LIBERALS OUTLAY WAS BELOW PRE-WAR YEARS

Stewart Declares Controllable Expenditure Below Those of Pre-War Years.

ANSWER CHARGES

Explodes Claims of Stevens That Robb Tried To Fool Public.

By E. C. BUCHANAN,
Special to The Advertiser
by a Staff Correspondent.

Parliament Buildings, Ottawa, March 30.—Effective replies were made by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, tonight to opposition criticisms of the Robb budget and financial statement. Persistent Conservative raving, indulged in throughout Mr. Stewart's speech by Mr. Meighen, H. H. Stevens and Dr. Marjolin, failed to find the minister wanting in answers or to divert him from a dispassionate examination of their allegations. It seemed to him that the charge that he had made a more complete exposition of the government's position as revealed in the budget speech.

As a refutation of the Conservative charge that the financial statement failed to show evidence of economy, and that the government was extravagantly spending the taxpayers' money and increasing the public debt, Mr. Stewart recited figures on controllable and uncontrollable expenditures since 1911. These showed that the controllable expenditure in 1924 was less than in 1914. For 1914 the sum was $123,000,000, and for 1924 it was $129,000,000. It could not be disputed, the minister pointed out, that the expansion in the governmental establishment since 1914 would naturally call for an increased expenditure, yet the government had "cut, and cut to the core," and this assertion was incontrovertible when it was seen that in controllable outlay the government was disbursing less than was spent in the last year before the war.

For uncontrollable expenditure the government was in no way responsible. Mr. Stewart took up the main point in question by H. H. Stevens and others and demonstrated that the financial balance was as Mr. Robb had presented it, and that no such attempt as alleged had been made to obscure the situation.

Unemployment in U. S.
To the assertions that owing to government policy, unemployment and business failures prevailed in Canada, the minister pointed to the widespread unemployment in the great industrial state of Massachusetts, enjoying the bit protection of the United States tariff. Thousands in that state, he said, wanted to emigrate to Canada because they had no work.

In Canada since the first of the year 25,000 persons had been added to payrolls. Last year 41,000 Canadians had returned from the United States. Along the lines of the Canadian National Railway hundreds of new industrial plants had been opened, despite the repeated charge of Dr. Marjolin that factories were being put out of business.

Another evidence of the fact that business condition were worse in the United States in 1924 than in Canada was the reduction in the business of the American lines of the National Railways, which was twice as great as the reduction in Canada.

Favors Tariff Board.
Mr. Stewart again declared his attitude as to the tariff. He did not believe in high protection, but he did not believe that free trade was now possible for Canada, and had never stated such a belief. He did not want to touch the tariff on any industry until he knew what the effect would be. Hence he had been asking for a tariff board such as the government had undertaken to provide. There were conditions in respect of the sideration and the government would have to move with caution. Members across the floor of the house wanted to move the tariff upward whereas he would move it downward. In spite of the attempts to distort it throughout the country, there was nothing in his utterance on the budget last session that was not consistent with his attitude as he now stated it, he maintained.

H. H. Stevens made a decidedly labored effort to indicate that Mr. Robb had sought to deceive the public. He charged, for example, that the certificates from chartered accountants testifying that the balance sheet for the fiscal year ending in 1924 was compiled in the same manner as previous ones with a view to having the public think that the balance for this year had been certified to. The acting finance minister smiled when credited with so much subtlety. He having made it rather clear that the certificates were relative only to the financial statement for the previous year and testified to nothing more than the movement had not departed from the established practice.

Calls Budget Delusion.
Mr. Stevens denounced Mr. Robb's speech in more general terms as a "delusion and a snare," and as a gross deception practiced on the people of Canada.

The feature of the day was the announcement of Mr. Robb that he was withdrawing the new anti-dumping regulations which he gave the House in his budget pronouncements. Mr. Robb simply said that the officers of his department had found that the present regulations went as far as necessary.

The question naturally is asked: Why didn't they make the discovery before the new regulations were introduced in the budget?

And just as naturally the allegation is made that the government realized the disfavor with which the anti-dumping provisions would be regarded in the west and has taken back-water.

