But he can be foiled. Great industries have found a way. They seal all metal surfaces against him with a protective film of Barrett Everjet Paint.

Protected by this film, exposed metal lasts almost indefinitely. We know that iron contracts in cold weather and expands in warm weather-that it moves within it-against steam, vapors, acids and alkalies. It retains its elasticity under all temperatures.

Everjet Paint is used extensively in factories and mines, on railroads That pickpocket's name is and bridges. Metal fencing, exposed pipe, farm implements—every metal surface that rusts needs Everjet Paint.

Everjet is sold by hardware and general stores. Your dealer will tell you more about this money-saving Barrett Specialty.
