BERT BARR, ALIAS LUKE SHARP

genial man is Robert Barr, alias Luke rp. A most approachable man, even en he is in the midst of packing up his ongings to catch a late train.
he World discovered the novelist in the st of preparations for leaving for Mont-on the 9.30 train last night. With a ial glad handshake the reporter was eted and presented to Miss Jean Barr, novelist's talented sister, and to Miss nie Bennett, one of Chatham's charm-women.
ert Barr is a well-knit man of mediheight, and inclined to aristocratic tness. He favors the Prince of Wales' e of beard and wears a soft felt hat ntily tilted on the side of his head. His s sparkle with life and good nature.
hal he impresses one as a kindly man peace with all the world, and anxious make others so.
r. Barr puffed serenely at a cigaret as ranged around the room, picking up s-and-ends and chatting the while.
Has your sojourn in Canada helped you get any material for a book?" the reter queried.
Yes, indeed," freely answered the writer.
y visit to Canada has had that object.
ough I have hundreds of friends whom ave been delighted again to see—my ne, you know, was once in Western On-
—I have got together what I consider ellent material for a story of Canada, t when I will write it I cannot say. I erally take eight or ten years to think a story before I put pen to paper." Did you ever write a story with Can-as the scene of action?" ventured The orld.
My first Canadian book, 'In the Midst of arms,' was written from material I gain-from my student and journalist's life Toronto. I graduated from Toronto Nor-School, and always desired with all heart to be distinguished as a B.A. m Toronto University, but funds for-
—that bane of the ambitious youth," s Mr. Barr's reply, cheerfully given.
He then related some of the pranks of student days, and seemed to get infinenjoyment out of the recollection of se fragrant memories. He spoke of the famous Luke Sharp, who kept an unaker's establishment right opposite ftesbury Hall, and laughed as he recitthe "write-up" he gave that individual one of the city papers. "That fastened ke Sharp' upon me as my pen name," d Luke Sharp. "I fancy many of To's people were not sorry I left," he sed significantly.
What gave you the inspiration for your k, 'In the Midst of Alarms'?" was ed.
Oh, the Fenian Raid of 1866! I was but ad when the excitement of that day vulsed our country, but I have a vivid llection of the impression made upon I didn't go to the front, but I did the t best thing. I joined one of the volunr regiments that sprung up like mush-ms from a hot bed. My regiment was ed St. Thomas Company, which still a warm spot in my heart."
he reporter hinted that the anniversary
the Fenian Raid was to-day.
By Jove! So it is!" said Mr. Barr.
here, my boy, you can scoop the other ers with 'In the Midst of Alarms.'" fter saying that "The Mutable Many"
his latest book, and that he sailed for ndon on the Scotsman on Saturday morn-
—being a Scotsman myself," jocularly erjecting—Mr. Barr clasped his valise started for the train.
I have given you material enough for ee columns," he laughingly said, as he ked to the elevator. "Use your imagin-on; but don't put in anything libellous."
d he was gone.

LANDED ON A STONE PILE.

Conductor Colin James Was Rendered Unconscious and is Badly Hurt.

Hespeler, Ont., June 1.—(Special.)—An accident which came near resulting fatally, and which may yet have a fatal termination, occurred near Idylwild Park about 7.35 o'clock this evening. While Conductor Colin James, who, with motorman Harry Marshall, was in charge of open motor car No. 29, on the G., P. and H. Electric Railway, and running towards Hespeler, was collecting his fares from the foot rail on the side of the car while passing round a curve, the trolley pole came off the wire. James leaned back to ascertain the cause of the unusual motion of his car, and is supposed to have struck a post, landing headfirst into a pile of stones in the ditch on the side of the track, sustaining serious injuries to the head and rendering him unconscious. The unfortunate man resides in Galt, and was conveyed to the Galt Hospital, where he is being cared for.

C.P.R. DIRECTORS' MISSION

Will Float Pulp Company Stock in England.

No Trouble Anticipated in Disposing of the Bonds—Rush of Canadians to Their Homes in Quebec—Estimated That 5000 Returned in 40 Days—Montreal News.

Montreal, June 1.—(Special.)—The sudden departure of Sir William Van Horne and Mr. R. B. Angus for London a little better than a week ago caused no end of comment in railway circles, and all sorts of surmises were indulged in on the probable object of their visit to England. Every reason but the right one has in fact been given.

