ARE WE EXTRAVAGANT?

Ontario teachers have been holding their annual meetings and it is not surprising that the question of salaries was considered.

At the meeting referred to the teachers countered on what they claim to be luxuries and extravagances indulged in by many people who are unwilling to advance the stipends of the teacher. They point out for example, that $61,000,000 is expended in Canada every year for cigars, cigarettes and tobacco. It is a goodly sum and would go towards providing increases for the teachers. It all goes up in smoke. The teachers would not complain of that if the smokers were willing to help pay them more generous salaries.

They say further that the gum chewers in Canada spend $3,680,000 for the pleasure of waging their jaws. This is quite a substantial sum for such an ephemeral pleasure. And they charge that face powders mean an expenditure every year in this country of $1,600,000, which is quite a large sum to be daily applying and washing off. And soft drinks cost yearly the sum of 28 million dollars. The teachers think that if less liquid were put into the stomachs and more learning put into the heads of the people of Canada the country would be better off. They think that a good part of the 28 millions might well be applied to the encouragement of their profession.

We have contracted extravagant habits; and they are growing. They diminish the pocket-book; and too frequently people are more willing to starve the teaching profession than to reduce their supply of tobacco, chewing gum, face powder and soft drinks.

FADS AND FASHIONS

A new jersey with a crepe surface is favored for sports wear. The draped gown is very new and becoming to the statuesque type.

Black satin ribbon is the only trimming of a hat of white crin.

Kiddies are wearing smocks of cretonne over black sateen bloomers.

Small leghorns for sports wear have rolling brims and ribbon bands.

Capes of dark crepe are brilliantly lined and collared with caracul.

Light colored frocks of linen are worn with huge drooping picture hats.

A small hat of taffeta is trimmed with wheat and narrow velvet ribbons.

Flimsy laces or chiffons fall from the backs and sides of drooping brims.

Clusters of orange blossoms pose on the drooping brim of a black lace hat.

Huge flowers of grosgrain ribbon are applied on the skirt of a georgette frock.

A skirt of coarse green chevot is worn with a sports coat of plain yellow, collared cuffed and slashed in the green.

A charming afternoon frock has a bodice of white crepe de Chine embroidered in jet and a skirt of black mousseline

A white crepe de Chine frock has a girde of white silk and straw and a cape of black lace, which also forms the sleeves.

FRIGHTENED!

"Every morning I woke up, I felt that something terrible was going to happen."

Writes Mrs. M. and she goes on to say, "I wonder if any other woman ever had such fits of depression as I had for over a year. I was so utterly despondent that if it had not been for my children, I believe I would have put an end to my life. Every day and every night was a nightmare. I dreaded going to bed because I lay awake most of the night. When I did sleep, I had the most dreadful dreams. I couldn't eat. I was completely run down—nothing interested me, nothing appealed to me. I consulted several doctors. They prescribed different remedies to build me up but these preparations didn't do me any good. Doctors told me I had a nervous breakdown. I was tired all the time. I felt every day that my strength was gradually leaving me. The least little exertion left me thoroughly tired out. I knew I was gradually wasting away. I felt I was going to die and I was so thoroughly miserable that I did not care whether I lived or not. And then I heard about Carnol and what a fine tonic it was. At first I refused to take it as I was sure it wouldn't do me any good. Finally I did try it with the most wonderful results. I am well and happy every minute of the day now. I eat heartily and sleep soundly. My friends won't believe that Carnol alone has done this for me. I am never despondent now and every day is a day of joy. What Carnol has done for me it will do for you."

Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money. 2-122

LIVE WITHIN YOUR MEANS

It is one of the shortcomings of many persons in all walks of life that they do not keep their expenditures within the limits of their incomes. The desire to make a showing, to attract attention and to enjoy the transitory pleasures of the day, are, in large measure, responsible for this evil.

This is not said in condemnation of the finer things of life. It must be remembered that what may be perfectly prudent spending for one may be the height of extravagance for another. Conditions in life vary. Each person must regulate his own expenses in keeping within his own income, because it is only this way that individual progress can be made.

To drift along from day to day without getting ahead is the worst form of management and folly for it is bound to bring unhappiness if not absolute ruin. It hurts no one to be deprived of a few passing pleasures in order to make provisions for the future. It is through experience of this kind that strong characters are formed and moral strength is generated. To yield to temptation and be continually spending money for ephemeral joys which should be laid away for future uses has a most deteriorating effect.

