[Chicago Tribune.] [Chicago Tribune.]
Fair are the hues of sunset
Caught by the painter's art;
Sweet is the nightingale's singing
That opens the rose's heart;
Bright are the lover's fancies
Wrought from his dreams of bliss,
And wild and sweet the rapture
That ites in love's first kiss.

But the fairest of all pictures
And those no art can reach;
The joys that thrill us deepest,
Lie beyond the power of speech;
The rarest tinted petals
Are hid in the rose's fold;
And the love that is divinest
Is the love that is never told. Julia M. Dunn.

RIVALS OF GOULD AND TANDERBILT-PARTIAL DENIAL FROM MR. HENDRIE.

Toronto, Dec. 5 .- The Telegram of to-day contains the following :- "The reported acquirement of the Credit Valley Railway by the Great Western is only the putting the cart before the horse, and is an incident in railway consolidation outrivalling the most audacious movements of Gould or Vanderbilt, being an operation whereby Canada is left with practically only two railway systems. Some time ago the Canadian Pacific Railway Company quietly secured the control of the Credit Valley Railway, though this is announced now for the first time. This railway runs through from Toronto to portion of the way drains a country tributary in a measure to the Grand Trunk. The Canadian Pacific Railway has also secretly secured the control of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Italiway, the gauge of which was changed on Saturday to the standard. Now the Credit Valley have by some means, presumably through the agency of Vice-President Osler, who is now in England, secured running control of the Great Western Railway, which control will be transferred to the western Railway, but for what purpose no one at the time could comprehend. It is now said that he was merely the agent of the Canadian Pacific Company, which has thus except the Grand Trunk in the peninsula of Cutaric. The Northern & Northwestern will be extended to Sault Ste. Marie, where it will join the Canada Central extension, now a part of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Canadian Pacific Railway will then run one line close along the northern shore of Lake Superior to conform to the Syndicate bargain, and the other line along the South Shore, which will join the St. Paul, Minn., and Man Railway, belonging to the same Syndicate of capitalists. Thus the syndicate will control the entire trade of the fertile belt lying north of the 45th parallel of latitude. But to utilize these and their Ontario acquisitions the C. P. R. need a supplemental line north of the Canada Central, and so have secured the control of the charter of the Toronto & Ottawa able to compel the Grand Trunk to seek amalgamation, thus leaving Canada completely under the thumb of this gigantic monopoly. HAMILTON, Dec. 5. - Mr. Hendrie has been interviewed respecting an atticle appearing in this evening's Toronto Telegram. In reference to railway fusion, he says that so far as the Northern and Northwestern Railways are Railway now being surveyed. In all probability they will acquire several feeding lines'

not now owned by the G. T. R. The C. P. R. Co. have also acquired the Q., M., O. & O.

Railway, by which they will have access to Mortreal, and it is quite possible will build a still shorter line. The effect of this mammeth combination will be to make practically

Grand Trunk into closer relation with the American lines. It is more than likely, however, that the C. P. Co. will secure the absolute control of access for themselves to Chicago. What the end will be is difficult to forecast, but with that tremendous command of capital our informant seems to think that the Canadian Pacific Railway will be only two Canadian lines, and of throwing il

