CRAPSEY APPEALS AGAINST DECISION

Rochester Clergyman Convicted of Heresy Denounces the Ecclesiastical Court--Says it Was Unfair and That its Findings Were Full of Error.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 7--Rev. Algon S. Crapsey today through his counsel, James Beck Perkins, filed an appeal to the Court of Review of the Second Department of the Protestant Episcopal Church from the findings of the ecclesiastical court that found him guilty on May 9 of heresy. After rehearsing the charges and the findings, Crapsey says: "The grounds of this appeal are: "1--That the said court was illegally and unfairly organized in that while said presentment against me, to be tried by said court, was made by the standing committee of the Diocese of Western New York and was approved by the bishop of the said diocese all the members of the said court joining in the said judgment were selected by the standing committee or by the said bishop.

CANADIAN DEFAULTER ARRESTED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 8.--The Herald this morning says: "David Hobbs of Montreal, for whom the police of two countries have been looking since last October, was arrested in New York and locked up at police headquarters last night. Hobbs is charged with doing the same thing with the Canadian Pacific R. Co. out of a large sum, estimated by the Montreal police to amount to $200,000. He held an important place with the Canadian Pacific R. R. and was regarded as one of the influential and wealthy men of Montreal. He was taken to headquarters last night by a secret service detective, who gave the name of Rufus G. Chamberlain. Mr. Percy Sturawald, chief of the dominion police, caused the arrest, it is said. At headquarters very little information was to be had, the simple statement being made that Hobbs had been arrested on the charge of forgery and will be held till the necessary extradition papers can be obtained. "Hobbs lived in fine style in Montreal and it was generally accepted that he was a man of large income. Last October, when he evidently left, it was charged that he had robbed the customs department and the railway company and notices were sent to the police of nearly every city in the world offering a reward for his capture. He was born in Montreal, Scotland. After leaving college he was engaged by a ship broker in Dundee and soon established a business of his own. For several years his prosperity was marked and he was held to be a wealthy man. "When in the service of the Canadian Pacific his duties entailed the passing of entries for goods consigned to the company."

LONGSHOREMAN FALLS DEAD ON S.S. ST. CROIX

A very sudden death occurred on board the steamer St. Croix a little before eight o'clock this morning. George Pope, a Longshoreman, while helping to load the steamer was noticed by his fellow workmen to fall and when they went to him they found him dead. He had been working all night, and his death is said to be the result of overwork. He did not feel very well and went forward in the steamer to get a drink of seawater. While drinking he fell, striking his head on the deck. The men thought he had only fainted and they worked with him trying to revive him but he had already died. Mr. Pope was a very industrious man and was at one time a quartermaster on one of the Eastern Steamship Company's steamers. Overseer Berryman was notified and Fletcher George Chamberlain was sent for. He took the body to his place of business to prepare it for burial, after which it will be taken to Mr. Pope's residence on Monte Street. The St. Croix soon after left for Boston with her flag at half mast out of respect for the dead man with whom the captain was well acquainted. Deceased was forty-five years of age and was born in Prince Edward Island--the son of Thomas Pope, ship carpenter--

WORKMEN IN MOSCOW SECRETLY PREPARING FOR ARMED UPRISING

MOSCOW, June 8.--There is a noticeable increase in revolutionary activity here and it is evident that the leaders are preparing to take advantage of the first opportunity to start an armed uprising. The workmen of the factories and mills are being systematically armed with Maxim rifles and knifed under the supervision of army reserve soldiers. In spite of the repressive measures adopted by the authorities, revolutionary meetings are held nightly in the industrial sections. The leaders appear to be confident that the morale of the troops of the garrison is undermined, as they have received from some regiments promises of support in the event of a conflict. Revolutionary emissaries have been sent out in all directions to the country to incite the land hungry peasants to appropriate land and strike on the big estates. The plan evidently is to secure unity of action in the country and inaugurate a conflict with a general strike. The leaders evidently hope for a complete rupture between the government and parliament, which would furnish the necessary opportunity for an uprising. The situation has greatly alarmed the business men of Moscow and the big landlords of the country.

May Retire Goremkyin

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8--According to reliable reports from Peterhof, Emperor Nicholas has about decided to retire Premier Goremkyin. From the first it was apparent to outsiders that M. Goremkyin did not possess the force or skill necessary to steer the ship of state in the present crisis, and his mastery, who is extremely dissatisfied with the premier's sorry failure to make any headway toward a rapprochement with the lower house of parliament, is now ready to sacrifice him, but the emperor seems to be torn by conflicting counsels. A few of his advisers are urging him to make a frank surrender and accept of parliament's demand for a ministry from the opposition majority. These influences are hardly likely to prevail against the party led by General Trepoif, which believes that no further concessions should be made. The cabinet itself is in open rebellion and with the support they are receiving from the court the rebels are confident of being able to unseat M. Goremkyin.

