SIR FREDERICK WILLIAMS-TAYLOR A VISITOR

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, was in British Columbia last week on a business trip looking over conditions in Western Canada. While in the province he visited Vancouver and Victoria and left for San Francisco where he will inspect the British American Bank, which is owned and controlled by the Bank of Montreal. He will return on August 18th and continue his trip to Montreal.

While in Vancouver Sir Frederick announced that the growth of the Bank's business in this city had grown to such an extent that the present quarters were entirely inadequate and that steps would be taken to handle their growing business at this important terminal centre. Announcement would be made in due course of just what steps would be taken but definite arrangements had not yet been concluded. Sir Frederick was greatly impressed with the activity that he met on the Coast which was the more emphatic since he keeps closely in touch with conditions and events in British Columbia. He thought that the outlook was good for development with increasing activity as British Columbia developed her splendid natural resources. Of conditions in Canada generally, the general manager expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied. Business was carried on on a sound basis and further development was to be expected. The labor situation was uncertain and had a tendency to keep back plans for development and extension on a larger scale. He was hopeful, however, of the labor outlook.

APPOINTED MANAGER FOREIGN DEPARTMENT

Mr. J. Coulthard, formerly manager of the Hastings and Homer Street branch of the Bank of Montreal, has been appointed manager of the foreign department of the main Vancouver branch of the Union Bank of Canada.
