Pius X. Sees Old Friends.

The Pope gave an audience recent-ly to a pilgrimage of 2000 Vene-tians, among whom was Angelo Sar-to, his brother. The Pope was deeply moved at seeing his old friends, and thanked his "dear chil-dra" den that herderen inhiles dren" for their handsome jubilee dren' for their handsome jubile gift of a gold throne, which, he said, will show to future generations the love the Venetians had for their spiritual father. Then, with tears streaming down his face and choked with emotion, the Holy Father spoke lovingly of Venice, the happy days he had pass-ed there and the affection of the people. The recollection of these things, he said, afforded him con-solation and his sorrows. He con-cluded by arming the Venetians against modernism. The Pone continued: 'Modernism his face and choked with emotion ued: "Modernism The Pope continued: "Modernism is founded on disobedience. The Mo-dernists wish to command. They know no authority. Without obe-dience there can be no charity, be-cause disobedience generates dis-order. Keep always before you the orders of your Bishops. Try to ful-fill the obligations of your calling. Then modernism will not enter Then modernism will not er among you, and if anybody comer you and speaks thereof reply them, "Vade retro, Sathanas!"

A Chinese leper settlement is about A Connese leper settlement is about to be establishment near Canton by Rev. Father Sonrardy, who was with Father Damien during the last seven years of his life in Molokai, says a writer in the Pittsburg Dispatch. The story of Father Damien is one of the most insuring. of the most inspiring chapters in the history of human devoltion to the suffering. It is or ought to be familiar to every American. The am-bition of Father Conrardy is to do for the miserable Chinese lepers what Father Damien did for those in Har

Father Damien did for those in Ha-waii. He is well equipped for the work, being adoctor of medicine as well as a clergyman. In China there are thohsands of lepers. They are outcasts, held in contempt and wholly neglected. It is, indeed, a heroic task to under-take to gather them into a settle-ment to give them such ease and comfort as may be secured for them. History is replete with instances of heroism displayed in one cause or, amother. Few, however, can excel the exhibition of an educated man imexhibition of an educated man im-neolating himself for the benefit of The spectacle of the Protestant religion is not a new suffering outcasts of an alien race-even of another color. Wainwright's Progress. Only a Few Weeks Old. But is an Important Centre.

Wainwright, Alta., Sept. 1.—Situ-ated in one of the most fertile farm-ing districts of western Canada, in what is known as the famous Battle River Valley, just a short distance cast of the Battle river, and upon the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, is the town of Wanwright This town is the first divisional point east of Edmonton and although only a few weeks old, bids fair to be one of the best towns of the west. It has already five general stores, two hardwate stores, three lumber yards, all of which are of other business houses of merit to a town of meny thousand reople. The uownsite has been carefully selected Wainwright, Alta., Sept. 1 .- Situ-

the Protestant religion is not a new one, says the San Francisco Leader, commenting on the closing episode of the Eucharistic Congress in London. No religion ever got so much protec-tion from the English state as that same Protestant religion. Three cen-turies and a half ago the Pope was turies and a half ago the Pope was pitched out of England, yet here he is back again. The noblest in the land were sent to the block because they were Papiests or followers of the Pope, yet here are the nobility of England acting as a guard to a Papal Legate. Three kingdoms were dreanched in blood to save the good Protestants from the Mass, yet here is the same Mass that went out under Edward VI causing the same turmoil under Edward VII. The sincere Protestants may in this Edward VII. The snoere Protestants may in this discover food for reflection. All that the state could do to crush out the Blessed Sacrament was done for some three conturies, yet the attempt came to naught, and those poor peo-ple crying out to Mr. Asquith to protect them, are they not witnesses that it is vain to fight against God? If this were a human thing it would long since have disappeared; but be-cause it is divine, men cannot pre-vail against it.

Such was the task to which Fath-er Damien dedicated his life; such is the burden voluntarily assumed by Father Conrardy. It is such deeds that revive our flagging faith in hu-manity-that lead us forward in the hope of the ultimate brotherhood of men

He Thanked God Daily For the Catholic Church.

"Among the cabin passengers we have nine physicians and surgeons, six Protestant. ministers and two priest and one representative of the bench." writes Rev. C. E. Byrne, aboard an ocean liner bound for Gib-raltar, to Church Progress of St. Louis. "The Protestant ministers are a more liberal type than one usu-ally meets. A couple of days ago I had a conversation with one of them, a Methodist minister from Brooklyn, about the Holy Father's encyclical on Modernism. He was of the opinion that the Pope's promouncement was timely and much needed by the whole Christian body. He told me, too-a strange utterance and though from a Protestant minister's lips-that he banaked God daily for the Scatholic curch.