The World learns that the President of the Canadian Pacific and his fellow-director go to London for the sole purpose of floating the bonds of the great Laurentide Pulp Company, in which Secretary Alger is also largely interested. The annual amount of bonds to be disposed of will exceed a million dollars, and it is not believed any difficulty will be experienced by Sir William Van Horne and Mr. Angus in the London money market.

Canadians Returning Home.

A despatch from Sherbrooke says the trend of travel on the Boston and Maine Railway has been completely reversed by the war. Trains with extra cars attached, loaded with returning Canadians, pull into the station at that city at the rate of 125 a day. The people are coming home, and the rush back to their native land shows no signs of diminishing.

On the other hand the emigrant travel south is at a minimum. Ten or fifteen tickets a day is a good average since the war began, while ten times that number were often sold.

It is estimated that fully 5000 returning Canadians have been brought into Sherbrooke by the Boston and Maine during the past 40 days. Most of them are on their way to their homes in Quebec district, along the Quebec Central and Intercolonial Railways.

For Literary Merit.

This morning the Consul-General of France handed Madame Dandurand the parchment, creating her an "Officier d'Academic" of France in recognition of her services in French literature. This is the first time that the honor has been conferred upon a Canadian lady. Madame Dandurand is being congratulated upon her new honors, which litterateurs declare are well deserved.

MANY MISHAPS.

Accident Wave Keeps Up and Several Unfortunates Were Admitted to the Hospitals Yesterday.

Edward Harris, a wiper, employed in the Grand Trunk roundhouse, fell off a ladder while at work last night and injured his back. He also sustained serious internal injuries. The ambulance removed him to the General Hospital, where he will be laid up for some time. Harris is a pensioner, and has had several accidents. He lives at 33 Bellwoods-avenue with his wife and family.

Struck by a Flying Stick.

James Angus, while working yesterday at Moir & McCall's factory, Sheppard and Moir & McCall's factory, Sheppard and Richmond-streets, was struck on the right elbow by a stick flying off a circular saw. He was taken to the General Hospital where the injury, a nasty cut, was dressed.

Rough on Gentle.

About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Francis Gentle, an old character well known around town, was taken to the General Hospital with a bruised hip, caused by falling down stairs at the Salvation Army Home. His leg was broken some time ago and was weak. Gentle has a brother living on Brock-avenue.

A Peculiar Accident.

William Smith was brought to the city yesterday from Massion Lake, Muskoka District, and was removed from the Union Station to the General Hospital. His back was severely burned while lying asleep beside a camp fire about six weeks ago.

Sprained His Ankle.

Robert Young, 152 Queen-street east, jumped out of a wagon yesterday and sprained his ankle. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital.

Greatly Improved.

J. M. Bourne, recently injured in a bicycle collision, has so much improved that he was able to take a short walk yesterday.

Rossland, B.C.

Rossland, as a centre of important mining operations, after a season of depression, is rapidly coming to the front, and the Rossland mines have come to stay, for the reason that the deeper the shafts are sunk the richer is the ore. There are those who from facts well understood argue that the base of Red Mountain of Rossland forms an immense body of ore of enormous value, and all that is wanted is capital to obtain that ore. Why should shareholders of certain valuable properties where the management is wise and prudent fear to invest some more money to develop those properties? The White Bear (adjoining the Le Roi), with much low-grade ore in sight, certainly offers a better investment to-day than before any money was expended in developing the property. Every day, so the secretary of the White Bear informs us, part of the 50,000 shares now offered for sale are being taken up, and the prospect of commencing work again shortly with a full staff of men is looking very hopeful. Mr. Cole, the manager, and one of the largest holders of White Bear, offers until June 15 100 shares of his personal stock as a bonus for every 200 shares bought from the company at the old price, and with the proceeds of this 50,000 shares, now offered, feels confident in adding White Bear to Rossland's list of shippers.

The Select Knight.

A goodly number of the Select Knights of Canada gathered last evening at the Simpson House to devise means to protest against the levying of increased assessments on the members. Nothing tangible was done, but a general meeting will be held on Saturday night in Richmond Hall to discuss the matter. Sir Knight Walton presided.

Analyses of Holliday's "East Kent" Ale and Porter, purchased by me in the ordinary way, show that they are perfectly pure, containing only the necessary ingredients in a first-class ale and porter. Their appetizing and strength-giving qualities render them exceedingly useful for medicinal purposes.
