Amendments Introduced

Rev. Dr. Bowley Green States Step Will Take Considerable Time.

The suggested amendments to the church union bill made by Deputy Speaker Gordon of the House of Commons yesterday meet with general approval of union clergymen in the city. Although Rev. James Mc-Kay of the New St. James' Presby-terian Church protested that the amendments were made in the exclusive interest of unionists, ministers thought they were very fair and equitable.

The main feature of Mr. Gordon's proposals is that non-concurring congregations may retain their whole property if a majority vote against union is given. This represents practically the same concession to anti-unionists offered in the original bill British under-secretary for foreign affairs, who has announced that the is willing that by the erstwhile Russian government,
