SURGEON'S MISTAKE BASIS THIS STORY

"The Penalty," With Lou Chaney, at the Imperial Monday.

A new kind of thrill awaits Monday's patrons at the Imperial Theatre. "The Penalty" is a tragic modern story of a legless devil whose marvelous mastery over men and women as the chief of a widespread underworld is merely propaganda on his part to wreak vengeance upon society for the blundering loss of his limbs as the result of a surgeon's mistake.

The story is that famous one by Gouverneur Morris; the crippled principal player is Lou Chaney, famous cripple crook in "The Miracle Man," and the supporting cast in this marvelous Goldwyn production is thoroughly gilded. Thousands of people who have heard of "The Penalty" are eagerly awaiting its screening here. The usual scale of prices will prevail, although this is one of the notable productions of the year.

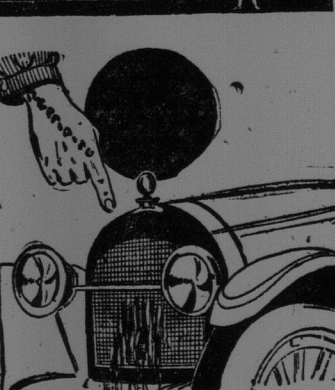

Girls of the Canadian Girls in Training Classes of Germain street Baptist church were entertained last evening at supper by the Philathea Class of the same church. All present at the supper afterwards attended the special services being held this week in the church.

A SUGGESTION RE THE IRISH TROUBLES

New York, March 12.—(By Canadian Press.)—The present Irish question must be settled by debate, discussion and decision in which the ordinary deencies are observed, or will never be ended. The New York World says in an editorial dealing with recent lectures on Ireland by Sir Philip Gibbs and Father Duffy, an ardent Sinn Fein sympathizer. These two men occupied different auditoriums at the same time, and to large audiences this is what they said regarding each other:

Sir Philip Gibbs: "Father Duffy is a gallant man, a gentleman and a sportsman."

Father Duffy: "Sir Philip Gibbs is a friend of mine. I admire him very much for his personal qualities and for his work."

sharply disagreeing as to policies, these eminent debaters have rendered a service to their countrymen and blood brothers in a troublesome time."

The home of John White, 100 Orange street, was broken into yesterday afternoon and a hundred dollars stolen from a desk. The break was effected by removing a pane of glass. The money taken belonged to a society of which Mr. White is treasurer.

Members of St. Andrew's Lodge, of the Masonic order, which was organized in Halifax in 1750, arrived in the city yesterday and attended a meeting in the Masonic Temple last evening. Worshipful Master A. Cresson, on behalf of his lodge, presented the greeting on a beautiful illuminated scroll. Judge J. A. Forbes, past grand master and the oldest member of the St. John Lodge, addressed the gathering.

Three auxiliary policemen of Dublin were shot outside a music hall in Rinfret last evening while conversing with several young women. They died shortly after admission to a hospital.
