Mr Dooley on Hockey.
In view of the hold hockey has on the public mind just at present, it would not be out of place to give the opinion of the philosopher of Archer street, on the game. Here is what Mr Dooley has to say on the game:
'What's this game they call hockey?'
'Tis a great game,' said Mr Dooley, 'an' may be classified as a mixtur of hurley, crock and assault and battery. Ye take sivin young fellers, Hinmissy, who are fairly light on their feet and have a bump of aggressiveness as big as a hen's egg, feed them on rare beef, dhyr toast and oat male for the wind, and in time ye'll make a fine hockey team out of them. The object of the game, Hinmissy, is to put the puck through the inimy's goal posts, an' the things the byedo to ache other would make yer hair stand on end. 'T would be a great game for Donnybrook-fair! Hinmissy, but rather too rough for an Irishman when he has his temper up.'
'What do they call the players?' said Mr Hennessy.
'They call them cuckoo when they win,' said Mr Dooley, 'an' lobsters when they lose.'
'No, no,' said Mr Hennessy 'I mean the byes that play the different positions.'
'Oh! the different positions,' said Mr Dooley. 'Well, there's the win min. They're supposed to be able to skate as fast as a raleford thrane, get knocked down about four times every foive minutes and be better than an alderman and be able to sing
'The Old Kentucky Home' and 'The Good Old Summer Time' so ye can hear it above the noise of a locomotive whistle. The cithre must be able to do as much as the wings, and also be an hypnotist.'

'How's that?' said Mr Hennessy.
'He must be able to dhray the puck before the referee sees him,' said Mr Dooley, 'an' this make that official believe he wated for the word.
Thin there's the rover. He's supposed to be all over the rink at wanst, into the thick of ivy ramps, and to make him tough, Hinmissy, yer rub him down wid broken bottles. When they get through wid him ye couldn't dint him wid an axe. The cover point is gin'rally a buxy young fellow who spends his spare time running against brick walls. In summer time he keeps in practice by bunjin' the stane roller out of the road wid his chist, and whin a chap like that gets into a mix up wid one of the inimy, Hinmissy, there's gin'rally somebun' doin'.' The p'int, Hinmissy, is supposed to take up his position in front of the goal and to hit his livel bet to assassinate anybody that gets near him. Whin he isn't doin' that he tries to lift the puck up to the ceiling in the hope that it will come down and hit one of the inimy in the eye. The goal-keeper, Hinmissy, is gin'rally the toughest man in the crowd. He's gin'rally a fellow with a heavy live insurance, who stands there wid a sbtick and stops shots that lave black and blue spots all over his person, an' the shots that get by him, of course, he don't see on account of the bad light.'

'Did ye ever see the game?' said Mr Hennessy.
'I did that,' said Mr Dooley. 'I seen it game the other night, and oh!
Hinmissy, 'twas a terrible night at sea. The byes was strenuous, Hinmissy. Several times they tried to knock boards off the sides of the rink with their heads, and the way they flung themselves down tryin' to crack the ice was a shame. 'Tis a pretty game, Hinmissy, if ye're lookin' for excitement, and have no desire to sidestep the chance for an early pair of wings, but for me, Hinmissy, give me forty-five, fan tan or ping-pong.'

To the Afflicted.
Dear Reader,—Are you a sufferer from any of the following ills: Lack of ambition, nervous exhaustion, ideas easily confused, irritability of temper, impairment of memory, despondency, general debility, liver not right, kidneys out of order, rheumatism, dyspepsia or indigestion, dizzy or fainting spells? Does your heart palpitate? Do you have smothering sensations, pimples or eruptions of the skin, etc., etc.
If you are troubled as above you can be cured by the use of Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills. A trial order of three boxes $1.00 will convince anyone that these pills are truly wonderful. We are duly in receipt of letters bearing the highest testimony. We have not space to tell you all about them here, but will answer any inquiries as to their merits.
Mrs. John Macdonald, Durham, N. S., writes us: 'After taking two boxes of Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills for indigestion, which I had been troubled with for a number of years, I am now perfectly well, I followed the directions carefully.'
To every one sending for a trial order and finding good results we ask to observe our special order enclosed with every box. It is of special interest to every one.
If your druggist has not the pills in stock, send direct to the office of C. O. S. Chemical Company, Peterborough, Ontario, Canada.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, fem. le complaints, even when the disease has been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. For sale by G. V. Rand, G. B. Parker, or sent direct by mail, by addressing Dr.
Clarke Medical Co., Peterborough, Ont., 30 cc per box, or 3 boxes for $1.00.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure For Catarrh

How many beautiful young girls develop into worn, listless and hopeless women, simply because sufficient attention has not been paid to their physical development. No woman is exempt from physical weakness and periodic pains, and young girls just budding into womanhood should be carefully guided physically as well as morally. Another woman, Miss Hannah E. Mershon, Col-lingswood, N. J., says:
'I thought I would write and tell you that, by following your kind advice, I feel like a new person. I was always thin and delicate, and so weak that I could hardly do anything. Menstruation was irregular.
'I tried a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and began to feel better right away. I continued its use, and am now well and strong, and menstruate regularly. I cannot say enough for what your medicine did for me.'

