off their retreat completely.

The right wing still battles some fifteen mile outhwest of Lods trying to cut its way westward to unite with the left wing which is also partly beaten off from the strong position on the Vistula by Russian enslaught from Gembin fifty miles north of Lodz.