THE WORK OF THE LAND COURT. The Land Court is composed as follows := There is, first the Chief Commission, called by common consent the Land Court, sitting in Dublin, and consisting of three gentlemen, Mr. O'Hagan, Mr. Litton, and Mr. Vernon, the two former being lawyers and the last a land agent. To this Court every tenant and landlord must apply who desires his case to be heard. The Court having heard the claims of the tenant or landlord, and having acknowledged their legal right to a hearing, the case is referred to one of the lower commissions. There are four of these inferior commissions, each also consisting of three members. One important result of the examinations thus far is the complete discrediting of the valuators employed by the landlords to survey and revalue the land for the purpose of raising the rent. Professor Baldwin, who was familiar with the trustworthiness of this class of testimony, brought out in severe cross-examination the loose manner in which valuations are made, and revealed how really hollow are the pretensions of the men whom land agents hire to raise the valuaan increased rental. At Castleblayney with overwhelming force. Vincent Smith, a kindly eyes, has long been considered a witness in 1876 with regard to the same holding in which Smith then estimated the value at over sixteen shillings an acre. This naturally created a sensation. This respectable valuator had valued the land to suit his customer—long measure for the landlord, short for the tenant. He admitted the inconsistency, but explained that the first valuation was made by order of the land agent. The admission that he was dishonest enough to make a false valuation to order was even more damaging, and he left the witness box a ruined man. The expense of the Land Act thus far is suormous. Six hundred thousand pounds, or $3,000,000, it is said, is the sum already expended. It is absolutely necessary for both tenant and landlord to engage solicitors to argue the cases, and this expense is not trivial, as every one may testify who has had anything to do with the honored profession of the law. The bill of McAtavey, the first tenant who benefited under the Act, was £25. The reduction in his rent amounted to £2 158 a year, so that his costs swallowed up his benefits for nine out of the fifteen years for which his new rent is fixed.

REVIEW OF BOOKS, &c.

THE SANCTUARY BOYS' ILLUSTRATED MANUAL -This is the title of a handsome little volume of which the Revd. James A. Mc-Callen is the author; it is published by John | who, St. Thomas, where it connects with Murphy & Co, 182 Baltimore street, Balti-the Canada Southern, and for a great more, with the sanction of the Archbishop, and its object is to teach the inferior ministers the ceremonies of Low Mass, High Mass, Jespers, Asperges, Benediction, &c.

THE LAND CATECHISM.—This is a work from the pen of Mr. William Brown, of Montreel, well known as the correspondent of the Irish World. It is written from a radical stand point and it contains original views. He takes issue with Henry George and other political economists in many things, but his theories have the merit of being perfectly Gredit Valley's masters, the Canadian Pacific intellgible. This book cheap (only 25 cts.) Railway. Mr. Hendrie, of Hamilton, lately secured the control of the Northern & Northdeel of information to those who read it intellgible. This book cheap (only 25 cts.) deal of information to those who read it whether they adopt or condemn the theories of Mr. Brown. It is quite evident that Mr. Brown does not believe in landlordism. ## LOVE'S VOYAGE.

[Boston Star.] "My ship salls o'er a placid sea,
And gaily goes from isle to isle,
And fair Love smiles on you and me;
Ah, how entrancing is that smile!
We shall not reach, where'er we rove,
That dreaded maeistrom men call love.

"The sea grows dark, the waves run high, And further grow the isles apart; It cannot be that love will fly! I clasp you closer to my heart! I'll not believe, where'er we rove, We'll reach the maeistrom men call love.

"The tempest rises fierce and strong, The angry surges round us roar; O. Icve, to love you may be wrong, Yet you are dearer than before. God be our shields, we madly rove Toward that dread maelstrom men call love.

"'Tis reached at last! come to my arm."
Look down into theawful deep,
And own that even death hath charms
It we in one embrace may sleep."
It was the end. 'Twas fate that drove.

Day Goods .- Business is generally quiet although it cannot be said to be dull, as small orders continue to arrive from the country. The majority of the wholesale houses are at present in the midst of their stocktaking, and many employees are kept at the offices night and day. Owing to the bad roads but few travellers have left the city, but some are already out with samples of perhaps firmer tendency noticed in staple goods. Payments are, on the whole, looked upon as satisfactory, although there is a very slight falling off this week, probably owing to the bad condition of the roads.

Pretroleum remains easier. Car lots have sold at 22½c; broken lots at 23½c, and single barrels at 25c. SALT.—A fair demand is noticed and prices

CITY RETAIL MARKETS-DEC. 6.

The street markets were well attended today by farmers, who brought in about their usual supply of oats, peas, barley and root crops. The supply of dressed hogs was larger than last week, and we note sales at $7 90 to $8 50 per 100 lbs., with $8 75 asked for extra choice lots. Dressed poultry and game were offering in some quantity, and owing to the mild weather very little difficulty was experienced in striking a bargain-Partridges were held pretty steady, bowever, at 65c to 70c per brace, and choice turkeys were firm. Finits and vegetables met with a fair enquiry, at last week's prices.
