Henry Blair's

French Representatives at Washington.

THE PERSONNEL OF THE DELEGATION.

(Associated Press Service)

Arthide Briand, Premier of France, who heads the French delegation to the Washington Conference on the Limitation of Armaments, is 59 years old. He was once a socialist leader and helped to guide the destinies of France during the most critical periods of the great war. He was born at Nantes, the big industrial city at the mouth of the Loire, and has served, respectively, as Minister of the Interior, Minister of Justice, Minister of Foreign Affairs, President of the Allied Supreme Council, a member of the War Council and four times as premier of France. He has been called "an intellectual colossus" as well as a political dictator and few men have wielded such great influence in French public life. Briand first became a world figure in the Chamber of Deputies as the author of the law providing for separation of church and state in 1904 and for his victory over syndicalism when, by placing the railroads under military law, he called all the workers to the colors and broke the great strike of 1919. He accepted and enforced the principle that "the interests of the whole nation are supreme and must and shall outweigh the interests of any class, section or body."

Rene Viviani, former Premier, the second member of the French delegation, was also at one time a socialist leader. He has served as cabinet Minister in several portfolios. He is at present chairman of the League of Nations' Commission to Limit International Armaments. M. Viviani is no stranger to America. He has visited this country on two occasions, once in 1917 when he came as a member of the French War Mission with General Joffre and again in the spring of 1921 when he was voted the freedom of New York City and visited Colonel Roosevelt's grave. He is 59 years old and was born in Algiers. Educated in Paris, a lawyer, he was elected to parliament in 1893 and served for many years in that body until Clemenceau appointed him a member of his cabinet. He is famous as an orator.

Jean Arden Antoine Jules Jusserand, has represented France as Ambassador in Washington for 18 years and is the dean of the diplomatic corps. He is 66 years old and has been in public life more than 45 years. He was President Wilson's guest on the liner George Washington when Mr. Wilson sailed for the Paris Peace Conference. His wife is an American; her maiden name was Elsie Richards. Ambassador Jusserand entered the French Foreign Office in 1876. He has been Counsellor to the French embassy in London and Minister to Denmark. He is a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor and a member of several British and American philosophical, historical and literary bodies. He has written a number of books including "Americans of the Past and Present."

Albert Sarraut, French senator and Minister of the Colonies, former Minister of Public Instruction, Governor General of Indo-China and deputy for the Department of Aude, is 49 years old. In the Chamber of Deputies in 1906, Mr. Sarraut struck Deputy Pughes-Conti during debate on the Dreyfus restoration bill. A duel resulted and Sarraut was dangerously wounded by a sword thrust in the right breast. He served in the French army in the world war as a second lieutenant and later he was made pre-consul of Indo-China. When officially opening a native fair at Hanoi an attempt was made to assassinate him. He was shot and seriously wounded. M. Sarraut, early in the present year, drafted the plans for French administration of the Cameroons and Togoland in Africa. Recently he toured French possessions in Africa after requesting the Chamber of Deputies to appropriate $50,000,000 francs for irrigation of the French Sudan.

The staff personnel of the French delegation includes: Chief Military Adviser, Marshal Ferdinand Foch; Chief Naval Adviser, Vice Admiral Grasset, head of the French Naval General Staff; General Secretary to the Foreign Office, General Philippe Berthelot; Maurice Casenave, Director General of French interests in the United States; Major General Baut, Chief of Staff of the French army; Count Charles de Chambrun, former Counsellor of French embassy in Washington; M. Leger, for the past four years First Secretary of Legation and Charge d'Affaires at Peking, China; General Pierre-Henri Desticker, chief-of-staff and aid to Marshal Foch; Admiral Debou; M. Fromageot; M. Kammerer; M. Chevasson; M. Duchesne; M. Girard; Captain l'Hopital and Lamoury and Lieutenant de Soederan. In addition there are a score of more secretaries and clerks.