POLICE COURT

Usual Variety of Minor Cases Disposed of This Morning

This morning, in the police court, Robert Eagles, Joseph Laskey, Samuel Scribner and George Howard, four boys, were charged by Acting-Sergeant Marshall with lurking and loitering about Wall street. They were also charged with insulting ladies. Eagles was fined $8 or two months in jail and the other three were allowed to go. Officer Silas Perry told of the complaints that had been made about the conduct of boys in that locality and Acting-Sergeant Marshall said he had been here on Eagle on Wall street one night and insulted liquor on him. Young Eagles, who is but sixteen years of age, denied the accusation. Officer Marshall said that when he caught Eagles, he asked him who the other boys were and he named the names of the other three. As a result of the information the officer reported Laskey, Howard and Scribner. It turned out this morning that young Eagles had given the officer false information and the other three were charged with a charge of profanity and was fined $8. The boys were allowed to stand, as Rogers' father said that his son was of a nervous temperament and easily provoked. Rogers served to drink no more liquor and was charged with a fine of $8 or two months in jail with hard labor. Dr. Jones gave Officer Rankine some trouble while he was making the arrest and Officer Semple assisted his brother policeman, Justice Dixon was placed behind the bars for his Officer Rankine's hand. PLAYGROUND FUND NOW AMOUNTS TO OVER $430.

The fund for supervised playgrounds continues to appreciate daily coming in. The meeting of the Women's Council tomorrow will give a great impulse to the movement. A plan of the Centennial school grounds will be presented at the meeting. The grounds adjoining the Virginia Male Orphan Asylum are mentioned as very suitable for a boys' playground. The more the citizens learn of the needs of the work projected the more hearty is the general support. The following dispatch from Pasadena, California, will be of interest: "The agitation to provide playgrounds for Pasadena school children is moving with the approval of many prominent residents. The general idea seems to be that the site should be secured before pieces of land are advanced. Many citizens in the community are lending their support to the scheme." (Charlottetown Guardian).

JUDGE RITCHIE SPOILING TO GET AT TROUBLE MAKERS

Martin Warn was reported for committing a breach of the peace by assaulting Robert Garnett on Brussels street on Tuesday night last, and as a result of the hearing of the case in the police court this morning both Garnett and Warn were fined. As soon as the case was called, Garnett stepped forward and said it was simply a talking match, but that statement was not accepted by the judge. "Officer Finley called Robert Lawson as his first witness and Lawson did not care to go on the stand. He and Finley started to argue and Judge Ritchie threatened to send them both to jail. Robert Lawson after going on the stand said that Galbraith, Warn, Garnett and himself were together on Tuesday night between seven and nine o'clock and they all had a few drinks together in Sheehan's bar-room. On coming out of the bar-room Warn shoved Galbraith and said: "What did you come out as soon for?" The witness separated them and then everything went well until they got on Brussels street. Here Garnett said to Warn: "What do you mean?" and Warn replied: "What do you mean?" Garnett made a lunge at Warn, but got the worst of it. They repaired to Garnett's yard, where very little hitting was indulged in. Lawson said that the contestants were equally guilty. He admitted telling Garnett not to give Officer Finley any information. William Galbraith told the same story as the previous witness, with the exception that he did not see the scrap in the yard. "Officer Finley said that about 9.30 o'clock on Tuesday night he saw a crowd around Garnett's yard and Garnett came up with his face covered with blood. The witness asked him what was the matter, and just then Lawson came along and told Garnett to keep his tongue quiet and not to tell what happened. As that closed the case for the prosecution, Robert Garnett, one of the defendants, took the stand. He said that all four repaired to Sheehan's bar-room and after reaching Brussels street Warn said to him: 'I have kicked you once and I can do it again.' Garnett then said that Warn hit him a punch in the nose and knocked his hat off. The witness ran down his yard, but Warn pursued him, Garnett defended himself there. The judge asked him if Warn did not tell him he would thrash him. 'Well, I don't know,' replied Garnett, 'I got a punch on the bugle, I know.' Garnett was told that the next time he started fighting he had better not bump up against fellows like Warn for fear he gets a face laceration and might not be able to fight. Judge Ritchie said that Garnett, according to the evidence, caused the trouble, and he fined both Garnett and Warn $25 each or two months in jail with hard labor. Warn is a big chap, and said he could pay $10. That was accepted by the court, and Warn agreed not to drink again for a year. Garnett made a great plea for freedom, saying that he had no money now. Judge--"Old chaps like you on the turf for so long a time trying to get young fellows into trouble are the kind that I'm spoiling to get a chance at." A suitable arrangement was made for the payment of Garnett's fine. Fred Barnhill and wife left today on a seven weeks' visit to Boston. Harold Robinson returned today from Fredericton by this morning's train.
