

largest list of names before November 1st will be given a fine Oxford Bible, retail price, $3, in addition to the other premiums offered, so if the winner of the Bible gets a list of ten names he or she will have both the Bible and St. Nicholas. It is very likely that a small list will carry off this extra prize, so here is a chance for every one of you.

If any prefer a cash commission instead of a premium, you can have it, but must write us for terms. Now, who will be the first to start and who will win the Bible. Will it be a boy or a girl? I think it will be a girl, for if she makes up her mind to win, oh my! how she will work.

Again, how is this? Any person young or old sending us ten trial trip subscribers at 25 cents each, from now until December, will be given a copy of Longfellow's "Evangeline." This is a beautiful little book, handsomely bound in cloth and illustrated. Don't forget to send the cash with the order.

Any one sending two new subscribers at $1 each will be given a neat and well-printed edition of Smith's Bible Dictionary.

For 10 yearly subscribers at $1 each, we will give The Outlook, formerly called The Christian Union, the best religious and family weekly we know of, the regular price for which is $3 per year.

Some of the old subscribers are casting longing eyes on the trial trip offer, so if you send us $1.25 cash we will send The Journal until December, 1894.

Once more, any old subscriber sending us $2 for his own and one new subscriber for one year will be given a copy of Longfellow's "Evangeline."

"Who acts quickly acts twice," so you can do yourself a good turn by prompt action, and gladden the publisher's existence as well. Some men know a good thing when they see it, or a good offer when they hear it, consequently "trial trip" subscriptions are coming in rapidly.

You cannot imagine how glad we are not to be compelled to remind a subscriber that he or she is in arrears. If you are an "arrear" this hint will be sufficient.

Any reader purposing to try to secure any of these premiums should haunt the honey exhibits at our fall fairs and "make hay while the sun shines" Isn't that a good suggestion. Try it.

Yours very truly,
STRICTLY BUSINESS.