No matter what conditions in life may be with you, above all things else live within your means. To do so will bring reward in later years that will repay you for every privation and inconvenience you suffer. If your income is limited, your savings, of course, will necessarily be small, but the amount that you lay by at intervals is of secondary importance to the fact that you save something. No matter what your circumstances may be, live within your means.

OPPOSED TO COLLEGE MERGER

SYDNEY, July 27—Sydney delegates to the Maritime Baptist conference, to be held at Wolfville, about September 1, were last night instructed to vote solidly against the proposed merger of Maritime provinces colleges.

The congregational meeting, which was called to select delegates and define the policy to be pursued, turned out to be absolutely against the proposed amalgamation, an official of the church stated today. The delegates named are Rev. Neil Herman, Mrs. A. W. Fones, Mrs. Sydney Reeves, A. R. Richardson M.P.F. and B. H. Crawford. The Wolfville meeting, early in September, has been summoned to decide the attitude of the Maritime Baptists toward the merger.

"BATTER UP"

The cry "Batter up!" thrills one who plays in or looks at a baseball game. But the batter himself is most concerned of all. The words mean a grave responsibility for him. He is the one to advance the fortunes of his team or humiliate himself and them by an egregious failure. If he hits the ball he may himself make a run or a part of a run; or he may advance a man on the bases; or he may do both. If he does not hit the ball he has nothing but the execration of the crowd, as, with a sheepish grin on his face, or a sullen scowl, he meanders back to the dugout. If on the way he halts to deliver an uncomplimentary opinion of the umpire, he may be put out of the game. Nobody wants the reasons for the failure to hit the ball. Nobody asks whether the batter slept poorly the night before or had the toothache; nobody cares if the sun shone in his eyes as he stood at the plate. All that is known is—he had his chance; he missed; the game goes on.

For the world is too busy to heed explanations. It is not a heartless world or a selfish world, but it has its work to do. It calls to service all who are able to do anything; it discovers sooner or later how much their output is worth and pays them accordingly. It has to protect itself against imposition, and it must not waste sympathy on charlatans and fakers.

Naturally its capital prizes go to those who by determination have overcome great obstacles. It is but fair that the rewards should go to those who earn them. If in the present generation we see some who are incorrigible idlers, gross materialists, spending their substance and their time in vain and vicious courses, we know that these cases are eccentric and artificial. These folk are enabled to be idle and silly only because in days of old a progenitor rose early and toiled late and amassed a fortune. The modern spendthrift is merely scattering the pile. He does not signify as a human being; he is only a distributing agency.

The man who goes to the bat in his turn and makes a hit is the man in demand. He is a bringer of victories, not of alibis. He is not prating of what his father did or what his son will do. Self-reliant as he is, he engages the confidence and dependence of others. Put him where you will, you may trust in him. His reckoning is with himself, and with his own active, regnant conscience he keeps faith first of all.

Get Your Details by Telephone

It's a growing practice with the big newspapers to trust to the Long Distance Telephone in getting out-of-town news where details are of moment.

In a Telephone Talk obscure points in a report can be cleared up, points treated meagrely can be amplified, omitted points can be supplied.

Think of the time and mass of correspondence, the multiplicity of telegrams that would be necessary, if the mails or the telegraph were relied on for that purpose.

The newspapers value that unique quality of flexibility in a Long Distance communication that the Telephone gives.

Men in other business might well profit by the hint and in deals where details are important rely on their telephones.

CONSIDER THE OLD HEN--

She doesn't quit scratching when worms are scarce

¶We'll say she doesn't.

¶On the other hand when the picking is poor she does more scratching than ever before, going over the back yard with a fine tooth scratcher, so to speak. And more than that—she invades new territory, and opens up new fields of endeavor.

¶How many of us can learn a lesson from the homely hen, and when business is bad, instead of sitting idly by waiting for it to "pick up again" proceed to do more advertising—more extensive advertising—better advertising—than ever before.

¶And not only that, can't we too open up new fields—reach out further by newspaper advertising, and like the old hen, increase our scratching radius.

¶THE ACADIAN reaches every corner of your territory and is read by more than 95 per cent. of the people whom you wish to reach.

¶In other words, we furnish the scratcher.

¶Here's to the old hen, long may she scratch.

¶And may we have sense enough to profit by her example.