Western free traders are suspicious of anything in the nature of anti-dumping duties, looking upon them as a particularly vicious form of protection, or, at the very least, as a means of putting on protection.

What puzzles members of parliament, however, is that the new regulations should have been introduced at all. The government, it is argued, must have been aware that they would meet with Progressive disfavor.

School Grounds Will Have Park

Mitchell, March 30.—Three-quarters of an acre of land, of the six acres which make up the high school grounds, will be set out in trees of different kinds. The Ontario government has offered to furnish the trees free of charge, and, if necessary, will send a man to assist in the planting. The aim is to have a nice park with plenty of shade trees, to be utilized by the scholars, and in which picnics can be held by the townspeople.

BALDWIN TO PROBE NEED FOR REFORM

British Premier To Name Committee To Probe Upper House.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, March 30.—The government fully appreciates the importance of the question of the reform of the House of Lords, Premier Stanley Baldwin replied in the House of Commons this afternoon to a Labor member's question. He proposes to establish a cabinet committee to investigate the matter.

The premier thought it was quite possible the committee would inquire into the powers as well as the composition of the House of Lords, but it was not yet decided.

Amid cheers from his own benches a Laborite asked if the bill considered the abolition of the House of Lords altogether, but he received no reply.

BOY IN LL-HEALTH SLAIN BY FATHER,

Shocking Tragedy Occurs in Vacant House in Cobourg.

MOTIVE UNKNOWN

Canadian Press Despatch.
Cobourg, March 30.—Discovery this afternoon of the bodies of William Beare, a laborer, aged about 50 years, and of his son Henry, aged 12, in a room in an unoccupied house on the northern outskirts of Cobourg, brought to light one of the most shocking tragedies in the history of the town. The throats of both had been cut, and on a shelf lay a blood-stained razor which had belonged to the father.

Apparently Beare had slain his son, fatally wounded himself, and put the razor on the shelf before he sank, dying, to the floor, but Chief of Police Cruise said tonight that he had been unable to find any motive for the deed, unless Beare had brooded over the long-continued ill-health of the boy. The father, while he had been unemployed for several months, is not thought to have been in needy circumstances.

Little is known about the movements of the two since they left their home on Perry street about 9 o'clock this morning. The boy had been puny from birth and had little opportunity to go to school. Beare told his wife that he would take the boy to a chiropractor in Cobourg. They did not return for the mid-day meal. About 4 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Hubble entered a vacant house near Elgin street, they being prospective tenants. Mrs. Hubble stepped into a room on the ground floor and saw the two bodies lying close together. Chief of Police Cruise and a doctor were soon on the scene, and it was found that they had been dead several hours. The house where their bodies were found is near the Union cemetery and about one and a half miles from the home of the Beares.

William Beare was born in Cobourg and had lived in the town all his life. He bore an excellent character and was known as a good worker, although since the temporary shutting down of a local furniture factory where he had been employed, he had been unable to find work. He had shown no sign of mental trouble. Besides his widow, he is survived by two grown-up daughters, who live in Toronto.

Coroner George Terris formally opened an inquest tonight, and after hearing the evidence of Chief Cruise as to the condition in which he had found the bodies, adjournment was made until April 8, at 8 p.m.

Fifty-One Pictures Are On Exhibit at Normal School.

NORTH HOLDS SWAY

With the hanging of 51 paintings, the work of members of the Ontario society of artists, at the normal school, art students and picture lovers have been given a glimpse of Ontario seen under the beauty spell of the four seasons. The exhibition will be on view until April 20.

Most of the paintings are small sketches. Scenes of the northern wildernesses and rural settings predominate. There are no portraits in the collection, and there are but two or three bits of figure work. The keynote of the exhibition is Ontario, rendered beautiful by early frosts and winter snows. Half the canvases are given to such subjects.

Those who have followed the work of J. W. Beatty, Owen Staples, C. M. Manley, H. S. Palmer, Fred S. Haines, Estelle M. Kerr, Marion Long, to say nothing of the members of the Group of Seven, who are represented, will find many attractive paintings to linger over at the normal school exhibit.

Palmer Sends Sketch.
H. S. Palmer has sent one of his sketches of sheep which are snowed out and favorably known. Fred Haines has done an autumn scene with a foreground of birches against a flaming background of fall tints.

