

Every nerve and fibre of every Canadian no matter of what nationality, will be required when this war is over to hold the trade which we now have, and that which we will want to possess, if Canada is to keep prosperity within her border and take her proper place in the British Empire.