Sick Headache
Nervous system and of order—Health restored by Dr. Chase's Brain Food.
Indigestion and dyspepsia, nervous, sick headache and sleeplessness are among the marked symptoms of nervous exhaustion, and on this account are thoroughly and permanently cured by a course of treatment with Dr. Chase's Brain Food.
Mrs. P. Snow, 19
Queen St., St. Thomas, Ont., and whose husband is a chemist, writes:
'I suffered a lot with nervous, sick headache, my digestion was not good, and my nervous system generally was quite out of order. I am pleased to say that I found Dr. Chase's Brain Food
the most satisfactory nervine tonic and health restorer that I have ever tried. I can fully recommend this preparation, knowing it to be beneficial to my case.' By noting your increase in weight while using this food cure, you can prove that new firm flesh and tissue is being added to the body. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

Two Women Temperance Leaders.
The Countess of Carlisle, who has lately been chosen President of the British Women's Temperance Association, in succession to Lady Henry Somerset, belongs to a family that has for centuries played a varied but always a strenuous and prominent part in the life-drama of their day. The name of Stanley appears frequently in English history, but perhaps no one bearing the name has been more honored than was Lady Stanley of Alderley, the daughter of Viscount Dillon and the mother of the Con-tess of Carlisle. Her husband, who was raised to a peerage in his own right before he succeeded to the title of Lord Stanley, held various important posts under Whig Governments, and in 1841 he became the principal Whip of his party, or, as Lord Palmerston described it, "joint Whip with Mrs Stanley."
Besides being a power in the political world of her day, Lady Stanley was one of the main forces in the movement for the higher education of women, which resulted in the opening to them of universities and medical colleges, and in the establishment of Girton and other colleges for women. Almost every one of her children has taken active part in public life, and her liberal upbringing has caused them to choose their own form of religion, the Countess of Carlisle having chosen to belong to the Presbyterian Church of England.

From her Irish mother Lady Carlisle inherits a warm, impulsive nature, great strength of character and personal charm. The Liberalism of the mother has become Radicalism in the daughter; her successful struggle for equal educational advantages for men and women, a militant demand for their political equality. The history of the work of Lady Carlisle, who was the history of the woman's suffrage movement in England up to the present time. She has done more than any other woman to create what is now of considerable political importance, the woman's Liberal Federation, of which she was president until a year ago, when she resigned in favor of the Countess of Aberdeen.

True to her Radical principles, Lady Carlisle invites to her home people of all classes of society, and one is irresistibly reminded of Mr J.
M. Barrie's play, "The Admirable Crichton," on seeing at her table two women, say, from a factory, in unhappy contemplation of unknown dishes and grand implements. It is said that anyone with a faint suspicion of gaining an entrance to the warm heart of Lady Carlisle. But the fact must be a sincere one, for there is no shrewder than she to detect a feigned enthusiasm or more quick to resent it.

The Earl of Carlisle, if he had not had the misfortune, as Lady Carlisle herself might express it, to be born a peer, would have made his mark as an artist. His work is above the average, and he is perhaps never so happy as when he is escorting a guest round the valuable collection in his galleries. Although he is believed to be a Unionist at heart, he has been a good many years since a famous occasion on which he spoke at a political meeting in the North of England. He had just fulfilled the duty allotted to him of proposing a resolution, when Lady Carlisle rose at the back of the hall and proposed an amendment which was almost counter to it.
Her eloquence, her vivid personality, and the arguments used by her so impressed the people that her amendment was carried. She and her husband, however, are in full accord in their interest in temperance.

The new President of the British Women's Temperance Association combines with social prominence and personal ability and charm the quality of being a joyous fighter. Those who work with her speak of her statesmanlike qualities, and her grasp of the detail of the organization of which she is the head. Just at present the Home of the Lord is a monument to the power of the brewery and the popularity of their brew, and the wave of reaction which is evident in other departments of political life in England is nowhere more evident than in the determined effort being made to restrain magistrates from refusing to grant or renew licenses to public houses, when they think them too numerous for the public good. It is a time of anxiety to many in England, and especially to those interested in the temperance cause. Lady Carlisle, who has been in retirement from public work for some years on the advice of her physicians, has, therefore, come forward on behalf of the one hundred thousand women whom she represents, at a time when her services are especially need-

A Noted Horseman's Experience.
Mr Antoine Wendling, owner of Deveras 2114, and proprietor of the Clifton House, Brockville, says no financier compares with Nerviline for general use around the stable. For sprains, swellings, internal pains and especially for affections of the white bone, Nerviline is unequalled. Mr Wendling believes Nerviline is indispensable as a horse liniment; it has strength, penetrating power and works thoroughly. Every horse and stock owner should use Nerviline. Sold in large 25c. bottles.

Over in the mosquito country an old farmer died. He was reputed to be rich. After his death, however, it was found that he died penniless.
His will was very brief. It read as follows:
'In the name of God, Amen,
There is only one thing I leave. I leave the earth. My relatives have always wanted that. They can have it.'

Consumption Begins With a Cough.
The cough racks and tears the tender tissues of the throat. Inflammation intervenes and then serious bronchial or lung trouble is established.
The important time is at the beginning. Stay the progress of the cough by using fragrant healing Catarrhozine, which reaches every part of the bronchial tubes, throat and lungs.
Catarrhozine destroys disease germs stops the cough, heals sore spots, clears the nose and throat of discharges. Catarrhozine soothes, never irritates. Guaranteed for every form of catarrh. For lasting cure use Catarrhozine. Two months' treatment $1.00; trial size 25c.

Mindard's Liniment is used by Physicians.