Two three charming landscapes by C. W. Jeffreys are outstanding. They too depict the loveliness of autumn in the light of a warm September haze. They serve as a splendid contrast to the broader treatment used by some of the other painters.

There is a splendid water color by E. H. Bridgen and five beautiful northern scenes by Gagen. There is a water color of a corner in a fishing village, a water fall and a couple of enchanting spots that the artist has preserved with the brush.

Owen Staples offers a water color done at Banff, Alberta, and another presumably executed in that district. They are full of delicate, living color.

Picture of Harvest Field.
A striking picture of a harvest field in oils, the work of Mary E. Winch, commands attention. It is done in brilliant yellows with strong poster-like effect.

Mr. Beatty has sent but one canvas, a little touch of Northern Ontario in winter, showing a snow-covered lake through trees.

There is a fine painting by Love-roff, a farmyard scene, treated in the sombre colors of late afternoon. A. Y. Jackson, Frank Carmichael, Lauren Harris and John Birch sent sketches of Northern Ontario. Estelle M. Kerr is showing a nice life study. There are also two pieces of figure work by Challenger.

Other artists showing are: R. Holmes, detailed flower studies; Minnie Kallimere, autumn landscapes; Marion Long, street scene; G. A. Reid, houses through trees, winter night; C. S. Hagarty, still life; Stanley Turner, northland.

Woodstock Youth Silent On Alcohol Source.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, March 30.—Leonard Waring, 19-year-old youth, who was arrested on Saturday night for being intoxicated in a public place, elected to go to jail for three months, rather than give information as to where he secured his supply of liquor, and in addition to this will serve a term of two months as an alternative to paying a fine of $10 and costs. Waring was engaged in a fight in a restaurant when arrested, and beyond saying that he secured alcohol, he refused to give any information to Magistrate Hall.

You Need a Bicycle for Business, Pleasure and Health

FROM early morn till late at night the bicycle plays an important part in our daily life.

It does its work so quietly, so smoothly, so efficiently, we scarcely realize its presence.

Ride to Work

Throngs of workmen cycle to and from work every day, saving time, car fare and the discomfort of riding in packed street cars or of walking long distances.

Multitudes of happy children—teachers, too—ride bicycles to school. And what in the world would the Boy Scouts do without bicycles?

Economical Deliveries

All day long messenger boys—and boys making light deliveries—flit by on bicycles.

Occasionally a plumber pedals by on his wheel on a hurry call—perhaps, a leaking pipe!

A carpenter with his kit wheels from one job to another. The collector and the insurance agent glide along to make calls—many of them not near a car line.

Pleasure and Emergencies

Out in the country, the city man rides for a day's fishing with his rod tied on his wheel. Coming towards him a farmer's boy wheels hurriedly to the city to get a spare part for a farm machine that has broken down.

Away down in California, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks ride bicycles for pleasure and to keep fit. An example that other men and women could follow with benefit to their health.

More People Riding

More people are riding bicycles today than for years past. The paved roads are so smooth, so clean, and so easy to ride on, they are creating new riders by the thousands.

Just climb on a C. C. M. yourself and see how exhilarating it is to ride a bicycle.

See how easily it glides along, thanks to the C. C. M. Triplex Hanger—the three-piece hanger that gives the C. C. M. so much speed—and pep—and power.

Then press back on your pedals and see how quickly and smoothly the Hercules Coaster Brake acts.

Note how strong and rigid the frame is. It's of English Seamless tubing, strongly reinforced.

Look at the brilliant, lustrous enamel—durable and lasting. And the glistening nickel. It's done over copper so it won't rust.

Glimpse the new Gibson Pedal, too—so light and so strong. Its silvery frame is of aluminum and cannot rust.

Stand back and look at the C. C. M.'s trim, graceful, racy lines. A beautiful bicycle anyone would be proud of. And one that will give years and years of faithful service.

You need a bicycle—most everybody does.

This year C.C.M. prices have again been reduced. They're now $20 to $25 less than the after-war "peak" prices. The nearest C.C.M. dealer is waiting to show you the latest models.
